LATE ACUTE WEAKNESS IN STOCK LIST

Call Money Raised From 8 to 10 Per Cent—Unfilled U. S. Steel Orders Drop 430,000 Tons.

SOME BIDDING UP TO NEW PEAK PRICES

High-Priced Industrials, Rails and Specialties Hardest Hit, Though General List Suffer.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Acute weakness cropped out in today's stock market when the call money rate was raised from 8 to 10 per cent and the United States Steel Corporation reported an unexpectedly large drop of nearly 430,000 tons in unfilled orders last month. Selling embraced practically the entire list, but the high priced industrials, rails and specialties were the hardest hit, more than a score of them dropping 5 to 12½ points. Spordiac efforts were made to maintain bullish enthusiasm by bidding up a few high-priced specialties of which there is a small floating supply, half a dozen or more being pushed to new high ground, but persistent pressure against the general list eventually led to extensive liquidation for both accounts. The reaction was widely regarded as a further correction of the top-heavy speculative position created by nearly three weeks of steadily rising prices which culminated in last Thursday's break.

Last Prices Were Low for Day.

Conservative prices have been steadily liquidating their holdings in the theory that a sharp reduction in brokers' borrowings was desirable before Congress reconvened, and the mid-month credit pinch became acute. Meanwhile, operators for the rise have been striving to attract a public following by spectacular bullish demonstrations in issues which harbor a large short interest or in which the floating supply has been reduced by investment trust absorption. Final quotations were around the lowest of the day.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation announced after the close of the market, the issuance of 800,000 additional shares of common stock at $110 a share, in the ratio of one new share for every three shares now held, the proceeds to be used for the retirement, in part, of the funded debt. The stock closed 3⅛ points lower at 127, after having been down to 125.

American Water Works, General Electric, Westinghuse Manufacturing, Johns Manville and Dupont ed 9 to 12½ points lower, ckard (old stocks), Commercial lvents and U. S. Industrial Alcohol dropped about 9½ points. More than a score others, including U. S. Steel Common, American Telephone, Montgomery-Ward, Allied Chemical, R. H. Macy, Union Carbide, Public Service of New Jersey and North-American showed net declines of 4 points or more.

At their closing prices, General Electric, Westinghouse, Goodyear Rubber, Allis Chalmers and Johns Manville were off more than 30 points from their year's highs, while U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Columbian Carbon and several others were off 20 points or more.

Total sales ran around 4,500,000 shares.

Reactionary price tendencies also predominated in the commodity markets. Cotton dropped about $2 a bale, more than canceling yesterday's gain. Wheat futures lost about a cent a bushel. Corn yielded about ¼ of a centa bushel.

Foreign exchanges displayed a firmer undertone, although the gains were nominal. Sterling cables held around $4.84¾.

Money Rate Advances.

Call money renewed unchanged at 8 per cent but advanced to ten by early afternoon, due to heavy out-of-town withdrawals. Purchase of about $2,500,000 in gold in London for shipment to New York was announced in London dispatches. Time money and bankers' acceptance rates held firm. Heavy Federal income tax payments, due on the fifteenth, are likely to cause temporary credit strain.

Closing stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on Pages 35, 36, 37 and 38.

SENATE NAVAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE PROPAGANDA OF SHIP BUILDERS AT GENEVA

Action Follows Demand of Borah for Inquiry Into Activities of William B. Shearer.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The activities of William B. Shearer in seeking, while secretly employed by American shipbuilding interests, to wreck the Geneva naval conference of 1927 and the preparatory conference which preceded it, will be investigated by the Naval Affairs Committee of the Senate.

At the direction of the President, Shearer and the influences back of him are already under investigation by the Department of Justice.

The Naval Affairs Committee decided today upon an investigation of its own, after hearing Senator Borah of Idaho, who was the first to call the attention of the Senate to the implications contained in Shearer's suit to collect $250,000 from three shipbuilding corporations for "services rendered."

The committee met in closed session to pass upon Borah's demand for an inquiry. Chairman Hale of Maine later announced that the decision to grant the demand had been virtually unanimous, the only objector being Senator Waterman (Rep.) of Colorado. Waterman took the position that naval propaganda of all kinds, against as well as for shipbuilding, should be looked into.

Chairman Hale and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, were appointed a subcommittee to confer with Senator Borah on the form of a resolution calling for an inquiry.

Borah Introduces Resolution.

Borah this afternoon introduced the resolution agreed upon between himself and the committee. It was immediately referred to the Committee on Audit and Control, which is expected to report it out tomorrow.

"Whereas, it appears from newspaper reports that William B. Shearer has brought suit against certain ship building corporations or companies alleging services rendered to said companies at the Geneva Naval Conference and in matters connected therewith and

"Whereas, Some of said companies have been seeking or have secured contracts with the Government of the United States for building certain vessels or ships to be used by the American Navy, now therefore be it

"Resolved, that the committee on Naval affairs or any subcommittee thereof be and is hereby authorized to make full investigation of the alleged activity at the Geneva Naval Conference and at the meeting of the preparatory commission and in all matters in connection therewith, of the said Shearer and of the said shipbuilding companies; and whether the said Shearer represented said companies; and if he did represent them, the object and purposes of the said ship building corporations in employing him as their agent or representative

"And said committee, or any subcommittee, is hereby authorized to send for persons, books, and papers, to administer oaths and to employ a stenographer to report such hearing as may be had, the expenses thereof to be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate."

Likely to Expand Inquiry.

The committee as the resolution states decided that the investigation should be limited to Shearer's work at Geneva, where he endeavored, by establishing contacts with newspaper men and officials, to prevent the negotiation of a cruiser limitation agreement among the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Chairman Hale was asked whether such an inquiry would not naturally lead the committee to delve into Shearer's similar activities at Washington, where he has been known for the last five years as a big Navy progagandist.

"That," replied Hale guardedly, "remains to be seen."

It seems probable that the inquiry will develop along broad lines, for Borah will be in the offing ready to apply the prod if the committee should falter. Another meeting will be held Thursday to decide whether the investigation shall be managed by the full committee or a subcommittee.

Right to Call for Documents.

The committee will be given authority under the Borah resolution to subpena books and papers as well as witnesses. This means that it will have the right to call for pertinent documents from the three ship building companies named by Shearer—the Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation, the American Brown Boveri Co. and the Newport News Ship Building and Dock Co.

Shearer will be an early, if not

East St. Louis Children Had Been Playing With Matches Companion Says.

Two three-year-old girls, playing in a coal shed behind 2139 Market avenue, East St. Louis, were burned to death at noon today when the shed was destroyed by fire. A playmate said the girls had been playing with matches.

The children were Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Porter, 2139 Market avenue, and her cousin, Sarah Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter, of 2135 Market avenue. The shed, containing coal, kindling and rubbish, had been a popular playroom for them.

George Porter told police he was in his yard when a neighbor's child ran to him and told him the girls were in the burning shed. "When I got there it was a mass of flames,' he said. "I couldn't do anything."

Porter turned in a fire alarm but the wooden structure had burned to the ground by the time firemen arrived. The bodies were removed.

VISITING JUDGES ASSESS HEAVY FINES IN NEW YORK

Penalties of $500 Become the Rule for Dry Law Offenders; Resorts Padlocked.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Prohibition law violators in New York apparently are in for a period of stern treatment at the hands of visiting Federal jurists.

With $500 fines becoming the rule, rather than the exception, in Brooklyn Federal Court where Judge Halstead L. Ritter of Florida is presiding, a padlock campaign against speakeasies has been started by Judge Paul J. McCormick of California.

At the convening of padlock court yesterda after a lapse of several months, Judge McCormick ordered three Greenwich Village clubs padlocked and directed another speakeasy proprietor to post bonds to assure a compliance with the law in the future.

Imposition of $500 fines in liquor cases caused some surprise as the general practice had been to impose lighter penalties in belief that otherwise juries would refuse to convict.

LAMONT FINDS 1929 SUMMER BUSINESS BEST IN HISTORY

Employment Well Sustained and Life Insurance Sales Unusually Large, He Points Out.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Practically all the indicators of business activities are said by Secretary Lamont to have been at higher levels during June, July and August of this year than in the summer period of any other year of the nation's history.

"A number of the activities of industry and commerce during the three months were actually on a higher plane than during the earlier months of the year," the Secretary asserted, "and others showed less decline than usual in the past."

Employment conditions and wage payments in factories, he added, also have been well sustained during the summer while life insurance sales have been unusually large.

SENATE CALLS FOR INCOME TAX DATA OF CORPORATIONS

OPPOSITION IS LED BY SMOOT

Treasury Asked to Supply Information on All Firms Likely to Profit Under Higher Tariff.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Senate today adopted the Simmons resolution calling on the Treasury to furnish Congress with income tax data for use in the tariff debate.

The vote was 51 for the resolution and 27 against.

It was a victory for the Democrats and Republican independents who joined to oppose the bill as revised by the Finance Committee majority. It was the first test of strength of the contending groups in the Senate tariff contest.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, as amended, authorizes the committee to request the Treasury to furnish it with the profits, losses, wages and other tax data of corporations and other taxpayers, including importers, as disclosed in their income and capital stock tax returns for the last seven years.

Under the Simmons proposal, the names of the taxpayers whose financial status would be sought would be those whose products, in the opinion of the committee or majority or minority members, are affected by the tariff bill.

Vote on the Resolution.

Those voting for the Simmons resolution were:

Republicans — Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Frazier, Glenn, Howell, Jones, LaFollette, McMaster, McNary, Norris, Nye, Pine, Robinson of Indiana, Sackett, Schall, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho and Vandenberg—21.

Against the resolution:

Republicans — Allen, Bingham, Dale, Edge, Fess, Gillett, Goff, Goldsborough, Gould, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Kean, Keyes, Metcalf, Moses, Patterson, Phipps, Shortridge, Smoot, Townsend, Walcott, Warren, Waterman and Watson—27.

Democrats—None.

All of the tariff leaders of both parties participated in the debate, yesterday on the Simmons resolution with Simmons and Senator Smoot (Rep.) Utah, chairman of the committee, making the princippar arguments for and against the resolution.

Simmons said his sole purpose was to obtain information that may be helpful to the Senate in determining whether industries of the country are entitled to the increased protection they demanded.

Smoot's Reply to Simmons.

Smoot charged the resolution was an attempt "through the consequent delay" to bring about ultimate defeat of the tariff bill.

"The price to be paid is certain," he said. "The consequences are certain. The establishment of the principle of income tax publicity; the opportunity to attempt to harass a few individual taxpayers; prolonged and indefinite delay in the consideration of the bill—these are the real issue presented by the resolution."

He contended the information sought was irrelevant and already was available in current and periodical corporation reports printed regularly in financial publications.

Simmons said there may be publications covering some larger industries, but there were none containing the general data sought by his resolution, which calls for profits and losses of corporations whose products would benefit under the bill.

Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, offered an amendment to include in the information sought data showing gross sales, annual inventories, merchandise bought,

MUSSOLINI FOR ARBITRATION BY COMPULSION

Czecho-Slovakia Also Accepts Plan to Have World Court Adjust Disputes of Nations.

U. S. EXPECTED TO JOIN THIS BODY

Great Britain Favors Proposal, While France Has Already Signed It Conditionally.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—The idea of compulsory arbitration of international disputes is making big forward strides at the tenth assembly session of the League of Nations. Interest of statesmen at Justice for the consolidation of the immense possibilities of the permanent Court of International Justice for the consolidation of world peace and as effective machinery for preventing war.

There is a general expectation that the United States will now accede to the World Court. The question being asked is whether the Washington Government will not take even a further step and sign the optional clause recognizing the compulsory jurisdiction of the court. This clause bestows the right upon one party to a dispute to summon another before the court.

Mussolini Favors Plan.

Premier Mussolini of Italy has manifested his intention to submit disputes to judicial bodies.

Within the last 24 hours at Geneva both Italy and Czecho-Slovakia have accepted compulsory arbitration for the settlement of difficulties.

Great Britain has announced that it will sign the arbitration clause and France is about to make its previous signature unconditional. Peru recently joined this movement and today it became clear that Brazil also will accept its provisions.

Brazil has already adhered to the clause, but its adherence was to become effective only when two permanent members of the League Council had signed. Italy's action, coming after Germany's, gave the necessary two, and Brazil's adherence is now operative.

Move for Revision.

The Peruvian delegation today introduced a resolution asking for the appointment of a committee of five to study and report to what extent the covenant of the League might be revised to bring it into conformity with the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty.

The proposal was referred to the Agenda Committee.

Poland, Peru and Jugo-Slavia yesterday were elected to the Council of the League, to succeed Rumania and Chile, resigned.

Premier Briand of France, delighted with the successful inauguration yesterday of his project for a European confederation, or so-called United States of Europe, departed this afternoon for Paris.

The French Premier felt that the most important part of his work at the assembly had been completed, but he may return to Geneva about the end of the sessions, especially if the disarmament discussions appear to justify his presence.

Briand returned to Paris to have ample time to preside over the first meeting of the committees appointed at The Hague reparations conference to examine technical details of the Young plan and to complete important features of the work.

TEXTILE STRIKERS SAY THEY WERE BEATEN BY MOB

Three Men Declare They Were Spirited Away From Gastonia by Anti-Communist Group.

LABOR OFFICES ARE RANSACKED

By the Associated Press.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 10.—Exhibiting marks on their bodies as proof that they had been spirited away last night from Gastonia and beaten by members of an anti-Communist mob, three men returned to Charlotte this morning.

The men, Ben Wells, textile mill organizer; C. M. Leil and C. D. Saylors, Gastonia strikers, said they had been taken to a lonely spot in Cabarrus County, eight miles from Concord, N. C., where they had been lashed and then left to find their way back.

They were seized, they said, by the mob which formed in Gastonia yesterday after the trial of 16 strikers and union members for the killing of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt, June 7, had been declared a mistrial when a juror became insane.

The mob not only made a demonstration in Gastonia but also visited Charlotte and Bessemer City, gathering near the home of Thomas P. Jimison, chief counsel for the defense, in Charlotte.

Hunters Frightened Crowd.

According to the story told by the three men, they were carried to the lonely spot, about 30 miles from Charlotte and while they were being beaten, a group of opossum hunters passed nearby, frightening their assailants, the party immediately dispersed, leaving the men. Wells says he was unconscious for an hour.

The three walked to Concord where they notified police, they then took a train for Charlotte. Saylors said he could identify some members of the party.

Destruction of a few records and union pamphlets at various textile mills strike headquarters also resulted from the demonstration last night in which several hundred men went over the state in automobiles in a hunt for "Red sympathizers."

Gov. Gardner yesterday ordered a special term of court for Sept. 30 for resumption of the trial of the strikers.

Ransacked Building.

Last night's demonstrations began in Gastonia, where members of the mob drove up to headquarters of the union and ransacked the building, scattering union literature about the place.

From Gastonia the motor caravan went to Bessemer City, a few miles away, and union headquarters there were ransacked and more literature strewn about.

Proceeding from Bessemer City and Gastonia to Charlotte, the men disbanded. They visited strike headquarters in Charlotte, but union sympathizers left the place shortly before the visitors arrived.

Several of those in the crowd said they were after Jimison. They gathered about his home, which is near the courthouse where the trial had been in progress for several weeks, but the attorney was staying at a local hotel.

The presence of the long line of automobiles near the courthouse awoke citizens of Charlotte, many of whom joined the crowd.

Reports from police headquarters said there was no property damage. No arrests were made.

WOMAN PLAYER, HIT ON HEAD BY GOLF BALL, DIES

Mrs. Frank Watrous Was Injured Last Sunday While on Links Near Waukegan, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Sept. 10.—The death of Mrs. Frank Watrous, society woman and noted golf player, presumably as the result of being struck by a golf ball driven by another member of the Glen Flora Country Club, was the object of an inquest started by Coroner John Taylor.

Dr. Taylor said the post-mortem indicated the need of laboratory analysis and that the inquest would not be resumed until further study.

Mrs. Watrous was struck on the head Sunday by a ball driven by Harry Jordan, general manager of the Griess-Pfleiger Tanning Co. She had been club champion two years.

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT DEFEATED BY ONE VOTE

By the Associated Press.

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 10.—The Australian Government of Premier Bruce was defeated by one vote today during the committee discussion on a bill to abolish Federal arbitration in labor disputes. It was later stated that Government leaders were considering their position and might be forced to resign.

An amendment to postpone the operation of the arbitration abolition bill pending reference to the electors was carried 35 to 34.

LIQUOR RAID ON DENVER HOTEL

Dry Agents Arrest Five in Brown Palace and Seize Whisky.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 10.—Dry agents today raided the Brown Palace Hotel here and arrested five men who they said had been selling beer and whisky in a room. Twelve other prisoners in the room at the time of the raid were questioned and released.

Officers said they confiscated 160 cases of beer, 179 pints of whisky and an automobile alleged to have been used in carrying the liquor to the hotel.

SCHNEIDER CUP CAPTAIN MAKES 368 ON ONE RUN

A. H. Orlebar, in Seaplane, Attains Mark on Three Kilometer Course at Calshot, England,

NO HUMAN BEING WENT SO FAST BEFORE

Lieut. Waghorn's Rolls Royce S-6, in Which He Won Trophy Race Saturday, Is Used.

By the Associated Press.

CALSHOT, England, Sept. 10.—Driving a blue and silver seaplane, A. H. Orlebar, Squadron Leader and captain of the British Schneider cup team today sped over a marked course of three kilometers here to break all world speed records. He reached a rate of 368.8 miles an hour on one run of the course and averaged 355.825 for four successive trials. It is this latter figure which constitutes the official record.

Orlebar exceeded a speed of six miles a minute on two of his four laps and consistently maintained an average in the face of unfavorable weather conditions of nearly six miles a minute. He will probably try again in the hope of doing better than 375 miles per hour.

Clocked by a new timing device, the results of which were announced more than three hours after the actual flight, Orlebar's average for four consecutive dashes over the course on Southampton water was 355.8 miles an hour, or 23.31 miles an hour better than the new world record established Saturday by Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherley in the Schneider cup race.

Flight Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth, who preceded Orlebar with a Gloster-Napier six, also bettered Atcherley's record with a mark of 336.3 miles an hour.

Rules of Flight.

Four dashes are made in one continuous flight. If more than four are made by the pilot, the best speeds for four consecutive runs, tow in each direction, are taken.

The British pilots' task today was comparatively easier than that facing their comrades on Saturday. They flew today over a straight course of three kilometers with no banks or turns between start and finish line. The Schneider Cup course was quadrilateral with two difficult acute angles, inevitably slowing the speed of the aviators.

Fastest Time Ever Made by Man.

Swifter than any human being has ever traveled, the youthful British ace, Orlebar, yet failed to attain the maximum speed which he might have made had the visibility been better. He believed he could have done about 375 miles an hour under more favorable conditions.

Stainforth also was hampered by poor visibility. His machine was frequently lost to sight in the haze as he streaked along the course after flattening out from a swift dive.

The official announcement of the British airmen's achievements was made late in the afternoon, after a long session by timers and mathematicians.

Orlebar flew the super-marine Rolls Royce S-6 with which flying officer H. R. B. Waghorn won the Schneider cup race for England on Saturday with a mark of 328.63 miles an hour.

Official Time.

When the official announcements finally were made, Orlebar's four individual runs of the course were given as at the rate of 368.8, 345.3, 365.5 and 343.7 miles an hour. This gave him an average of 355.825 for the four trials.

Lieut. Stainforth's best four runs were 351.3, 328.3, 336.2 and 329.3, giving him an average of 336.3 miles an hour.

HOW COMMERCIAL RADIO FIGHT HAS GROWN IN ST. LOUIS

POWER PERMITS ARE MAIN ISSUE

KMOX, Now 5000 Watts, Has 50,000 Privilege, While KWK Seeks 5000 and WIL 1000.

During the nine years since the Harding election returns were broadcast from an unlicensed voice-transmission set in an Olive street radio supply store, broadcasting in St. Louis has developed to the point where three commercial transmitters—KMOX, KWK and WIL—are conducting a three-cornered fight for the local radio advertising and for power permits which control the advertising rates.

The importance of power was emphasized last week when KWK's hearing before the Federal Radio Commission at Washington on a plea for a 5000-watt permit instead of the present 1000 watts, was attended by lawyers for KWK's competitors. KMOX, with 5000 watts, now dominates the air in the St. Louis area, while WIL, limited to 250 watts in the daytime and 100 watts at night, seeks a place in the sun.

As things stand, KMOX has a permit to erect a 50,000-watt station which it has not as yet seen fit to use; KWK's application for additional power is before the commission under advisement, and WIL is awaiting a hearing on its application for an increase to 1000 watts. If each station proceeded with its contemplated plans the relative power situation would not be greatly changed.

Convey's Developments.

Thomas Patrick Convey, known to his radio audiences as "Thomas Patrick," is perhaps the dominating personality in St. Louis broadcasting. A Chicago promoter, Convey came to St. Louis some five years ago, held a radio show and organized the St. Louis Radio Trades Association. In 1925 his talents as a promoter brought about the financing and construction of KMOX, "the Voice of St. Louis."

After 18 months Convey's connection with KMOX was ended. "Too many bosses," he explained, and went into business for himself, purchasing KFVE, since enlarged and relettered KWK. Convey, as president and principal owner of the Greater St. Louis Broadcasting Co., which operates the station from Hotel Chase, calls it the "most popular, the most progressive and the most human" station in the St. Louis area.

WIL, "The Friendly Station," is the oldest and perhaps the least successful of the three competitors from a financial viewpoint. It is controlled by Lester A. Benson, the 30-year-old dean of St. Louis broadcasting, who sent the 1920 election returns to an eager audience. The next year Benson set up Station WEB in the Benwood Radio Store at 1110 Olive street, broadcasting regular programs, and in 1922 built the first KSD transmitter, a 20-watt composite apparatus, for the Post-Dispatch. KSD has limited itself almost entirely to national chain programs.

KMOX Officers Silent.

Benson moved WEB to Hotel Chase in 1922, to the Star Building in 1925, to the Missouri Hotel in 1927 and to his present location in the Hotel Melbourne early in 1928. In 1926 he bought the KFVE transmitter, originally licensed to the late Romaine Fielding, and a year later resold KFVE to Convey's company.

KMOX, with studios at the Mayfair Hotel and transmitter at Kirkwood, is owned by the Voice of St. Louis, Inc., of which Nelson R. Darragh, president of the F. C. Taylor Fur Co., is president. Officers of the station declined to discuss its affairs, holding the differences of opinion over power permits to be controversial matter. Convey, however, talked freely, discussing the rights of the people in the St. Louis vicinity to the choice of at least two 5000-watt stations. Benson said he sought only to have his station restored to the relative position it occupied before the national reallocation of 1928.

Most of the present business rivalry dates back to the reallocation of November, 1928. At that time, KMOX was given a cleared channel on 1090 kilocycles and KWK and WIL were assigned to share time on the 1350 wave length with 1000 watts power.

KWK pleaded with the Radio Commission and emerged victorious with exclusive rights to 1350 kilocycles in this territory. WIL's power was reduced and it was moved to 1200 kilocycles, to share time with two small church stations. Dissatisfaction and bickering has continued, however, with the occasional broadcasting of grievances.

Competition between KWK and KMOX ran brisk. Both broadcast play-by-play accounts of local baseball games until last winter, when KMOX stole a march on its competitor and bought the exclusive rights to Browns' games. KWK countered by ignoring the Browns and devoted its afternoons to the description of Cardinals' games both at home and away.

The recent endurance airplane flight at Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field produced ill feeling. KMOX contracted with the sponsors of the flight for "exclusive rights" to broadcast a running account from the field. KWK took the position that the flying field was public property and set up a tent on the field, proceeding to compete. The St. Louis Robin came down, and in the confusion which followed, one of the flyers was pushed to the KWK microphone and the first message to the waiting world traversed that medium. It was a brief message, because someone cut the wire.

KWK caused the arrest of a KMOX mechanic, who was freed of a wire-cutting charge by a Justice of the Peace. He sued KWK for $75,000 damages and KWK retaliated with a $100,000 suit against KMOX.

Since then, KWK has been occupied with its fight for more power. "Thomas Patrick" argues eloquently on the air that St. Louis has been neglected by the Radio Commission. He points out that the total broadcasting power in St. Louis is 8600 watts, whereas Chicago has about 156,000, Cincinnati 55,000 and Nashville, Tenn., about 20,000.

The thousands within a 200-mile radius of St. Louis, he says, are dependent on St. Louis for radio entertainment. In summer months when radio reception is apt to be poor, some outlying listeners can get only KMOX. These numerous listeners, including the thousands of week-enders from St. Louis, are entitled to a choice of entertainment, argues Convey. Sometimes, he points out, KMOX is offering symphonies when the farmers want KWK's agricultural lectures; sometimes KWK is offering classical musical when the vacationists desire jazz.

101,689 Sign KWK Petitions.

KWK, Convey says, does not desire to deprive anyone of his rights. He is willing, he told the Radio Commission, to accept less than 5000 watts and he is eager to regulate his power at any time so as not to impede the broadcasting of various low-power Eastern stations on his and adjoining wave lengths. All he wants, he contends, is the right to give his listeners what they want as evidenced by 101,689 signatures on petitions asking for more power for KWK.

A 5000-watt station would cost KWK about $100,000. At KWK's hearing, charges were made that the plea for more power prefaced a stock promotion scheme. Convey admits that he "hopes some day KWK will be owned by its listeners." So far, he says, no plans for financing a 5000-watt station have been made.

Indicating the amount of money involved in the operation of a relatively small broadcasting station, Convey's statement to the radio commission recited that gross income of KWK for the first half of 1928 was $78,597.82, all from advertising revenue, and gross expenditures $69,122.95. The difference had been spent, he said, on plant improvements. These totaled $23,018.32 for the two and one-half years since he acquired the property.

SOUSA IN TRAIN WRECK, SEVEN OF HIS BAND HURT

By the Associated Press.

WALSENBURG, Colo., Sept. 10.—Although he was shaken up in a train wreck at Capps, 13 miles southwest of here yesterday, John Phillip Sousa, band master, continued his journey by motor car to Trinidad, Colo., and directed his band in a concert there last night.

Seven members of the band were slightly injured when Sousa's special train left the tracks. The train was composed of the engine baggage car and two chair cars. None turned over. Railroad men said the wreck was caused by a spreading rail.

The injured: William J. Robinson, Buffalo; William Herb, Allentown, Pa.; Noble Howard, Indianapolis; F. F. Muller, Bay City, Mich.; S. Meagher, Rochester, N. Y.; E. D. Johnson, Pittsburg, and Jesse Wellingham, New York.

Wreckage of T. A. T. Plane on Mountain

T. A. T. Thinks Plane Crashed At Full Speed, Under Control

Pilot May Have Been Blinded Momentarily by Storm, Says Statement Based in Part on Lindbergh's Report.

After a conference with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, chairman of the Technical Committee, late yesterday, officers of Transcontinental Air Transport announced their opinion that the plane City of San Francisco crashed into the side of Mount Taylor "at full speed and under full control."

"The pilot may have been blinded momentarily by a severe storm," the statement continued, "although too many things are involved to give an irrefutable cause of the accident."

Col. Lindbergh flew into St. Louis yesterday and told the officers what he had seen when flying over the wreck. To his observations were added telegraphic reports of Paul F. Collins, general superintendent of the line, who directed the search and visited the wreck on foot. The official statement continues:

"A dangerous storm area was not indicated on any of the weather reports and must have been very local in character. Just before taking off from Albuquerque, Pilot Stowe was handed a weather report showing visibility, temperature, cloud conditions, barometric pressure and ceiling, and other important weather data from 12 reporting stations in that area, three weather bureau stations and nine T. A. T. stations. At none of these places were hazardous flying conditions reported. On the same day our eastbound ship and aircraft of other companies flew the same route without encountering unusual conditions.

To Resume Schedules Soon.

"Pilot Stowe did not take off in the face of poor flying conditions or against his better judgment as no one in the entire T. A. T. organization has the authority to order a pilot to make such a flight.

"It is quite possible that full facts concerning the cause of the tragedy will never be known but the company realizes its obligation to make public such facts and will do so if they are ever available.

"Because of the scores of planes, military commercial and private which aided T. A. T. in its search, it will be some time before the searching fleet can be disbanded and the T. A. T. fleet and personnel returned to their proper stations. The mechanics of T. A. T. from Columbus to Los Angeles, having been assembled at Winslow, were engaged day and night in the task of keeping the searching fleet in proper condition. Regular schedules over T. A. T. will be resumed as soon as equipment and personnel are properly ready.

Plea for Confidence.

"Officials of T. A. T. are appreciative of the splendid co-operation given by army and navy planes, planes of other commercial operators and private owners.

"This shocking tragedy has not lessened our confidence in the present value of commercial aviation any more than a railroad or a steamship catastrophe can destroy the value of these means of transportation.

"We deeply regret that air transport, which has made such rapid strides in the past few years, should be afflicted with its tragedies just as are the railroad, the sea and the highway.

"T. A. T. has spared neither expense nor labor in its efforts to make flying safe. This experience sad as it is, will only spur us on to work the harder."

Lindberghs Leave St. Louis.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh left Lambert-St. Louis Field at 10:45 a. m. today for New York City. They were in the scarlet Lockheed-Vega monoplane in which Capt. Frank Hawks set two transcontinental records and which Col. Lindbergh borrowed from Capt. Hawks to fly to Arizona.

Yesterday Col. Lindbergh flew the monoplane from Waynoka, Ok., to St. Louis, 530 miles, in three hours 15 minutes. His westward flight from New York was made at almost as rapid a rate, but he arrived in Winslow, Ariz., six hours after the City of San Francisco had been found last Saturday.

SENATE INQUIRY INTO SHIP BUILDING PROPAGANDA VOTED

the first, witness summoned, and in addition the committee will call agents of the ship building companies and high officials of the Navy. Shearer said in a recent interview that Admirals of the Navy encouraged him in his propaganda and that he received "confidential" information, for use at Geneva, in an official Navy envelope. He said he did not know who mailed him the data.

In presenting his demand for an investigation, Borah told the committee that the action of the ship building concerns in sending a man to Geneva to work against disarmament was "nothing short of a scandal."

"This man," said Borah, "was employed to break down the conference in the interest of private corporations that would profit by its failure.

Great Interest at Geneva Over Charges Against Shearer.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—Charges made in the United States that William B. Shearer was employed by shipbuilding corporations to defeat the Geneva conference on limitation of naval armaments have roused intense interest here. All newspapers use large headlines and devote much space to telling about the case.

A dispatch to the Mittag Zeitung from Geneva said the Shearer affair was beginning to overshadow interest in the business of the League of Nations. The correspondent alleged that Shearer's activities were well known in newspaper circles at Geneva and that if Government circles in Washington and London "would listen to newspaper gossip here, they would learn of some astounding facts about the man with the 5-franc pieces."

The correspondent adds that there is a general belief at Geneva that Shearer, in fact, was largely responsible for the 1927 conference fiasco. It was understood that he then represented the Big Navy League.

FEDERAL INQUIRY BEING COMPLETED IN T. A. T. WRECK

Department of Commerce Man Says, "We Wish to Find Cause and Eliminate It in Future."

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 10.—Investigators of the Aeronautics Bureau of the Department of Commerce today were completing an investigation into the wrecking of Transcontinental Air Transport's passenger liner City of San Francisco on Mount Taylor, N. M., with loss of eight lives.

Maj. Clarence Young announced he would hold no hearings on the disaster in this city, but said he planned to make an exhaustive study of weather and flying conditions at all seasons of the year over the Western flying routes.

His findings in this regard, together with observations he made at the scene of the wreck, will be made public in Washington after the department has assembled all its reports. Maj. Young came here by plane from Albuquerque, N. M., Sunday.

Inquiry in New Mexico.

R. J. Hazen, sent out by Capt. Walter Parkin, head of the Los Angeles office of the Department's Aeronautics Bureau as soon as the big transport was reported missing, is conducting an investigation from Albuquerque and Gallup. Hazen also will report his findings to Washington.

Maj. Young explained that the principal purpose of the Department of Commerce investigation was to "find the cause and seek to eliminate it in future flying."

"To form an opinion now, or to express one, would be premature," Maj. Young said. "I know the airmindedness of the American public will accept this tragedy as it would accept a similar unfortunate happening in any other mode of travel."

Unavoidable, Says Rice.

George A. Rice, Western Air Express pilot, and one of the persons who discovered the wrecked T. A. T. plane, said upon his return here yesterday that the crash "appeared to have been an unavoidable accident."

"We all make little mistakes occasionally," Rice explained, "and it just happened that when Pilot Stowe made his mistake in wind and altitude calculations, there chanced to be a mountain in front of him. It is almost impossible to predict weather conditions in that section, they develop so suddenly."

Rice shared with his co-pilot, A. W. Beiber, and his mechanic the credit for finding the lost air liner. "We saw it almost simultaneously," Rice said, indicating that he expected to share with his crew the $10,000 in rewards offered for finding the ship.

TWENTY INDICTED IN CHICAGO BUCKET SHOP INQUIRY

All Accused of Defrauding Clients of About $500,000 on Stock Purchases.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—True bills against 20 men and the forced resignation of an Assistant State's Attorney today marked "only the beginning" of the fight against Chicago bucket shops, State's Attorney Swanson said.

Numerous raids will be made immediately, he said, to drive out firms which have caused an estimated loss of $500,000 to investors in this territory. An investigation also is under way to determine whether Arthur Carlsten, the Assistant State's Attorney, who resigned yesterday, conducted the inquiry into bucket shops properly.

The true bills returned yesterday followed testimony before the grand jury of 13 persons who said they had been defrauded in stock purchases recommended by brokerage firms.

Chief among those named in the true bills were James Gualano and Jack Warren, president and vice president of Hamilton, King & Co.; Randolph Marshall, president of Randolph Marshall & Co., and H. C. Hall and D. D. Snedeker, officers of the firm; Jules and Frederick C. Bristol, officers of the Bristol company; Clifford Moore, alias Ollie Moore, president of Clifford Moore & Co., said to be a dummy concern of the Randolph firm, and salesmen and employes of the various companies.

All were charged with violating the State blue sky law and most with embezzlement.

From Grover Comstock, named as office manager of Clifford Moore & Co., investigators learned the bucketeers feared extortionists more than they did public officials. Comstock's job, he said, was to prevent "shakedowns."

MUST HIRE TWO BARBERS; ONE TO STAND IDLY BY

Copyright, 1929 by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos (The New York World and Post-Dispatch)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—William Kenny, New York multimillionaire, has become an object of concern to the British Ministry of Labor.

Kenny has ordered his New York barber to cross the Atlantic and give him a haircut.

The appointment with the barber, who is now on the way, is in a London hotel, but the Ministry of Labor declared today that the contract immigration clause was being violated.

It is not expected that the barber will be detained or sent back without clipping Kenny's locks. A department official announced that the millionaire should have a British barber on hand at the same time, to whom he ought to pay the regular fee. On these conditions, no action would be taken. Kenny's barber would then be looked on as a luxury instead of a necessity.

If Kenny has a haircut, shave, shampoo and massage, he will have to give a British barber about $2.50 for standing by while the New York expert will receive, according to press dispatches, $1000.

DWIGHT H. BROWN NAMED PAROLE COMMISSIONER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 10.—The appointment of Dwight H. Brown of Poplar Bluff, a former State Senator, as Parole Commissioner of the State Penal Board, was announced today by Gov. Caulfield, following a conference with Brown in St. Louis yesterday.

Brown succeeds T. Speed Mosby, whose resignation, received recently, became effective Sept. 1. Brown will take over Mosby's office tomorrow.

The new commissioner served four years in the Senate, being elected in 1924, and in the last general election was the Democratic nominee for Secretary of State.

He is 42 years old, a lawyer and former newspaper publisher in Poplar Bluff, where he has lived most of his life. Although afflicted by poor vision, due to a childhood accident, Brown has been active in his pursuits, having others read to him. He was highly recommended for the position.

As Parole Commissioner, he will be a full member of the Penal Board, charged with the investigation of applications for paroles.

the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 10.—After admitting that he deserved o die for the murder of three perons, Newell "Dobb" Adams, uner sentence to be hanged Sept. 7, ended his life last night by wallowing poison tablets, which e had kept hidden in his cell in he Greene County Jail for nearly year.

The young man's dying words to heriff Marcell Hendrix and to his wife, Mrs. Meada Adams, were: "I id not deserve to hang but I guess do deserve to die."

Adams called Sheriff Hendrix to s cell and thanked him for the ay he had been treated. The oficer had just left Adams when he was summoned by a jailer who old him Adams had collapsed. The layer had boasted to other prisoners he would not hang and his uicide came less than a week after Gov. Caulfield refused to intervene.

The State Supreme Court reversed itself in Adams' case, first remanding it for a second trial on he ground the trial Judge had exceeded his authority in sentencing Adams to hang when two of the jury had voted for life imprisonment, and then affirming the penalty when the Attorney General's office discovered that the purported law on which the Court based the decision was not in the statute books.

Adams killed three persons in a frenzy after he quarreled with his wife. He went to the home of his wife's parents June 16, 1927, to find his wife, who had left him. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Whalin, refused to tell him where her daughter was and he shot and killed her. He then went to the home of a friend of his wife, Miss Zella Sinclair, 24 years old, forced her into a taxicab and attempted to make her tell where his wife was. She refused and he shot her, inflicting a wound from which she later died.

Adams then went into hiding. Three detectives went to his room to arrest him and as Detective Francis De Armond stepped inside, Adams fired, killing him. The other two subdued him and removed him to jail. A mob gathered and Sheriff Alfred Owen spirited him away to some woods south of Springfield.

Adams was to have been hanged in Bolivar, Mo., where he was tried on a change of venue from Greene County.

Florence Trumbull Admits She Hasn't Cooked Much, Insists She's Going to Try

Wife Should Work, Too, She Says — Wedding to John Coolidge to Take Place Sept. 23.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

(Copyright, 1929.)

PLAINVILLE, Conn., Sept. 10.—If her husband works, a wife ought to work—either in her home or out of it. For her to do nothing but play isn't fair.

The self respecting thing for young married people is to live on what they have—to cut their coat according to the cloth, and not to expect help from their families.

If they haven't a lot of money it's so much more sensible and comfortable to live simply and save up for what they want, instead of going into debt.

Housekeeping is so simple nowadays that any girl ought to be able and willing to do it. Even if she never has cooked before her marriage there's nothing to be afraid of. Experience is the best teacher.

Wedding on Sept. 23.

There you have the simple philosophy of marriage on which Florence Trumbull and John Coolidge are going to set up housekeeping after their wedding, Sept. 23.

The romance of these two young persons—the daughter of the Governor of Connecticut and the son of the former President—has interested the country almost as much as the Lindbergh-Morrow match. Interest was increased when Miss Trumbull casually admitted the other day that after her marriage she intends to "do her own work."

"Are you really going to cook and keep house when you are married, and why are you going to do it?" I asked her.

"Yes, I'm planning to do all the work," she admitted. "But there's nothing remarkable about that. Why should I hire a servant to take care of four rooms? It would be ridiculous. I can do it perfectly well."

"Do you like housekeeping?" I asked.

"What I have done of it," she agreed cheerfully. "Of course I've never done very much, but I've learned things from my mother and I know that I can do whatever has to be done. Other girls can, and there's no reason why I shouldn't. I'm not in the least afraid of anything—washing dishes, dusting, sweeping, cooking."

Up at 7 A. M.

She's even going to get up at 7 and get his breakfast. But, so far in her life, she has cooked hardly anything at all.

"Do you mean you've really never learned to cook?" I protested. "Aren't you going to take a single lesson, even in the two weeks left before your wedding?"

She shook her head.

"I'm so busy now I don't know what I'm doing," she answered. "And I can't say that I've learned to make bread or pies or cake—I really can't think of the things I know how to cook, because I've cooked so little. And if I knew what I was going to give John for breakfast I wouldn't tell—I have a right to have some privacy!

Insists She Can Learn.

"Nevertheless," she said confidently, "I'm certainly not afraid of cooking. I can take a cook book and go to work like anybody else. I can learn."

"But you know what people say about the bride's biscuits," I was mean enough to murmur. "Are you sure that yours will be different?"

"Experience is the best teacher —I'm not afraid," repeated Miss Trumbull.

"Of course, I'm strong enough to do my own work!" she answered another question scornfully. "I've always liked sports and in New Haven there won't be the chance for them that there is out here. I'll have time and strength to take care of my home—modern housekeeping is so much easier than it used to be.

"Besides, my husband will be working, and it seems only fair that I should have some work instead of all play. I know that many young wives are working outside their homes. That's a problem I've not had to face, and so I wouldn't want to express myself about it. The important thing, as I see it, is for wives to have work of some sort, in their homes or outside, so that they really will be working partners in marriage."

To Live on His Salary.

"And you believe, do you not," I suggested, "that young couples should live simply and economically, if necessary, rather than be helped by their families?"

"Yes," said Florence Trumbull with emphasis, "We shall live on my husband's salary. Of course, I have my own car and we'll use that—but we shall get along on what we have. It's better to save up for what you want than to go into debt. I shall do my own marketing in order to make our money go as far as possible and I shall keep house on a budget although that also is something we'll have to work out by experience."

John Coolidge is paying $78 a month for his four rooms and his father's Northampton rental has been much advertised as $40 a month. But Miss Trumbull is serenely sure that $78 won't unbalance her budget. Rents, she explains, are higher in New Haven than in Northampton.

TWO SCOTT FIELD SOLDIERS HELD AFTER $9 ROBBERY

Three robbers, two of them Scott Field soldiers, were arrested last night after they held up Earl Hayes attendant at an oil filling station at 8900 State street, taking $9 from the cash register.

Hayes was locked in the washroom by the robbers, but broke open the door and notified William Mulconnery, a parole officer, of the robbery. Mulconnery, furnished with a description of the automobile used by the robbers, set out in pursuit and overtook them a mile away. They were taken to Belleville, where they said they are David Evans, 24 years old, and Melvin Schulte, 18, soldiers at Scott Field, and Lawrence Vivian, 18, of Ste. Genevieve, Mo. They confessed the holdup, according to officers.

WOMAN FLYER STOPS OVER

Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden, winner of the recent women's air derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, stopped at Parks Airport shortly before noon today on her way to Wichita, Kan.

Mrs. Thaden arrived from Sullivan, Ind., in a Travel-Air biplane, in which she was forced down yesterday by rain. She is flying alone and took off from Parks Airport after a 30-minute refueling stop.

The new bridge across Cahokia Creek on Illinois Highway Nos. 3 and 4 between East St. Louis and National City was opened to traffic yesterday. The old bridge was condemned and removed.

OLD POLICE BUILDING TO HOUSE DETENTION HOME INMATES

Latter Property Is Being Improved, Following Criticism by Grand Jurors.

The first floor of the old Police Headquarters Building at Twelfth street and Clark avenue is being repainted and repaired to house the 60 inmates of the House of Detention, Fourteenth and Clark streets, for about four months, while the latter structure is being improved at a cost of $50,000.

The condition of the House of Detention had been criticised by grand juries. The improvements will include a gymnasium to be built on the roof.

AIR PATROLMAN IN CHICAGO

War Time Flyer First Officer to Get Job.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Maj. Ralph Royce, war time flyer and flight commander of the First Army Pursuit Squadron at Selfridge Field, Mich., assumed his duties yesterday as Cook County's first air policeman.

Brought here at the instigation of the airport and air transport operators to end the perils of wildcat flying over Chicago and its suburbs, Maj. Royce was directed first to inspect the credentials of all pilots, their equipment, and the airports and operating companies and schools in Cook County.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Aroused by the recent series of airplane accidents here, Police Commissioner Whalen and Mayor Walker are co-operating on formation of an air police squadron to prevent reckless flying.

ILLINOIS LABOR CHIEF OUT FOR FIVE-DAY WEEK

John H. Walker, at State Convention at Rock Island, Predicts This Will Cut Unemployment.

By the Associated Press.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 10.—Calling attention to a possible period of increased unemployment, John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor yesterday urged solution of the unemployment problem in his report to the federation, in convention here. Approximately 1100 delegates and visitors were in attendance.

"A worker who is willing to work and cannot find employment is a menace to society," President Walker said. "Until the problem of unemployment is reasonably satisfactorily solved there can be no peace in industry."

His forecast of a coming unemployment period was based on the employment graphs of the State free employment bureaus.

Trend Toward Unemployment.

"I regret to say," he said, "that the trend is turning in the direction that means a decline. This does not mean that every industry will be cutting forces, but merely that the general average will go down.

"The period of moderated production in industry probably will extend over the whole year that lies ahead."

During the past year employment and earnings have shown a steady upward climb, he said. "The year, on the whole, has been fairly good, and is certainly much better than in 1927 or the first part of 1928, when unemployment was very serious, in fact a heartbreaking problem."

Walker said an answer to the problem would do more than any other thing toward establishing an historical epoch of peace and prosperity not only in America but through all nations. He advised the convention to spare no effort toward working out a solution as a benefit not only to labor but to all classes who depend upon the workingman's dollar for their livelihood.

The state president championed a five-day week and a six or seven-hour day as perhaps the most feasible solution. This, he said, along with an increase in wages, would distribute employment over a wider field and enable more wage earners to depend upon themselves. With more men working drawing better pay and with more leisure time, they would stimulate all business, Walker said.

Urges Votes for Labor's Friends.

Defining as the major purpose of the State Federation of Labor the securing of laws favorable to labor, Walker urged working men and women of Illinois to vote for candidates "who are intelligent, capable and honest, who can neither be bribed, intimated, deceived or coerced."

More than that, he urged appointment or election of judges to interpret the laws, "whose sympathies are with the masses of the people."

Answering attacks made upon him in the Illinois House of Representatives by Minority Floor Leader Michael Igoe, Walker said Igoe had shown the "brand of sportsmanship that actuates the gentlemen with sawed off shotguns."

Walker said trouble developed in 1927 during a legislative committee hearing on the so-called "one day rest in seven bill." In this committee, Walker said, Igoe asserted that Walker did not represent organized labor in Chicago.

Action of the Federal Radio Commission in denying station WCFL, "the Voice of Labor," a full-time broadcasting channel "seems in harmony with the desire of enemies of labor to prevent labor from having a broadcasting station at all," Walker said.

Circulars attacking Sears, Roebuck & Co., Julius Rosenwald, retired head of the company, and R. R. Donnelly & Sons, publishing company of Chicago for alleged "exploitation of child labor" were distributed among the delegates by representatives of the Chicago Typographical Union. The circular charged the publishing company used under-paid child labor for printing the Sears-Roebuck catalogues.

U. S. JUDGE KENYON TOLD TO SIT DOWN OR LEAVE COURT

Member of Law Enforcement Body Not Recognized by Attaches During Trial.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—United States Circuit Judge William S. Kenyon, a member of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, was unrecognized by court attaches as he made a recent personal survey of trial procedure in the police courts of Washington. One attache suggested, before learning Kenyon's identity, that the visitor "sit down or leave."

After watching the speed with which the cases were disposed of, Kenyon ventured the opinion that "justice might be thwarted by too much haste, as well as too much procrastination."

HOOVER TO CONSIDER DELAYING WORK ON LOWER MISSISSIPPI

Says He Will Act on Flood Control Projects if Valley States Will Make Request.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Hoover has informed representatives from Mississippi Valley states that if they are willing to take the responsibility of making the request, he would consider postponing flood control work on the Southern Mississippi pending a further investigation of the situation.

This information was conveyed to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who conferred a few days ago on the subject with the President.

A difference of opinion has arisen over certain technical and other questions involved in controlling the Mississippi.

If a postponement were made, however, it would not involve any work that had to do with the strengthening of levees, the construction of floodways or the realignment of levees on the Missouri side of the river south of Cairo, Ill. Also, it would not involve the construction of the floodway north of New Orleans.

Any postponement of work would affect primarily the region between the mouth of the Arkansas River and the Gulf of Mexico.

BOY HELD FOR GRAND JURY FOR TRAFFIC FATALITY

George Wegener, 19, Accused of Criminal Carelessness for Killing Man in Safety Zone.

George Wegener, 19 years old, a chauffeur, 5511 Milentz avenue, was held for the grand jury for criminal carelessness today following an inquest into the death of Claire Aldrich, 60-year-old watchman, 2220 McNair avenue, who died yesterday after being struck Saturday by a truck driven by Wegener.

Aldrich was standing in a safety zone at Jefferson avenue and Acomac street, waiting for a northbound Jefferson car, according to Henry G. Fleisch, 4601 Tyrolean avenue, who was standing on the front platform of the street car.

GREEK SENATOR AND FOUR OTHERS HELD FOR RANSOM

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 10.—Nearly 100 persons captured in a bandit ambush Sunday in a narrow valley near the village of Petrouli, 10 miles from Trikkala, were liberated by the highwaymen yesterday. Senator Ajdjigakis and four others still were held captive and $52,000 was demanded as the price of their freedom.

The Council of Ministers has ordered that serious measures be taken against the bandits, but execution of the orders was held up for fear that the bandits might kill their captives.

CHANGES HESS BACK TO HESZ

St. Louisan Wants to Be Sure of Rumanian Legacy.

The name of Lawrence John Hess, 24 years old, of 1955 Lynch street, was changed to John Hesz in Circuit Judge Hartman's court today.

Hess, who said he was born in St. Louis, told the court that his father came to the United States from Rumania, where the family name is Hesz. He said he expected to receive an inheritance from a relative in Rumania and anticipated difficulty unless his name was changed to the original spelling.

FLO LEEDS' HUSBAND IS MINE PROMOTER

J. R. Metcalfe of London Weds Co-Respondent in Stillman Divorce Case.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Flo Leeds, former American chorus girl, who was named as co-respondent in the divorce suit brought in 1925 in New York by the wife of James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, was married at a registry office in this city Aug. 22, according to the Daily Express.

The bridegroom is John Rousseau Metcalfe, who described himself as a company director.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The maiden name of Mrs. J. R. Metcalfe was Florence Lawler, but she took the name Leeds when she was a member of the chorus at the Century Roof, after which she became involved in the Stillman divorce case.

During a certain period of her career she also was known as Mrs. Kevath Lincoln, and this name she used when she occupied an apartment on Park avenue, this city.

She is the daughter of James Lawler, a New York plumber.

Mrs. Leeds lived a colorful and spectacular life, especially after her friendship with Stillman. It was charged by Fred Beauvais, in his $500,000 suit against Stillman, that Mrs. Leeds and Stillman conspired against him to ruin his name.

In her divorce suit Mrs. Anne Potter Stillman charged that Stillman and the chorus girl registered together as Mr. and Mrs. Franklin H. Leeds at various places, that they lived together on an estate on Long Island and that Mrs. Leed's son Jay was the son of the banker.

Metcalfe is president of the Compania Nacional des Eneraldes, which has offices here at 1 East Forty-second street. It is understood this company was organized recently to exploit mineral fields in South America and to mine precious stones. Associates in his office described Metcalfe as tall, handsome man, but something of a mystery.

The parents of the former chorus girl denied knowledge of her affairs. Her father, seen at his plumbing shop, said he knew nothing about the marriage.

$3000 BOND ON DRY CHARGE

Eugene Schott, owner of buildings at Highland, Ill., formerly occupied by the Highland Brewing Co., which were raided by Sheriff's deputies Friday, appeared in Edwardsville voluntarily late yesterday and furnished $3000 bond on a charge of illegal manufacture of alcohol. About 200 gallons of alcohol and a large quantity of mash in four vats were confiscated during the raid.

The penalty for manufacture of alcohol illegally, under Illinois law, is a fine of from $100 to $1000 or a jail sentence of not more than one year, or both.

Girl, 4, Shoots Self.

While playing with a loaded pistol which she found in a dresser drawer, Meredith Coleman, 4 years old, Negro, of 2619A Olive street, was shot through the chest at noon today. She was taken to City Hospital No. 2 where it was said she had little chance to recover.

12-STORY M'MILLAN HOSPITAL BUILDING PERMIT ISSUED

$1,250,000 Structure Will Be Tallest in Washington U. Group on Kingshighway.

A building permit was issued yesterday for the 12-story building of McMillan Hospital and Oscar Johnson Research Institute at the northwest corner of Kingshighway and Euclid avenue.

The new institution, to cost $1,250,000, will make St. Louis a world center of research and teaching in diseases of the ear, eye, nose and throat. The building and endowment were funded by the bequest of Mrs. William McMillan and the gifts of Mrs. Oscar Johnson and the General Education Board, which distributes John D Rockefeller's gifts to education.

Excavation has begun for the building, which will be the tallest of the Washington University hospital group. Construction is to be completed next September. The hospital and the research institute, although in the same building, are separate. The hospital, with an entrance on Euclid, will have administration offices and clinics on the first floor, above the ground floor or basement; operating rooms on the second, wards on the third and fourth, and rivate rooms on the fifth.

Laboratories of the Oscar Johnson Institute, with an entrance on Kingshighway, will occupy the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth floors. Living quarters and administration quarters of the institute will occupy the tenth floor, with recreational provisions on the eleventh floor.

MISS ERNST DISCUSSES BEST SITES FOR SCHOOLS

Lists Elements to Be Considered in Providing Best Returns on Taxpayers' Dollar.

Miss Lillie R. Ernst, acting assistant superintendent of public schools in St. Louis, addressed the Scottish Rite Club luncheon today on the economic location of schools, a subject to which she has devoted considerable time.

The test of locating a school in the final analysis, she said, is whether it gives the best return on the dollar. Elements in the St. Louis school problem which in her opinion require special attention include the inelastic city boundaries, the dual system required by the state in its provisions for educating Negroes, and the peculiar development of communities with high degrees of solidarity.

NO ACTION TO IMPROVE STREET CAR SERVICE

Rerouting Committee Has Done Nothing About Suggestions Made by Transportation Engineer Four Months Ago.

The Transportation Survey Commission's committee on street car rerouting has not yet taken any action toward putting into effect in whole or in part the extensive rerouting plan recommended by R. F. Kelker Jr., the commission's consulting engineer, in a report submitted four months ago.

Erastus Wells, chairman of the rerouting committee which was appointed at the time the report was submitted, said today the committee has not held a meeting, had no immediate plans and he did not know when it would take up the matter. The re-routing plan was designed to straighten tracks, eliminate and simplify turns, and greatly speed up street car service. It is the only tangible recommendation for improved transportation thus far made to the commission by its engineer.

One reason for the inactivity, Wells said, was the fact that he had been out of town part of the summer and several other members of the committee had been away. Other members of the committee are F. Z. Salomon; E. R. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service; Robert B. Brooks, Director of Streets and Sewers; Edward L. Kuhs, member of the Board of Aldermen; C. P. DeLore; and Charles J. Eisenring.

Wells said there was some question in his mind whether it would be best for the committee to adopt a rerouting plan after a study of Kelker's recommendation and submit it to the public for criticism, or to hold public hearings on the Kelker recommendations before adopting a plan.

He said that if the rerouting finally decided upon should cost around $1,000,000 or more the Public Service Co. would have to do some outside financing to carry it into effect, and he believed it must have a new franchise in order to do the financing. On the other hand, he said, if the improvement should cost only a few hundred thousand dollars it might be accomplished without outside financing.

At the last meeting held by the Transportation Survey Commission, which was early in July, Wells objected to holding hearings on the rerouting plan until it was determined how the improvements were to be financed. He had been an ardent supporter of the terminable permits bill which was vetoed by Gov. Caulfield, and had told the Legislature the Public Service Co. needed a new franchise in order to refinance its first mortgage bond issue of upwards of $30,000,000 coming due in 1934.

Wells said today he had not changed his opinion as to the necessity for the franchise in order for the company to carry out any new financing, but that he was willing to proceed with consideration of the rerouting recommendations along any lines desired by the Transportation Survey Commission.

BEDFORD-JONES' FORMER WIFE SUES WOMAN FOR $100,000

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 10.—A $100,000 alienation of affections suit has been filed in the Vanderburgh Circuit Court by Mrs. Henry Bedford-Jones, divorced wife of the novelist and author of adventure stories, against Mrs. Mary T. Bernardin, widow of Alfred Bernardin, wealthy bottle cap manufacturer.

Mrs. Bedford-Jones charges in the suit that Mrs. Bernardin lured the author from his home, and that the author and Mrs. Bernardin had various meetings, the gossiping of the neighborhood causing her humiliation. Bedford-Jones was divorced June 7. He testified that because of his wife's quarrelsome disposition he could not pursue his writing in peace either at home or at his office.

Mrs. Bedford-Jones is the former Miss Helen Williamson, daughter of the late Joel E. Williamson, corporation attorney. Mrs. Bernardin filed a petition in the Probate Court here Sept. 5, asking to be relieved of her duties as guardian over her three minor children because she was leaving Evansville for Europe and her son, Guerin, was to study in Paris this winter. Mrs. Bedford-Jones received alimony of $77,000, payable at the rate of $300 a month.

Mrs. Bernardin was Miss Mary McNalnly of Chillicothe, Mo.

County Body Fails to Return Indictment Against Ewart B. Colby on Charges of Graft.

Ewart B. Colby, former City Clerk of University City, who was dismissed after charges had been made that he had accepted money for issuing a license to a soft drink parlor operator, was exonerated yesterday when the St. Louis County Grand Jury returned a no true bill.

Steve Solarano, who told an investigating committee of the University City Board of Aldermen that Colby had demanded sums ranging from $300 to $500 a year since 1926, besides the regular license fee, was not a witness before the grand jury.

Chief of Police George Ward and Alderman John W. Vogler, who had said they saw Solarano give Colby $100 in currency, serial numbers of which they already had marked when Solarano had related that Colby was demanding that he be paid for issuing the license, appeared before the jury.

Bar Owner's Story.

Vogler, to whom Solarano first told his story July 11, last, called Chief Ward to Solarano's saloon on being told that Colby had demanded a $500 fee that day. The Alderman and Police Chief followed Salarano to a drug store at Delmar boulevard and the Kirkwood-Ferguson street car tracks and there saw Colby receive $100 from Solarano, they said.

The Board of Aldermen had disapproved issuing soft drink parlor licenses to proprietors who had been convicted of liquor law violations, but Solarano had received his license each year since 1925, when he had been fined for liquor possession.

Colby explained he had purchased whisky from Solarano and that he demanded return of his money when he found the liquor was of poor quality. Solarano had agreed to meet him at the drug store for this purpose, he said.

Prosecutor's Explanation.

Herbert Bryant, assistant prosecutor by appointment of Prosecuting Attorney Castlen, formerly a University City official, said that Solarano was not called as a witness because he was a potential defendant and his appearance before the jury would make him immune from prosecution in the case. He declared that the evidence against Colby was not such as to support a criminal charge, since the clerk acted only in a clerical capacity, issuing licenses after approval by the Board of Aldermen.

According to Bryant, no evidence was given to the grand jury that Colby had promised to issue the license in consideration for the money, although witnesses had previously told the Board of Aldermen that Solarano had declared he paid the clerk for this reason.

TRIES TO DIVE FROM WINDOW AFTER GETTING JAIL SENTENCE

Chicago Woman Pronounced Sane, Receives Six Months for Shooting at Judge.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—As she was being led from the courtroom after receiving a 6-month sentence for firing two shots at Judge John F. Hass, Mrs. Ida M. Burt, recently released from the Jacksonville State Asylum, attempted to dive from a window on the fifth floor of the Criminal Courts Building yesterday.

Mrs. Burt lost an appeal in a case before Judge Hass July 15 and after hearing the decision pulled out a revolver and fired the shots. She was arrested on three charges and remanded to the State institution. Saturday she was released from the asylum as sane and the charges against her were reinstated.

Her attempt to leap from a window came at the end of a habeas corpus hearing through which she endeavored in vain to escape serving the sentence. A guard was ordered placed over the woman to prevent her from harming herself.

"CIGAR JOBBER" FREED OF MAIL FRAUD CHARGE

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 10.—Elmer S. Huckins, 65-year-old Wisconsin financier who has paid investors dividends of 26 per cent, was freed yesterday of a Federal charge of using the mails to defraud, but faces further investigation.

The Government's case was dismissed because of insufficient evidence to prove that Huckins was not, as represented by testimony, in the cigar business. Hundreds of persons in Middlewestern and Rocky Mountain states are said to have invested several million dollars in his enterprises.

With the dismissal of the charge, Assistant District Attorney E. J. Koelzer announced the grand jury would hear the case, and that he would "subpena every cigar manufacturer in the country if necessary" to show that Huckins could not pay 26 per cent interest on a legitimate cigar jobbing enterprise,

Body and Engine by Pierce-Arrow—and Pierce-Arrow in every part!

PIERCE-ARROW builded better than it knew when it produced the new Straight Eight. For this ultra-modern creation revolutionized the fashion in fine cars—and established a demand almost overnight which took months to meet.

Before the new Straight Eight's arrival, bulkiness was accepted as a necessary attribute of bigness in automobiles. But Pierce-Arrow created a long, slender, low-swung car that combines grace with every essential to capacious comfort. Besides, it has the added distinction of being the car for which America was willing to wait.

No one could have foreseen the demand for the new Straight Eight—and it took nothing less than a great automobile to sustain it. Today, however, the chances for early deliveries are excellent—including a number of the most favored models in the new Straight Eight line.

U.S. BORDER GUARD ON MEXICAN LINE FOUND MURDERED

M. J. Scannell Apparently Slain in Fight With Outlaws Trying to Cross Boundary Illegally.

By the Associated Press.

PRESIDIO, Tex., Sept. 10.—Overwhelmed by a gang of outlaws presumably aliens seeking illegal entry into the United States, Miles J. Scannell, Assistant Chief Inspector of the Border Patrol, was shot and stabbed to death on a lonely spot on the Rio Grande, 15 miles east of here yesterday.

Fellow officers, who viewed the spot where a terrific struggle apparently had taken place, believed that Scannell was overpowered after he had waded the river and captured one of the aliens. He had been shot twice and stabbed 15 times, including one slash across his throat. The officer's handcuffs and revolver could not be found.

His attackers apparently had fled into the wilderness across the Rio Grande as immigration officers of the border patrol could find no trace of them on the American side. Scannell was stationed at Marfa.

HOHENTHAL MURDER TRIAL IS CONTINUED TO OCT. 28

Postponed on Motion of Counsel for Retired Merchant Charged With Killing Woman.

HILLSBORO, Mo., Sept. 10.—The trial of Sol Hohenthal, retired merchant of De Soto, charged with the murder in the first degree in the case of Miss Pearl Potoskey, owner of a St. Louis beauty parlor, who was found dead from a revolver wound in his apartment Dec. 2, was continued today to Oct. 28 on the motion of defense counsel.

When the case was called for trial before Circuit Judge Dearing, defense counsel moved to quash the indictment on the ground that the prosecutor had unduly influenced the grand jury to obtain the indictment. The motion was overruled and former Circuit Attorney Sidener of St. Louis of defense counsel submitted a prepared motion for continuance on the grounds that a defense witness was out of the State, and that additional State's witnesses had been indorsed on the indictment this morning.

Mrs. Joseph Potoskey, mother of the slain woman, fainted when she saw Hohenthal in front of the Courthouse.

BETHLEHEM STEEL HEAD EXPLAINS DROPPING SHEARER

E. G. Grace in Letter to Hoover Says He Gave Up Connections When He Learned of Propaganda.

FIRM WAS TO PAY THIRD OF $25,000

Big Navy Advocate Declares He Received Secret and Confidential Reports of U. S. Navy.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A letter from E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, made public at the White House today, said the company had severed connections with William B. Shearer as soon as it had determined that he was a propagandist.

The letter, addressed to President Hoover, was in response to a statement by the chief executive saying he could not believe directors of shipbuilding corporations had a direct part in Shearer's activities, but that "their statement of the case" was desired.

Shearer was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Grace's letter said, to act as an observer at the Geneva disarmament conference in 1927 for a $25,000 fee, of which Bethlehem was to pay a third.

The communication added that as soon, however, as Charles M. Schwab and Grace ascertained that Shearer had for years been "an active propagandist" on American naval policies the connection was severed.

Hired by Eastern Agent.

Further, Grace wrote that to the best of the company's recollection, Schwab and he "were not conscious of the existence of William B. Shearer prior to December, 1927, when we were asked to comment on the rumor that American shipbuilding interests had maintained at Geneva during the naval disarmament conference of the previous summer a propagandist in the person of one William B. Shearer.

"We first branded the rumor as false," the letter continued, "but upon its repetition we caused inquiries to be made of S. W. Wakeman, who was in charge of Bethlehem's Eastern shipbuilding operations, with headquarters at our Fore River shipbuilding plant at Quincy, Mass.

"We then learned for the first time that in the previous spring Mr. Wakeman had joined with other shipbuilding companies in the employment of Mr. Shearer as an observer at the Geneva disarmament conference for a fee of $25,000, of which Bethlehem was to pay a third.

"Mr. Wakeman assured us that his understanding was that Mr. Shearer was employed only as an observer to furnish information and that his activities as a propaganidist in connection with the conference were solely on his own initiative and were in no way inspired or supported by the shipbuilding industries.

Tells of Dismissal.

"Mr. Schwab and I soon ascertained that Mr. Shearer was and had been for years an active propagandist regarding the naval policies of the United States. We felt that the employment of such a man as an observer was in conflict with the policy to which the Bethlehem interests had strictly adhered of refraining from participation in propaganda intended to influence the naval and military policies of the United States Government.

"I therefore directed Mr. Wakeman to arrange for the termination of Mr. Shearer's employment, which he promptly did, paying Bethlehem's share of the final payment of Mr. Shearer's compensation. This ended Bethlehem's relations with Mr. Shearer.

"It was after this termination of his employment that Mr. Shearer advanced for the first time, I am informed, his claim against the shipbuilding company for compensation in much larger amounts than he had already received.

"We should add that we have also learned from Mr. Wakeman that in December, 1926, he joined with other shipbuilding companies in the employment of Mr. Shearer in connection with the movement of development of an American merchant marine for fees of $7500 of which Bethlehem paid a third.

Has Nothing to Conceal.

"Mr. Shearer's claim in his pending suit against our company and two other shipbuilding companies that he had been employed by us to any greater extent than above stated or that he is entitled to compensation beyond the amounts already paid to him is entirely without foundation.

"Bethlehem has nothing to conceal regarding its share in the employment of Mr. Shearer on the two occasions above mentioned and we shall be glad to furnish any further information on the subject you desire."

The Washington Star says today a number of organizations in Washington recently have received a request from Shearer to adopt a resolution opposing American adherence to the World Court and the League of Nations. The resolution, the Star adds, also urged completion of the cruiser building program and the building by the United States of a Navy second to none.

Among the organizations receiving the request, the Star continues, are the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Confidential information of the intelligence service of the United States Navy mailed to him in an official Navy envelope supplied the "facts and figures" which William B. Shearer, big navy propagandist, furnished for the American press at the Geneva arms conference, he said yesterday when pressed for an explanation of his statement that he "was supplied with naval intelligence data officially" for his activities at the preliminary conference in 1926, and the conference of 1927. He says he attended the conference in 1927 as an employe of ship building interests.

He did not know who sent him this confidential information, he averred. There was no letter with it.

"Had you been told you were going to get it?" he was asked.

"Well," he replied, "I had made it known that I was going over and that they'd better load me up."

The Navy envelope, mailed to him at the Hotel Grosvenor, in New York, just before he sailed for Europe in 1926, contained statistics and other data on all the navies of the world and on the condition and requirements of the United States Navy, he said.

Confidential Matter.

"Was it a secret file?" he was asked.

"Not exactly secret," he responded, "but certainly confidential."

The original envelope and its contents, he said, would be taken by him to Washington for his appearance before the congressional investigating committee.

He denied reports from London that the British Government had refused to give him a visa to enter England, but declared he was unofficially warned by British officials at Geneva in 1927 that it would be advisable for him not to attempt to enter England at any future time.

"I will not say who warned me," he said, "but it came from a good source. Just before Ramsay MacDonald became Premier I thought there would be a naval conference in London after he took office.

"I wrote to MacDonald and asked that I be permitted to go to England and enjoy the courtesies usually extended to Englishmen visiting this country. I received a reply stating that my letter had been received. I have heard nothing more of the matter.

"I wish our State Department would disclose its correspondence concerning some Englishmen who want to come here."

In his letter to Ramsay MacDonald, Shearer said:

"To be perfectly frank there has been much apprehension and suspicion caused in the United States by the continuance of foreign propaganda both against the United States Navy and merchant marine.

Accused as Anti-British.

"In my long years of study and devotion to the question of national defenes and my activities, both at Geneva during the arms parleys and in my own country, I have been accused of being anti-British. In that respect I wish to say to you that I am anti-British, but every evidenec that I am pro-American, and as the accused leader of the naval fight by the British press, I ask in fairness to permit me to come to England and state unofficially the facts concerning our side of the case.'

HOOVER DEFENDS ADMIRAL JONES

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Denial that there has been any connection between Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, and William B. Shearer, big navy advocate formerly in the employment of American shipbuilding corporations, was made yesterday by President Hoover, who said the Admiral "deserves the highest appreciation for his public service."

The President's denial was made in a telegram sent to Representative McClintic of Oklahoma, a Democrat of the House Naval Committee, who, in a message to the White House, had suggested such a connection during the 1927 Geneva naval limitation conference at which Admiral Jones was a delegate for the United States and Shearer was active against any agreement for further limitation of the American Navy.

Jones added his own denial when questioned during a visit to the White House to discuss with the President the present naval limitation negotiations with Great Britain.

"I never saw him (Shearer) before the Geneva conference," he said.

"Did you see him then?" he was asked.

"I spoke to him just once," the Admiral replied.

The President's telegram to McClintic, sent before Jones reached the White House, follows:

"I have your telegram of Sept. 7. You are entirely mistaken as to any connection between Admiral Hilary Jones and the gentleman you mention. They have never even had acquaintance and I have ample reason to know that there could not possibly be such a relationship as you suggest. I do hope that you will accept my assurance that there is a mistake. Admiral Jones deserves the highest appreciation for his public service."

Secretary of the Navy Adams said he was confident that no illegal relations had existed at any time between high naval officers and Shearer. He added that his department was co-operating with the inquiry of the Department of Justice at the direction of President Hoover, and that it would supply "the extensive" information it has on Shearer to the Senate Naval Committee, if that body desired.

U. S. SEEKS TO CANCEL ITALIAN'S CITIZENSHIP

Charges That Carmelo Frisina Swore Falsely He Had Never Been Arrested.

Suit was filed in Federal Court today by District Attorney Breuer to cancel the naturalization certificate of Carmelo Frisina, also known as Camelo Fresina and Charles Freese, who has been involved in Italian feud outbreaks. He resides at 2716 Semple avenue.

The Government charges that Frisina qualified for naturalization, Dec. 4, 1925, after swearing falsely at an examination, in the preceding February, that he had never been arrested. In the event his naturalization papers are revoked, he will be subject to prosecution for perjury.

A conviction would legally classify him as an undesirable alien who could be deported as such. Lack of felony conviction has hitherto prevented authorities from carrying out their expressed wish to deport alien feudists of St. Louis.

Although Frisina became a citizen in 1925 on his sworn statement that he had never been arrested, records show, the Government now charges, that he had been arrested Aug. 16, 1920, when a whisky still was found in operation at his home; June 1, 1922 when Joe Bucceri, dying from bullet wounds, identified Frisina as his assailant; twice in July, 1924, for traffic violations; Sept. 23, 1924, for violation of the State bone-dry law; May 22, 1925, when moonshine was seized in his saloon at 8113 North Broadway; and Sept. 14, 1925, when he was charged with operating an automobile without State license.

Since obtaining his naturalization papers Frisina frequently has been picked up by police. No convictions are listed. Last month he was arrested for exchanging shots with prohibition agents who raided his home. In this connection an assault to kill charge is now pending against him in Federal Court.

Frisina was shot and seriously wounded Jan. 19, 1928, in a feud outbreak in which Dominis Cataldo and Tony Ditrapani were killed.

JOHN RINGLING PURCHASES CONTROL OF FIVE CIRCUSES

Buys Sells Floto, Hagenbeck-Wallace and Others; to Operate Them Separately.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—John Ringling, the last of the Ringling brothers, has bought control of the largest group of tent shows in the world, including their talent, menageries, equipment and winter quarters.

The shows added to the Ringling group are: Sells Floto, Hagenbeck-Wallace Animal Show, Sparks', John Robinson's and the Al G. Barnes Wild Animal Show.

The properties were purchased from the American Circus Corporation in a transaction which friends of the showman said involved several million dollars.

There are about 5000 persons employed in the newly-acquired shows as compared with 1600 in the present Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey organization.

The announcement said the five shows would be operated as individual units although there might be some interchange of talent.

OUSTED HEAD OF NEGRO COLLEGE REINSTATED

Nathan B. Young Sr. Again President of Lincoln University.

Nathan B. Young Sr., of 4108 Enright avenue, who was ousted two years ago from the presidency of Lincoln University, state supported school for Negroes at Jefferson City, was restored to his position yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Curators in the law offices of Charles Nagel, chairman of the board. W. B. Jason, who succeeded Young, was returned to his former position of professor and dean of mathematics.

The dismissal came at the hands of a previous board appointed by Former Gov. Baker after Young's educational methods had been under criticism for two years. In 1925 when rumors were current that a shake-up impended, Gov. Baker explained "when people in State jobs begin writing letters charging politics, just as soon as a little constructive criticism is made, they are opening the way for a change."

Young, according to Gov. Baker, had been writing letters objecting to "political" criticism of the large number of courses of study maintained for a comparatively small enrollment, between 300 and 350. The Governor said he thought the school had too large a curriculum under the circumstances and that better results could be obtained by centering on fewer subjects.

One of the board members favoring the removal was Sam A. James, Republican leader of Sedalia, made chairman by Baker. He gave as the chief objection to Young his importation of "too many Southern Negroes for faculty positions."

"They don't work well with Missouri Negroes," said James, who was tctively supporting the candidacy of C. C. Hubbard, Sedalia Negro high school principal, for Young's place.

At that time the Board was deadlocked over the change. Twice it voted 3 to 3. Gov. Baker announced Young would "probably be retained another year." When the removal came in 1927, Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Schools, described the action as "untimely, unwise and a gross injustice both to Young and to the cause of education of Negroes in this State."

Prior to his previous presidency of the university, Young was head of the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College at Tallahassee. The president of Lincoln University gets $4000 a year and a residence.

The curators also appointed I. C. Tull, who served before with Young, to be registrar and business agent; David Waters, athletic director, and C. B. Broussard, head of the commercial department.

In commenting on the restoration of Young to the presidency, Chairman Nagel said it was done in the "utmost harmony."

ST. LOUISANS IDENTIFY WOMAN WHO FELL DEAD IN MEMPHIS

Identification of the body of Mrs. Nell E. Gravette, who died Thursday night after collapsing at Grand Central Station in Memphis and refusing to give her name, was established Sunday by relatives who went there when they read in Friday's Post-Dispatch that a mirror with the initials "N. E. G." was found in her baggage.

Letters and other effects upon which her name appeared had been destroyed by her. The body will be brought to St. Louis for interment by her brother, Frank J. Dwyer, 5143 Page boulevard, and Mrs. Dwyer's sister, Mrs. L. G. Sickel, 5854 Maple avenue, who, with her husband, accompanied Dwyer to Memphis.

The widow of Thomas E. Gravette, Pensacola, Fla., turpentine manufacturer, killed in an explosion 15 years ago, she maintained a home at Pensacola, but in recent years had spent much time in travel and visiting relatives here and in Eastern Tennessee. She was 60 years old. During her visit here in January she had complained of ill health.

HEFLIN ASKS FORD TO MAKE NEW MUSCLE SHOALS BID

Senator Writes Manufacturer That "He Could Greatly Bless and Benefit South."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Senator Heflin (Dem.), Alabama, has written Henry Ford asking him to make another bid for the Muscle Shoals power project.

"The standstill condition of four-fifths of the units of the dam at Muscle Shoals, the daily waste of power there, the loss of money on the Government's investment and the desire of Congress to dispose of the project at the next regular session," Heflin wrote, "presents a situation now that I believe would be favorable to a bid from you."

Heflin added he believed Ford could "greatly bless and benefit the farmers of the South and the whole country by manufacturing cheap fertilizer."

Women's Council Meets Thursday.

The fall program of the St. Louis Council of Women will begin Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with a meeting at Alhambra Grotto, 2626 South Grand boulevard, in honor of Clara E. Thoms, the musical director of the council and one of its charter members.

NEW PRIZE ANNOUNCED FOR BENNETT RACES

A. R. Hawley Will Award $500 to Balloon Pilot Breaking Distance Record.

A prize of $500 for the pilot breaking the American distance record of 1173 miles in the international balloon race Sept. 28 has been offered by Alan R. Hawley, New York sportsman and referee of this year's race, who set the record in 1910 by a flight from St. Louis to Northern Quebec.

Hawley and his aid, Augustus Post, were lost for nine days in the woods after landing, finally making the way to a trading post. Hawley informed the contest committee he is offering the special prize as proof that he is still interested in balloon racing. The $500 is in addition to $3000 offered by the Air Board of the Chamber of Commerce to the winner of the event, along with possession of the third Gordon Bennett trophy for a year.

Col. John A. Paegelow, commandant of Scott Field, in an address over Radio Station KMOX last night, told of the special equipment, including a lightning arrestor, which is being prepared at Scott Field for the army balloon, which will be piloted in the race by Capt. William Kepner, former Scott Field officer, who won last year's event. Copper wire strung from aluminum tubes attached to the metal load ring of the balloon will protect Capt. Kepner and his aid from lightning, Col. Paegelow said. The device has been successfully tested in an electrical concern's laboratories. The army balloon is being constructed at Scott Field and differs from other entries only in minor details. With the basket, it weighs 1000 pounds.

Col. Paegelow declared that free ballooning, through teaching pilots the effects of air currents, clouds and temperature, has value in training future dirigible commanders.

To stimulate interest in the balloon race the Goodyear blimp, "Vigilant," which arrived here Sunday, began a series of over St. Louis today. City of will be passengers on some of trips.

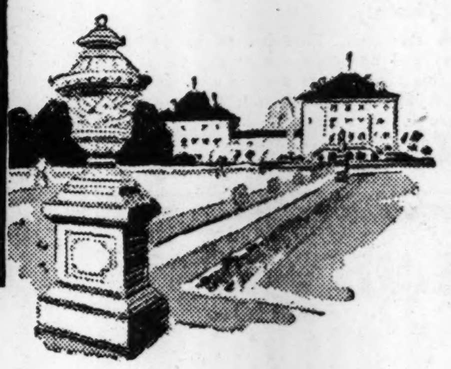
Fräulein Honsell, daughter of the famous German beauty specialist, assistant to her renowned father in caring for the complexions of continental beauties.

"I specify Palmolive as a matter of course, and have done so now for several years. It is the most effective of all the soaps I have tried in thoroughly cleansing the skin."

J. Honsell.
ODEONPLATZ 7, MUNICH



"I Specify Palmolive—and have done so for several years"

Says HONSELL

Outstanding Beauty Specialist of Munich

"UNFORTUNATELY, I tell my clients, a beautiful complexion cannot be acquired just by taking a few special treatments in my salon." So says Honsell, of Munich, a beauty expert whose word carries great significance throughout Germany. "The most experienced beauty specialist," he continues, "cannot achieve good results unless the client does her part at home. My home treatment naturally varies, since every skin has its individual needs. But the groundwork is always the same—a thorough massage twice a day with Palmolive Soap."

Throughout Germany, the same advice

From one end of the Rhine to the other, in small towns and great cities throughout Germany, beauty experts today are unanimous in their approval of a facial treatment using this soap blended of palm and olive oils.

In Berlin, the celebrated Elise Bock tells her patrons the need for "foundation cleansing—by one means and one means only—daily use of Palmolive Soap." "It not only cleans the pores," says Emil Meier, of Bremen, "but it has beautifying qualities that serve the loveliest skin." These quotations are typical of the advice given by the outstanding experts throughout Germany.

In other cities, the world over

Not only in Germany, but in France, in England, Spain, Italy, Scandinavia . . . and everywhere in the United States one is told by the leading specialists to keep skin beautiful by a simple soap-and-water massage. Here it is, briefly: work a lather of Palmolive Soap and water gently into the pores. Rinse, carrying away all impurities. Cold water or ice makes a refreshing astringent. Then—and only then—are you ready for make-up.

It is because of this internationally fine reputation that Palmolive is today one of the two leading toilet soaps in France, the first soap in this country and 48 others.

A vast professional group, including 16,954 American experts, agree on this daily rule involving Palmolive Soap

Facade of the Beauty Salon of Honsell, Munich.

All of the leading beauty specialists of Munich officially approve of the twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap to keep skin lovely. Bornheimer and Deppe, Prischel and Charles agree with Honsell that nothing is so helpful in providing a smooth, fresh, glowing complexion as this particular blend of palm and olive oils.

BROWNS WIN DOUBLE HEADER FROM RED SOX, 6-1 AND 1-0

AUSTIN OF ENGLAND IS VICTOR IN THIRD ROUND

By the Associated Press.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Big Bill Tilden was forced to fight off the gallant challenge of 19-year-old Frank Shields in a desperate battle this afternoon before he finally won his way into the fourth round of the National Tennis Singles championship by score of 2—6, 6—1, 14—12, 6—4.

Visibly disturbed by the activities of a foot fault judge, Henry Wilfred "Bunny" Austin, England's leading contender for the championship was carried to five sets in a third-round match today by Harold MacGuffin of Philadelphia. Austin finally steadied enough to win by scores of 6—2, 6—8, 2—6, 6—2, 6—3.

George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., this morning in a third-round match adjourned from yesterday. The scores were 12—10, 6—3, 6—2. When rain interrupted play yesterday, Lott had won the first set, with the second standing at game all.

Completing the third round bracket, Edward W. Feibleman, former Harvard star, defeated Dr. George King, New York, 6—3, —4, 3—6, 18—8, in another match that yesterday's shower interrupted. Dr. King led at 5—2 in the fourth set when play was halted, but Feibleman overhauled him today to win the match without recourse to a fifth set.

Austin, favored to win in straight sets, was making a runaway match when in the first game of the second set a footfault was called against him by S. Wallis Merrihew of New York, editor of the magazine, American Lawn Tennis. This ruffled the Englishman's composure so that he dropped the next two sets. In the effort to avoid further offense against the footfault rule he was serving from a point nearly three feet back of the baseline.

After a talk with Merrihew during the intermission, Austin settled down somewhat, taking the last two sets and the match. Merrihew continued to call footfaults against both players, his action on one occasion in the final set incurring the vocal displeasure of a section of the gallery of 2000.

Three of America's foremost players followed Austin into the fourth round, all winning in straight sets. Frank Hunter, second in the national ranking mastered Leroy M. Weir, Chicago, 6—3, 6—3, 6—1. John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., another Davis Cup player, conquered Harry Brunie, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 7—5, 9—7, 6—0. Bill Tilden's Kansas City protege, Wilbur F. Coen, advanced at the expense of Fred Royar, Chicago, 6—1, 6—1, 6—3.

John Olliff of England seeded third among the foreign players was blasted out of the tournament in the third round by a comparative unknown, J. S. Millen of New York by scores of 6—0, 9—7, 6—3.

THIRD ROUND.

H. W. Austin, England, defeated Harold MacGuffin, Philadelphia, 6—2, 6—8, 2—6, 6—2, 6—3.

John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., defeated Henry C. Brunie, Mount Vernon, N. Y., 7—5, 9—7, 6—0.

Wilbur F. Coen, Kansas City, Mo., defeated Fred Royer, Chicago, Ill., 6—1, 6—1, 6—3.

Henry M. Culley, Cambridge, Mass., defeated Jack Mooney, Atlanta, Ga., 6—1, 7—5, 6—8, 6—2.

Julius Seligson, New York, defeated M. H. Partridge, New Rochelle, N. Y., 6—2, 6—8, 6—3.

Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., defeated Leroy M. Weir, Chicago, Ill., 6—3, 6—3, 6—1.

J. S. Millen, New York, defeated J. S. Olliff, England, 6—0, 9—7, 6—3.

World Series Will Be Started Oct. 8; N. L. City Gets First Game

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The first game of the World Series will be played Oct. 8 in the city winning the National League pennant, it was announced today at the office of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Commissioner.

The date for the baseball classic, prices of admission and other details were agreed on today at a meeting presided over by Landis.

Others in attendance were E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, John A. Heydler, president of the National League, and officials of the Athletics and Cubs which appeared to have the pennants cinched. William Wrigley Jr., owner of the Cubs, and William L. Veeck, president of the team, were the representatives of the Cubs. Thomas Shibe, president of the Athletics, and Robert Schroeder, secretary, represented the Philadelphia club.

Granting that the Cubs and Athletics are the pennant winners, the world's series schedule will read as follows:

Oct. 8, at Chicago.
Oct. 9, at Chicago.
Oct. 10, traveling.
Oct. 11, at Philadelphia.
Oct. 12, at Philadelphia.
Oct. 13, open (Sunday).
Oct. 14, at Philadelphia.
Oct. 15, traveling.
Oct. 16, at Chicago.
Oct. 17, at Chicago.

It was agreed to charge $6.60 for box seats, $5.50 for reserved grand stand seats and $1 for bleacher seats. These prices will prevail at both Chicago and Philadelphia. In event of rain causing postponement, the game will be played the next day, regardless of schedule.

Although Commissioner Landis invited five other clubs in both leagues still having a mathematical chance of winning, only the representatives of the Athletics and Cubs appeared.

All games, both at Philadelphia and Chicago, will start at 1:30 p. m.

MISS HICKS GETS ANOTHER 78 AND LEADS TOURNEY BY. 10 STROKES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Helen Hicks of Inwood, N. Y., today scored a second record 78 on the Flossmoor Country Club course to hold her lead at the half way mark of the first 72-hole medal play championship for women with a total of 156 strokes.

The youthful Long Island star bagged four birdies today and was one over par on only two holes. She went out in 40, one under par, and returned with a 38, also one under par. In the first 18-hole round yesterday her score was 38-40—78.

The card for her round today:

Out—
Par 6 3 6 4 5 5 3 4 5—41
Hicks .6 3 5 5 4 5 3 4 5—40
In—
Par 5 3 5 3 4 5 4 5 5—39—80
Hicks .4 3 5 3 4 4 4 5 6—38—78

Miss Hicks' two recard breaking 'rounds' gave her a ten stroke lead over her closest rival, Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago, who scored an 83 yesterday and another 83 today for a 166 total.

Maureen Orcutt of White Beeches, New York, added 87 to her 84 of yesterday for a 171 total which put her in third place.

Mrs. Austin Pardue of Hibbing, Minn., who finished second yesterday in 82, required 90 strokes today and was in next place with 172. Other scores were generally high.

"SHUCKS" PRUETT SOLD TO GIANTS BY NEWARK CLUB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The New York Giants today announced the purchase of the contract of Hubert Pruett, left-handed pitcher, from Newark of the International League.

Pruett formerly pitched for St. Louis in the American League and Philadelphia in the National. He became noted early in his career with the Browns as a nemesis of Babe Ruth.

Routis' Bout to Be Held, Boxing Official States

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—State Commissioner Thomas Donohue, of Connecticut, is going through with the Andre Routis-Bat Battalino match for the featherweight champion at Hartford, Conn., Sept. 23.

Disregarding the request of James A. Farley, chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, that the contest be called off, Commissioner Donohue started for his New London, Conn., home last night that he owed it to the Nutmeg State to proceed with the titular engagement.

Donohue added that he knew it meant the severance of boxing relations between the two states. New York and Connecticut have been working under an agreement to recognize each other's rulings. Farley, on behalf of New York, asked the cancellation of the match because of Routis' suspension in this state.

Bears Sign Centers

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A pair of six-foot centers, Bert Pearson, formerly of the Kansas Aggies, and Harry Richman, from the University of Illinois, have been signed by the Chicago Bears of the National Pro Football League.

PETEE WRACK WINS TWIN CITY IN FAST TIME

By the Associated Press.

BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Over a drying out track, J. R. Macomber's Petee Wrack, carrying the heavy impost of 123 pounds, won the Twin City Handicap, at a mile and a quarter here today and stepped the distance in 2:03 3-5, which was considered excellent time as the track was not fast. Distraction was second and Gypsy King II third and last.

Petee Wrack was the favorite at 3 to 5. He ran into the lead in the first three furlongs, then drew away, but in the stretch Distraction came again and forced O'Donnell on Petee Wrack to ride hard to win by half a length. Distraction took the place by ten lengths. The race was worth $4175 to the winner.

RALPH KURZ, FORMER WASHINGTON U. STAR, GETS OFFER TO COACH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

STILLWATER, Ok., Sept. 10.—Ralph Kurz one of the most brilliant football and basketball players ever turned out at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., is being considered for a coaching position at Central High School, Oklahoma City.

Kurz received his basketball training under Don White, the former Purdue star, who has been basketball coach at Washington University for a number of years. The St. Louis star has been recommended to J. R. Barton, superintendent of Oklahoma City public schools by a number of influential persons and it is considered likely that he will be made an offer.

The basketball coaching position at Central High School was formerly held by George Rody, who resigned in June to accept a similar position at the Oklahoma A. and M. College.

M'GOWAN SCORES ONLY RUN OF SECOND GAME ON RHYNE'S ERROR

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—The Browns won both ends of a double-header from the Boston Red Sox here today, the first by a score of 6 to 1 and the second 1 to 0. The double victory gave the Browns an even break on the season's series wtih the Red Sox, each club winning 11 games.

In the opener Rip Collins hurled a fine game for the Browns, yielding but four hits, and had it not been for a little wildness in the ninth inning, when he walked three men, he would not have been scored upon.

Jack Russell started the game for the Red Sox, but a flock of base hits in the first inning gave the Browns four runs and sent Russell to the bench.

Ray Dobens relieved him and, although he was hit freely, the Browns scored but two more runs during the remainder of the game.

Despite the fact that he had been routed in the opening contest, Russell was sent back in to pitch for Boston in the second game and did very well.

But in the first inning McGowan reached second on Regan's error, went to third on Schulte's infield hit and scored when Rhyne threw wild to first. That was the only run of the game.

Dick Coffman pitched steadily for the Browns and was never in much danger until after two were out in the ninth inning, when successive singles by Todt and Ruffing, pinch hitting for Heving, put the tying run on third base. Coffman, however, tightened up and got Rhyne on a foul to end the contest.

The second game:

FIRST INNING — BROWNS — Regan threw out Blue. McNeely lined to Rothrock. McGowan reached second when Regan muffed his easy roller. Schulte beat out a hit to Rhyne who threw wild to first. McGowan scoring and Schulte reaching second. Rhyne threw out Kress. ONE RUN.

BOSTON—Reeves grounded to Blue. Coffman threw out Scarritt. Rothrock beat out a roller along the first base line. Kress threw out Bigelow.

BOSTON—Regan walked. Todt was safe at first when Melillo fumbled his grounder, Regan going to second. Heving hit into a double play, Kress to Melillo to Blue, Regan going to third. Rhyne lifted to McGowan.

BOSTON — Melillo threw out Rothrock. Bigelow singled to center. Kress threw out Regan. Barrett ran for Bigelow. Coffman tossed out Todt.

BOSTON — O'Rourke made a fine stop and threw out Barrett. Regan flied to Schulte. Todt singled to center. Ruffing batted for Heving. Gerber ran for Todt. Ruffing singled to center, sending Gerber to third. Rhyne forced Ruffing, Melillo to Kress.

MELICENT ENDICOTT ADVANCES IN ST. LOUIS DISTRICT TENNIS TOURNEY

FOUR PLAYERS DRAW BYES IN OPENING ROUND OF NET PLAY

By Davison Obear

Favorites advanced in the opening round of the St. Louis district tennis championship for women players at Triple A yesterday afternoon. Ten matches were completed of which there were eight in the first round and two in the second. There were two defaults in the first round.

Melicent Endicott, favored to win the title, advanced to the third round by defeating Bernardine Lutz, 6—2, 6—0. Delphine Rauch also gained the third round bracket by eliminating Violet Stanton, 6—2, 6—1. The four players drew byes in the opening round.

In a very close first round contest, Elvera Weber defeated Mrs. Benedict Farrar, 6—4, 7—5. There were a number of long rallies in the match, but Miss Weber appeared steadier than her opponent. Mrs. Murray Cantwell, formerly Zita Doyle, returned to tournament play and won from Louise Weber, 6—4, 6—3, in a first round match.

There are four matches in the second round to be played this afternoon. Mrs. B. K. Brouster, who is expected to advance far, will oppose Miss M. A. Eberth in one match, while Mrs. Ann Lindemann will meet Mrs. Zita D. Cantwell in another.

Miss Viriginia Baer Dueker, one of the title favorites, will play Elvera Weber in another second round encounter with Mrs. Violet Furlong opposing Mercelna Weiss in what is expected to be the feature match of the day.

Play in the women's doubles will open this afternoon. Nine teams will compete for the honors. Melicent Endicott and Lottie Hagemeyer, present champions, and the team of Mrs. Virginia Dueker and Mrs. Ann Lindemann were seeded one and two in the draw.

Yesterday's Results.

SONNENBERG TO MEET STANLEY STASIAK FOR FOURTH TIME TONIGHT

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—Members of the Missouri Athletic Commission will be at the ringside tonight when "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, meets Stanley Stasiak, the big Pole, in a titular match, to determine if the champion's flying tackle is what its name implies or a deliberate butt.

The State wrestling code, recently adopted by the commission, prohibits butting. The commission has announced that if the flying tackle is a deliberate butt, the champion will be disqualified.

Charles Fischer, Chicago, will defend his world's middleweight title against Joe Wisack, a native of Tyrol, on the same card.

Available records show that Sonnenberg has met and defeated Stasiak at least three times since Gus took the title from Lewis.

DOWN the STRETCH

By Melvin D. Fulcher

Although there are 303 eligibles among the two-year-olds for the fortieth running of the rich Futurity stakes, it appeared after the impressive victory of the Whitney pair Boojum and Whichone in the Hopeful at Saratoga that the Futurity field might be smaller this year than in previous runnings. It is reported in the East, however, that after the close call the Whitney entry had in the Champagne stakes that a good sized field, reaching probably 25, will line up Saturday in an attempt to wrest juvenile honors away from the two Whitney color bearers. The fact that Goneaway was able to split the pair seems to be the fly in the ointment with some of the Eastern judges, notwithstanding the fact that Whichone came away to win like a real champion and that Boojum with which the stable had declared to win, was running for the first time in the mud and without blinkers. It is a safe conclusion that they will both improve in Saturday's race if the track is fast, according to the opinion of leading Eastern trainers and Jockeys McAtee and Workman who rode Whichone and Boojum respectively in the Champagne stakes.

Opposition for Diavolo.

The victory of The Nut in the Realization will also cause a larger field to start in the Jockey Club Gold Cup Saturday than was at first expected as it was considered that Diavolo was practically in "by himself." Although this 4-year-old, the winner of the Saratoga Cup, will be hard to beat at the distance of two miles, opposition seems likely from such horses as Petee Wrack, Double Pay, Sun Beau, Hard Tack, Beacon Hill, African Marine, Vito and Display.

Although Stefan The Great is not fancied as a sire and is going back to England without causing much regret among American breeders, yet one of his sons caused much joy among the many followers of George Odom when Shephanite came home at Belmont Park Monday after being heavily backed. It was a muddy track which just suited the colt which is owned by the Lenox Stud stable and he won easily. His dam was Thimble, a good mud mare which raced a few years back.

Henfling String to Fairmount.

The Henfling horses have been shipped from Dade Park to Fairmount where they are awaiting the opening on Oct. 4. False Pride, Golden Auburn and J. A. Weil compose the string. J. A. Weil was the victor of a race at Dade Park last week which brought about the suspension of Jockey Willie Pool, who rode a horse in the race, and the refusal of the further entries of the horse Polvo at the Dade Park meeting after he finished last in the race. Considerable money showed up in St. Louis, it is reported, for J. A. Weil that day.

Brown Wisdom's victory at Lincoln Fields yesterday hardly reinstated him in the estimation of racegoers and players who had received several serious setbacks by his repeated failures on previous occasions. Quoted at short prices in every start, he failed to win for his new owners, the Reichert brothers, until yesterday.

It is reported that many of the large players at Belmont who had written out betting slips for huge amounts on the Whitney entry, Boojum and Whichone, at 1 to 5 and less, had some very bad moments when Goneaway pulled away from Boojum in the stretch and it looked like the blue colors of this popular stable would be borne to defeat. Whichone's quick move under McAtee's urging, however, saved the day. The stable had declared to win with Boojum.

There have been a number of instances where a stable has declared to win with one horse of an entry, but it has taken the other to save the day. At Latonia, when Miss Joy, the sensational 2-year-old from the Audley Farm stable was practically unbeatable in the West, she was in a race with Phantom Fair, another 2-year-old filly from the same stable, and with which the stable had declared to win. A hundred yards out from the finish Phantom Fair, on the inside, was straightened out and faced certain defeat by a rapid going colt which had come from behind. Mack Garner, on Miss Joy, however, was laying in fourth position and seeing the menace of the other horse, roused his mount, which responded instantly to win by a safe margin.

Jockey Steve O'Donnell has been engaged to ride Broadway Limited, the Man O' War-Starflight colt, which brought the highest price, $65,000, at the yearling sales of 1928 in the Futurity. This colt is owned by the Three D's Stable, and although he has been a great disappointment so far, he is reported as having worked sensationally fast on a number of occasions lately.

Eight Race Tracks in Maryland

Besides Maryand's four big race tracks there are half-mile tracks at Cumberland, Timonium and Marlboro, with race meets preceding the season on the bigger tracks.

*Field.

Pacquette had speed from the start, followed closest to the early pacemaker under restraint and disposing of Bernice Van, taking the lead in the stretch, held it easily. Bernice Van had the most speed from the break, saved ground and weakened badly near the end. Susan's Sister raced forwardly and closed gamely. Leah Jane had no mishap. Jaboulay was hard hustled throughout. Willing lost much graund. Bougainville was outrun and quit badly near end.

$2 mutuels paid: Paquette, win, $19.86; place, $8; show, $5.52. Bernice Van, place, $4.88; show, $3.66. Susan's Sister, show, $10.24.

THIRD RACE—$1300, claiming, 4-year-olds and up, mile and one-eighth: Start good; won easily; place driving. Went to post 3.24 p. m.; at post 1 minute. Winner By Tangiers-Iaurinn by Persimmon. Trainer, G. W. Ogle. Time, :24, :47 3-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:39 4-5, 1:52 1-5. Value to winners, $1000, $200, $100.

Beaumont	110	2	2	1^{3}	$1^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	2^{1}	6^{h}	8	F. Halbert	5.67

Morocco, going in his best form and well up under restraint the first six furlongs, responded well when called upon and, passing Beaumont, the leader, opened a good advantage and won in hand. Cuddle, pinched back repeatdly, lost ground on stretch turn and closed fast. Czarist moved up after a half mile, then held on evenly. Cotlogomor saved ground while closing some in stretch. Know Me Gnome dropped far back, but closed well. Congo II and Bill Seth quit. Beaumont had speed to stretch.

Two-dollar mutuels paid: Morocco, win $20.42, place $9.28, show $4.66; Cuddle, place $5.40, show $3.42; Czarist, show $3.40.

FOURTH RACE—$1400, the Jackson Park, 3-year-olds and up, six furlongs—Start bad, won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:53; at post 1 minute. Winner, br. f., 3, by Chicle—Ruddy Light. Trainer, R F Carman Jr. Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1.12 1-5. Value to winners, $1100, $200, $100.

Chicleight	104	4	2	1½	1^{3}	1^{2}	1^{1}	R. Morrison	1.06
Donnay	107	5	5	5½	7^{h}	5^{1}	2½	E. Shropshire	7.77
Chip	105	6	6	8^{4}	6½	4½	3^{2}	F. Halbert	69.88
T. S. Jordan	110	1	7	3½	3^{2}	3½	4½	C. Meyer	5.03
The Okah	103	2	1	$2^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	2^{1}	$2^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	5^{2}	V. Smith	14.20
Typhoon	110	9	8	7^{h}	5^{h}	7^{4}	6^{1}	M. Knight	10.33

Stitches	108	8	3	6½	8^{6}	9	9	L. Jones	35.18

Chicleight, lucky at the start and taken into the lead, opened up a big advantage on the turn and, continuing resolutely under an energetic ride, outstayed Donnay. Latter worked way up fast, and after reaching final five-sixteenth, and outstayed Chip. Latter lost much ground, rapidly improving his position in stretch, and closed fast. T. S. Jordan, away poorly, had speed, and saved ground, but weakened in stretch. The Okah began tiring after showing speed to final three-sixteenths. Typhoon lost much ground. Crofton quit.

$2 mutuels paid: Chicleight, win $4.12, place $3, show $2.64; Donnay, place $5.58, show $4.12; Chip, show $9.24.

FIFTH RACE—$2000, the Wendemere East Hotel, 3-year-olds, one mile—Start good, won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:24; at post 1 minute. Winner, ch. c., 3, by Polymelian—Pinkie. Trainer, R. E. Hefferman. Time, :23 1-5, :46 3-5, 1:11 3-5, 1:37 3-5. Value to winners, $1500, $325, $175.

Karl Eitel	118	1	5	$1^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	1^{2}	1^{3}	1^{3}	$1^{2\frac{1}{2}}$	R. Jones	.91
Uluniu	108	2	3	2½	2^{2}	2^{4}	2^{2}	2^{8}	J. Parmelee	2.06
Graydale	105	4	4	4^{nk}	$3^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	$3^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	3^{2}	3^{1}	J. Comingmore	86.68

Symphorosa	103	5	2	6	6	5^{nk}	5^{1}	$5^{1\frac{1}{2}}$	R. Heigle	14.68
Paul Bunyan	106	6	1	3^{2}	5^{1}	6	6	6	D. Bryant	41.26

Karl Eitel easily best and going in his best form, raced into the lead with a big saving of ground, made the pace under good rating and won with much in reserve. Uluniu, always in nearest pursuit, raced gamely, but could not threaten the winner. Graydale raced a trifle wide and held on resolutely to outstay Minotaur. Latter broke sluggishly and could not gain a contending position. Symphorosa was outrun. Paul Bunyan was always outrun.

$2 mutuels paid: Karl Eitel, win $3.82, place $2.86, show $2.70; Uluniu, place $2.40, show $2.58; Graydale, show $7.10.

EX-MAROON STARS TO OPPOSE ALMA MATER AS FOOTBALL COACHES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Three former University of Chicago football stars will oppise their alma mater as coaches this season.

Harlan Orville Page, better known as Pat, is coach of the Indiana team that meets Chicago on the Midway Oct. 12. Page was one of the greatest all around athletes in Chicago history, playing baseball, basketball and football in the years 1907-9. He was captain of the 1909 eleven.

Wally Marks, captain of the 1926 footbal team and a letter man in baseball and basketball, is coach of the Indiana State Normal team which plays in the double header scheduled for Oct. 19. Campbell Dickson, who starred in football, track and basketball, is one of the assistant coaches at Wisconsin this year.

Palm Coaches Georgetown.

Mike Palm, Penn State star, is again coaching at Georgetown.

H. P. WHITNEY SHOWS RENEWED TURF INTEREST

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—From generation unto generation the sportsmanship of the Whitney family has been traditional. But never more forcefully has this truth been brought home than since the death of Trainer James E. Rowe early in the Saratoga meeting.

For many years Rowe had served faithfully and well as head trainer for Harry Payne Whitney and his father, William C. Whitney, before him. The running turf has produced no finer character or greater horseman than the late Jimmy Rowe. He developed and trained more great horses, or super horses, than perhaps any other half dozen combined, not only in this country but abroad wherever thoroughbreds run. Until the death of Payne Whitney Rowe also superintended the training activities of the great and popular Greentree Stable establishment.

Resumes Turf Interest.

Of late years Harry Payne Whitney had not been in as close touch with the turf as formerly. He was a regular visitor at Saratoga, of course. The Metropolitan tracks saw him seldom but on the big days like the Futurity and seldom anywhere but at Belmont Park. The sportsman, who in his prime had been one of the greatest polo players America has known and who after his usefulness as a member of "The Big Four" for many years carried the financial burdens of keeping aflame the spark of international rivalry until polo had caught on to an unquenchable fire, in his later years had turned to more leisurely pursuits. He kept close to the pulse of polo and the thoroughbred turf, of course, but he was a devotee of yachting and a sponsor of rowing.

Many thought after the death of Jimmy Rowe that Harry Payne Whitney might lose interest in the running turf altogether, which indeed would have been an incalculable calamity. The bond between him and the great trainer had been sufficient for Jimmy Rowe to carry on unmolested one of the greatest breeding and racing establishment in this or any other country. But the regrettable passing of the great Jimmy Rowe seems to have had just the opposite, happy effect.

Not in 20 years has Whitney taken so much interest in his thoroughbred establishment as he is manifesting since the mantle of the master trainer fell upon younger but well prepared shoulders. And in that he did not deny to youth its golden opportunity but further served to prove the highest standard of sportmanship as typified in Harry Payne Whitney.

James Rowe Jr., and Freddie Hopkins long and faithfully had served their apprenticeships under Jimmy Rowe until they had mastered his every wizardry of the art of conditioning thoroughbreds. To these young men was left the work of carrying on the policies of the master mind and they are daily proving Whitney's trust has not been misplaced. The sporting world stood in amazement when the mighty Boojum and the gallant Whichone raced to a world record in the last Hopeful. Fitting two colts to such superior form for the same race is the stamp of genuine ability.

Has Two Great Colts.

With two such capable trainers as young Jimmy Rowe and Freddie Hopkins, Whitney has reason to view the future of his racing establishment with grand complacency. His two great colts are both eligible for the Futurity and the Pimlico Futurity, as well as for the rich fall classics of Kentucky. Furthermore, the Matron of last week, though several of the most prominent juvenile fillies were missing, indicates he may have also the best two year-old fillies of the year in Dustemall and Murky Cloudy. In both sexes of the two-year-old division he is particularly well fortified, at least, and with assurance may look forward to his most successful year. And what of 1930 and the rich three-year-old classics for both sexes?

The sportsmanship of Whitney too often has been put to the proof to leave room for the slightest doubt. He has always given the public a run for its money. That is why the Whitney blue and brown is as popular with racegoers of Maryland, Kentucky, Illinois and Canada as right here in little old New York. When his thoroughbreds run they run to win. There is no qualifying with this stable. And none begrudge the success his sportsmanship so richly deserves.

Takes Father's Place.

What has been said of Harry Payne Whitney stands equally true for that young scion of the other branch of the family—John Hay (Jock) Whitney, son of the late Payne Whitney. Though one of the greatest financiers this great country ever has known Payne Whitney did more for the American turf than perhaps any other individual. He found time from his business cares to throw the might of his genius behind the racing game when it was toppling on the brink of disaster. But he was of a retiring disposition that sought no limelight, so that none but those most closely associated with the government of the turf ever can know how great a bulwark of the sport he was.

Gus Wilson Manages Huat.

Gene Huat, French flyweight, is under the management of Gus Wilson, with whom he first came to America as Carpentier's trainer.

Rocky Ford CIGAR 5 cents

©P. LORILLARD CO., EST. 1760

...when a nickel's enough for the Saturday Evening Post ...it's enough for a good cigar

"Post" readers say a nickel's enough for a week's fine reading. They couldn't buy better at any price. So ROCKY FORD smokers say a nickel's enough for a good cigar! Imported Sumatra wrapper ... domestic long filler. If you doubt that the lowly nickel will buy that quality today ... try a ROCKY FORD. Match it up with any ten cent cigar you know. It's dollars to doughnuts you'll agree with ROCKY FORD fans ... "when it's got the stuff—a nickel's enough."

LEADING FACTORS IN QUINCY FLAG VICTORY

St. Louis Boy Made Good His First Year as Manager, While Former Brownie Starred in Outfield.

Two athletes, well known to St. Louis baseball followers, played an important part in giving Quincy its first Three Eye League pennant in 16 years. Walter Holke, St. Louisan, served as manager, and "Baby Doll" Bill Jacobson, former Brownie, joined the team late in the campaign, to strengthen the outfield.

Holke's club won out in a drive in one of the hottest finishes in Three Eye history. When the final round of battles started Sunday, Evansville was leading Quincy by .002. Holke's men won a double-header from Springfield, while Evansville dropped two to Terre Haute. As a result, Evansville not only lost the flag, but fell to third place.

Another former major leaguer who aided Holke was "Reb" Russell, one time a pitcher with the White Sox, who hit .340. Then Koenecke, a second sacker from Indianapolis, which controls Quincy, swatted 312 and played a bang-up game in the field.

First Chance as Manager.

The experience with Quincy marked Holke's first venture into the managerial field and baseball men in the Three Eye assert that he is due to graduate to a higher circuit. Holke's entire career has been marked with success. As a member of the Giants he played first base in two world series. Later he played with Boston and Cincinnati and then went to Indianapolis. He helped the Hoosiers to the 1928 American Association pennant and victory over Rochester in the "Little World Series." And then he went to Quincy.

One of Holke's most successful pitchers was Walter Wolf, a St. Louis lefthander, who won 14 contests and lost nine.

Holke will now prepare his aggregation for a post-season series with Canton, pennant winner in the Three Eye circuit.

In addition to Holke, three other St. Louisans managed clubs in the circuit. Bob Coleman was president-manager of Evansville; Cliff Brady brought Peoria home sixth, while Joe Schultz managed Danville, the Cardinal's farm, which finished last.

Frank Keck, Kirkwood right hander, won eight and lost 10 contests with Evansville, while Sid Hensick, another St. Louis boy, won 14 and dropped seven with the second place Decatur club.

MINNESOTA DOG WINS IN FIELD TRIAL EVENT

GAINSBORO, N. C., Sept. 10.—Mack Pritchette, white and liver colored pointer owned by C. F. Aldrich of St. Paul, Minn., won the amateur prairie chicken championship of the all-America bird dog trials which was decided here yesterday.

He was handled by Mrs. Campbell, wife of Trainer John Campbell of Fitzpatrick, Ala. The well known pointer, by winning this stake, now has three prairie chicken championships to his credit. A close second to him was the pointer Vernon's Prince, owned by Atilla Cox of Louisville, Ky., handled by H. J. Gates, also of Louisville.

Wray's COLUMN

You Never Can Tell

PRESIDENT JOHN HEYDLER, a visitor in St. Louis yesterday, told the Post-Dispatch that he saw nothing to be disturbed about in the baseball situation. He says there is, on the other hand, reason to congratulate the old game on its fine season.

"I am at a loss to understand the pessimism I find here," Mr. Heydler said. "At this time, while I have not the official figures, I am reasonably certain the season shows an attendance increase over last year throughout the circuit. However, with the race settled and a month to go, there may be some loss, before the end of the campaign.

"Where New York and St. Louis have fallen off, to some extent, there have been tremendous gains in Chicago, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, and even Boston is expected to declare a dividend this year. The awakened interest in these four cities more than offsets the losses in others, where clubs fell out of pennant contention.

"This gain was achieved despite the fact that, for some time, the race has been practically settled, where as for several years previously three and even four teams fought throughout the year and the pennant races were not decided until the final game or two of the season.

"Naturally those cities which have had flag contenders and lost them, suffered a loss of patronage. But it is natural because no city can hold a monopoly of success or patronage. I think the game is in no danger and in no need of sympathy."

* * *

Circuit Changes

"DO you think changes of the major league circuit would help the baseball situation?" Mr. Heydler was asked.

"That I would not attempt to guess. It is true there are certain population inequalities, but that is not the point. These franchises are the property of individuals and their rights are established. They can not be voted away or taken away without the consent of the owners. I am free to say that no one in major league baseball officialdom has ever broached the subject of changing the circuits to me, and I think it will be a long time before that is brought up. History of the game indicates that all cities, regardless of population, sooner or later get to the top. In the National League every club has held the title, and in the American League the St. Louis club is the only organization that has failed to make good. Even the Browns came within one game of beating the Yankees in 1922.

"If its team is winning, any city, whether it is New York or Cincinnati, will draw. Cincinnati, going no place, turned out 36,000 for a double-header with the Cubs. Think that over. It isn't the population of a city that makes a successful season. It is the success of the team, first, and the area from which fans are drawn, next.

"For example, when St. Louis was winning its pennants, the crowds came from Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, Illinois and Kentucky. Traveling men made this city their week-end stopping point, in order to see the games. Railroads ran special trains on week-ends and holidays so that the park was thronged throughout the season.

"So when circuit changes are brought up something besides the mere population must enter into the consideration."

About Broadcasting

"IS there any likelihood that the National League will take up the matter of radio broadcasting of games?"

"No," replied Heydler. "We have talked over the abuse of the baseball broadcast as a vehicle for advertising commodities, but it is entirely probable that this phase will be left to individual club owners. The broadcasting of world series games will, of course, continue as usual."

WHAT ST. LOUIS BOYS ARE DOING IN THE MINORS

Harold Grant, who has been playing first base for Scottdale in the Mid-Atlantic League, has been sold to Fort Wayne of the Central League, but will not report until next spring. Both clubs are Cardinal farms.

Sid Hensick, pitching for Decatur, in the Three-I League, worked in two games. The league-leading Evansville club beat him 3 to 2, but in his second start he defeated Terre Haute, 4 to 1. Hensick has won 14 games while losing seven.

Wolf Wins Two Games.

Walter Wolf, who helped pitch Walter Holke's Quincy club of the Three-I League to a pennant, pitched two games and won both. In a seven inning game he let Bloomington down with two hits to win, 1 to 0, and then came back and defeated Peoria, 7 to 6. Wolf has won 14 and lost nine games.

Oscar "Lefty" Fuhr, pitching for New Orleans of the Southern Association, was batted from the box by Nashville and was charged with a 11 to 3 defeat. Fuhr, working in 37 games this season, has won 18 and lost 11.

Ernie Koob, on the hill for Mobile of the Southern Association, pitched two games for his club and lost both of them. Chattanooga beat him 12 to 10, and Nashville routed him 10 to 5. Koob has won seven games while losing 12.

Johnny Tobin, veteran major league outfielder, who played with the Browns, and who finished his major league career with the Boston Red Sox after a brief period with Washington, has signed with Wichita Falls of the Texas League. Johnny will play the outfield in the pinch and serve as a coach. The former Brownie has been out of the game since his release early in the year by Columbus of the American Association.

Art Weis, playing the outfield for Birmingham of the Southern Association, who fell into a batting slump, has regained his batting eye and is back in second place with an average of .342.

Cullop Gets Three Homers.

In a game against Little Rock, Nick Cullop, playing the outfield for Atlanta of the Southern Association, got three hits, all home runs, and Atlanta won, 11 to 1. The home run record of the Southern Association, set by Cullop in 1925, has been broken by Jim Poole, playing first base for Nashville. Poole has 31 circuit drives. The record was 30.

Leo Dickerman, the much-traveled pitcher, who has been with Waco of the Texas League, has been released again. He was released a short time ago from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Mike Donahue, the North St. Louis lad who has made a good impression as an umpire in the Texas League this season, had an unusual experience recently. In a game at Shreveport, Mike, working behind the plate, saw smoke coming out of the top of the Shreveport dugout. Stopping the game to investigate, he discovered Manager Art Phelan puffing a cigarette. Mike banished Phelan from the field for smoking on the field and the manager immediately filed a protest on the loss of the game.

Big Leaguers After Sprinz.

Joe Sprinz, behind the bat for Indianapolis of the American Association, is hitting .318. Several major clubs are in the field for Sprinz.

Oscar Siemer, a catcher, who was going good with Des Moines of the Western League until injured, is still out of the game.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 10.—Benton can only be tied for the final Hard Roads League pennant by losing its one remaining contest while either Paducah or Rosiclare plays and wins three games. Three games are billed for Thursday, West Frankfort at Anna; Carbondale at Rosiclare, and Cape Girardeau at Paducah, with the season ending on Sunday with Anna at Benton, West Frankfort at Marion, Rosiclare at Cape Girardeau, and Carbondale at Paducah.

PIRATES' OWNER LIKELY TO KEEP ENS AS PILOT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 10.—Jewel Ens is the name of the latest man to take over the management of the Pittsburg Pirates.

Yet, somehow, it is not a name to conjure with when recounting heroic deeds and figures of the baseball diamond; nor is baseball even taking it seriously, now that Barney Dreyfuss made him chief for a day—or so—of the runner-up ball team of the National League pennant race before the race was decided.

But the day may come when Ens, who also refuses to be taken seriously himself, will be known and be accepted seriously as a highly successful big league manager. You have to be to stick with Barney Dreyfuss. And so far Ens has been a decided success since taking over the management from Donie Bush some two weeks ago.

Ens Getting Results.

He has now led the club through 11 games. In so doing he has beaten the league leading Cubs four times out of five, the Reds three out of five and broken even in one double-header with the Robins. That is a championship pace such as Barney Dreyfuss is so desirous of always maintaining. Under Ens' leadership the team has picked up a lot of speed on the field and momentum in what remains of the race. There is a vast deal more spirit and fight to the team in this series, with the Robins here, than back in Flatbush less than three weeks ago.

Perhaps it is only the shake-up or perhaps it is the leadership of Ens.

At any rate he is making quite a hit with fans and followers of the Pirates here.

At least a dozen names are passing the rounds for prospective successors to the helm of the Pirate ship, among them Max Carey and Pancho Snyder, manager of the Fort Worth Club of the Texas League. The season has just closed for Snyder's club and he dropped in town today to "loaf around and see a few big league games." Of course the word went around immediately that he was negotiating with Dreyfuss relating to managing the Pirates. But this was denied all around.

Ens Former St. Louisan.

Ens is producing results and that is what counts with Dreyfuss. If he "clicks" with the team and fans for the rest of the season, as he has so far, the feeling is that he will get a contract for next season. The personal opinion of those who are close to the affairs of the club is that he will lead the Pirates next year, regardless of Dreyfuss' reported dickering with more famous baseball figures for the job.

The average fan knows little of Ens and there is really little to know about him in a baseball way. He is a former St. Louisan. He just fell into the job as did Lena Blackburne with the White Sox.

He is in his early forties now and has been batting around in the minors and majors, always in a small way, for some 20 years. He's never undertaken to manage a club before and never played much big league ball. Among ball players he has always been known as a fellow who could "clock" the ball against all kinds of pitching, not much of a fielder, a keen baseball student, a rattling good coach and the possessor of a great sense of humor. He came up with Pittsburg eight years ago as an infielder but couldn't get very far on account of his fielding.

But he had "a way with him" on the coaching lines and was a mightly poplar character, so he just naturally fell into a coaching job, which he has held since 1923. He isn't reforming the ball team, nor its tactics. His sense of humor won't let him take his new job and its responsibilities too seriously. He's just taking the job as a matter of course and "making the most of it," as he says.

"Kid" Williams' License Revoked By Maryland Body

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10.

THE Maryland State Athletic Commission yesterday decided to revoke the license of Kid Williams because it feels the veteran fighter has reached the end of the fight trail in Maryland and there is danger of his suffering serious injury if allowed to continue.

Williams was bantamweight champion of the world in 1914-15. He is about 40.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE TO SEND MANY STARS TO MAJORS THIS YEAR

GOMEZ, SNARED BY YANKS, SAID TO BE BEST OF HURLING TALENT

By Davis J. Walsh

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10. The Coast League grab bag, which has given Chase, the Meusels, the Waners, Heilmann, O'Doul and countless others to posterity and its Jimmy O'Connells and Paul Strands to the street cleaner, is ready today with its annual shipment of ivory to the major leagues.

At least, they say it is ivory, but it may turn out to be celluloid, the difference being that nothing effects ivory, except loss of sleep on the base paths, whereas celluloid will curl up when subjected to the heat of competition.

Chattels listed on the coast's 1929 bill of lading include the following: "Lefty" Gomez, pitcher of San Francisco Seals, and Lou McEvey, Oakland right-hander, already purchased by the Yankees; Finn and Slade, infielders of the San Francisco Missions, who are scheduled to go to Pittsburg; Smead Jolley, outfielder of the Seals, and Gus Suhr, first baseman of the same outfit, who are believed to be headed toward the Philadelphia Athletics and Jimmy Reese, Oakland, upon whom the Yankees must take delivery this year.

This means that the scouts have been sneering down the nostril at the Coast League averages, for Jolley is the only hitting leader who has gotten a rise out of anybody and even he is still waiting for the Athletics to bid or draw down their ante. This gentleman had to lead the league in 1927 and 1928 and hit away up there this year before they would believe a single word of it. He is supposed to be slower than a promissory note and the Giants, after becoming interested in his all-time record of .404 last year, finally would have none of him.

Gomez Is Real Prize.

At that, he is getting a break on Vergez, Hufft, Arlett and Boone, all of whom can hit and run all day. In fact, they guarantee that it will take them at least that long to run around the bases.

Gomez, one year in the league and only 19, is supposed to be the prize of the year out here. Yet they feel that he still is a year "away," which may or not be the tip-off on Coast League ball players in 1929. He is a combination of Portuguese and Irish, pitches with the loose delivery of Dutch Ruether and is said to be the fastest left-hander of the year. He had won 11 straight when the Yankees got all excited about him, then he blew on the recent northern trip but recently pitched a four-hit game. They understand out here that Gomez is to go up next spring, although the Yanks announced that they were not taking him until 1931. This won't be too late, according to those who hear all, see all and know nothing.

McEvoy went to Oakland in the Lary-Reese deal and now is being repurchased, which may mean something, since the Yanks were not greatly enamored of the original deal and felt that they had had the Bowser placed upon somewhere. Now they are coming back for more, so McEvoy must have something besides an implicit confidence in his ability to find the ball park every afternoon some time before the game starts.

Form Fine Combination.

Finn and Slade are the best combination at second base that California has known since the activities of Lary and Reese. The latter, by the way, is having a big year but Finn is outhitting him by something like .340. Slade is hitting .280, which makes him all to the falsetto out in this land where pitchers are a penny a pound.

Cleo Carlyle, Hollywood; Elias Funk, Los Angeles; Roy Mehaffey, Portland, and Walter Berger, outfielder, may go up, too. The first three have been up before, which may or may not have been too often. Funk was a good ball player with the Yanks but I think their option has expired. The Cubs may not want Berger as he is a right-hand hitter and they don't need that kind. Mehaffey may go to the Athletics and the word is that Hollis Thurston is to be drafted by the White Sox.

Ivory or celluloid? There is no known test of ivory. It either is or isn't and nobody knows why, but if it washes up nicely at the first attempt, it isn't ivory at all. It's celluloid.

HORTON SMITH PLANS TO PARTICIPATE IN ALL WINTER TOURNEYS

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 10.—Horton Smith, young Springfield (Mo.) golf star, plans to participate in all the winter tournaments again this season, he announced here today.

Smith, who is here to compete in the sectional qualifying rounds of the National Professional Golfers' Association, will leave Sept. 17 for Youngstown, O., where he will team with Walter Hagen in an exhibition match. His next tournament will be the Oregon open, at Portland late in October.

He plans to sail Nov. 6 for Honolulu, where he will take part in a series of winter events.

NOTRE DAME TO PLAY DRAKE IN AFTERNOON INSTEAD OF AT NIGHT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The Notre Dame-Drake football game will be played at Soldier Field in the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 9, instead of at night. This was agreed upon yesterday by Coach Rockne of the Ramblers, and E. C. Lytton of Drake, when the game was arranged last fall, it was decided to experiment with a game played under flood lights. However, they agreed the date was too late in the season for a night contest on Chicago's lake front.

CENTRAL HIGH ELEVEN PREPARING FOR SEASON

The first call for football at Central High School last week brought out 60 aspirants to the 11 which will represent the Mid-Cityans in the race this season. Coach Paul Conant, who was brought here from Grinnell, Ia., last fall, will be in charge of the team.

Conant has had some difficulty in filling his practice schedule and announced yesterday that he wishes games on the week-ends of Oct. 12 and 19.

Studying Slow Movies Apt to Make Golfer Forget Important Points, Horton Smith Writes

By Horton Smith

(U. S. North and South, and French Professional Golf Champion.)

While discussing golf with Walter Hagen, recently, he put forward the assertion that a large number of golfers are in danger of becoming obsessed by new-fangled theories as to the mechanics of the golf swing I am very much inclined to agree with this opinion.

H. SMITH.

A great many of these theories are due to the slow-motion camera, which has certainly given us an entirely new conception of what takes place during the stroke. Now I am very far from decrying this new source of knowledge. I believe that slow-motion pictures well repay careful study. They bring to light movements the existence of which we were hitherto en-

But the student should go warily in his investigations, and not be carried away by everything the camera reveals.

The chief "snag" in the study of slow-motion photography is that we are apt to fix on one particular picture and tear it, so to speak, from its context, forgetting that the position shown in this picture is vitally connected with preceding and succeeding positions.

"Look at So-and-So's left arm, or right foot. The positions seem to be queer, but they must be right because So-and-So is a first-class player. I'll try to imitate him."

Forget Important Points.

This is just where the danger arises. We begin to over-emphasize some particular position which we see depicted in the photograph, and forget the preceding and succeeding positions. Out we go on to the course, determined to imitate, at all costs, the great golfer. Then comes failure and the birth of some new theory, which in its turn, fails to help us.

The same danger arises with us who instruct. We acquire a tendency to stress certain points in the swing just because they stand out so clearly in the slow-motion photographs. Now, this is not always a sound policy, particularly with pupils who have a "weakness" for over-theorizing.

For example, one has only to mention the straight left arm to some beginners to find them taking that arm back as if it were a poker, and bringing it down with precisely the same degree of rigidity. This is a case of overdoing a virtue until it becomes a very bad fault.

Slow-motion photographs reveal the fact that the club at the very commencement of the swing is started back by a pushing movement of the left arm, rather than by an immediate turn of the wrists. This, of course, is really the overcoming of the inertia of the club-head. I am the last to suggest that this movement is not good, but there are some beginners who overdo it, to the detriment of the rest of the swing.

True of Body Movement.

The same thing is true of the body movement. Slow-motion pictures, almost without exception, show that the weight of the body is very much more on the left foot than was thought to be the case in the days of posed photographs. When the downward swing commences, the left heel returns to the ground very quickly, and a definite transfer of the weight follows, together with a rapid pivoting of the body from the hips and a bracing of the left side.

Now, an instructor may observe these movements as a result of studying slow-motion photographs, and very legitimately may be tempted to emphasize them when teaching. But is he wise to do so? Personally I doubt it—at least in most instances.

Some beginners have only to be told to get the left heel down quickly and the weight across to the left leg, and they will immediately hurl the body forward toward the hole in such a way that the hands and club-head are never given a chance to come into the shot at the proper moment.

The truth of the matter is that there are some things in the golf swing which are perfectly correct in themselves but which an instructor dare not mention to his pupil because he will immediately proceed to exaggerate them and convert them into serious faults. The only way to put such a pupil on the right road is to try to get him to cultivate the correct movements without emphasizing one particular point above another.

Must Avoid New Ideas.

We have to get back to simplicity, and avoid most new-fangled ideas—theories which are probably quite correct in themselves, but which lend themselves so fatally easy to exaggeration.

Golfers who learned the game away back in the old days did not worry about the theories which perplex us in these present days, but they nevertheless learned to play the game well, and developed styles which few of us can emulate today. They had to be content with a few simple and quite unelaborate principles.

How different it is in these days of the slow-motion camera! Now we hear on all hands of the most complex theories which are flung about in such a bewildering manner that the poor novice is apt to become hopelessly confused as to what he ought, or ought not, to do.

Without for one moment decrying anything that modern science can teach us about the golf swing, I think that many golfers who have lost their way in a maze of theory would do far better if they concentrated a bit more on some of the simple principles round which golfers of the old days built their game.

TWO YOUTHS TO SEEK BOATING CHAMPIONSHIP

By the Associated Press.

NEWPRT HARBOR, Cal., Sept. 10.—When the International Star Boat Championship races are sailed at New rleans in October, this section will be represented by two boy skippers, Preston and Ed Plumb, brothers, still in their early 'teens.

They won the right to represent the Southland by capuring the final sectional elimination series. Hardly out of the short-pants stage, the two nevertheless, displayed a class of sailing ability comparable with the best, skillfully maneuvering their trim little star, the Westwind, to victory in a five-race series over a field of far more experienced skippers.

Despite the extreme youthfulness of the Plumb boys—Preston is 16 and Ed 15—Newport Harbor Yacht Club members optimistically are looking for another international championship. The club was possessor of the international trophy last year. It was won by the Gold Star Temple III, owned by Waldon Hubbard Jr., a member.

SPRINT ACES TO RUN IN FEATURE MADISON RACE

Ares and Solace, a pair of swift and clever sprinters that finished in the order mentioned at the heels of Decision, when the Fiedler Kennels' juvenile speed marvel captured a fast futurity race last Saturday night, renew their debate for furuity laurels in the tenth and final event of tonight's greyhound racing card at the Madison course.

They will be pitted against Hargento, the fastest breaker competing at the East Side track, and Dry Land, a brother of Dry Creek, winner of the Spring Derby, with Real Mischief, Poleen, Concession and Louis Meadows rounding out a select field. Real Mischief won his last start by 10 lengths, outdistancing all rivals in a five-sixteenths mile race.

Mission Belle, winner over Some Play in a spirited stretch duel last Tuesday night, will vie with such distance scrimmagers as Jimmie Jamestown, Hilcourt's Wonder, Head Scissors, Black Baby and Empty Bucket in the fifth event, to be contested over the trying five-sixteenths mile route. In her last start, Mission Belle lost to Do Your Best by a head. She is a daughter of Mission Boy, an old time favorite of greyhound fans, and runs under the colors of the Mack Kennels.

Another five-sixteenths mile event on tonight's program brings Judann, a promising juvenile brindle of the Gosson Kennels, against Scarlet Seal, Charming Billy, Bondage and Knapsack in the ninth race. Harry Jfeiffer, once a popular favorite at the distance, will make his first start of the fall meeting in this number.

The seventh race, a quarter-mile sprint, will find By No Means, the De Geer Kennels' red-fawn veteran, bidding for his third successive victory. The speedy 6-year-old defeated such swift canines as Rush Forth, Feinian's Rifle, Shackleton and Rocket Hawke to win at the futurity distance twice last week, leading practically all the way in both engagements. He will encounter a group of sterling quarter-milers in Irish Side, Burghley, Kash Karess and Orpiment.

The Villain and Grey Buck, a pair of Derby stars, were handed a surprise beating last night when Nantenan sprinted into the lead on the stretch to capture the tenth race, a futurity event, beating The Villain by a head and finishing a length in front of Grey Buck. The victor refunded $32.80. It was his second straight triumph.

never before has there been a blade like PROBAK

For Double Edge Razors

Probak is absolutely new in every respect—not an imitation—not a substitute—the finest double-edge razor blade ever built! The straight-edge principle is brought to the double-edge razor for the first time. Butterfly channeling in secret-processed, duo-tempered steel produces a blade that flexes without cracking or distorting and lays two perfectly rigid, super-keen edges snugly along the guard. You whisk through the toughest beard like magic.

GUARANTEE!

Buy a package of Probak blades on an absolutely money-back guarantee of satisfaction. Use two. If they are not the finest you have ever tried return the package and get your money.

SMOKE TALKS by the DUTCH MASTERS

Good cigars have a very definite place in the list of social amenities. For example. How may one gentleman more gracefully express to another his appreciation for a favor done or a courtesy extended, than by the gift of a box of good cigars?

Mildness alone could never have made Dutch Masters one of America's most popular cigars. But it is mildness, which enables you to enjoy to the full, the richness and fragrance which are responsible for Dutch Masters' immense popularity.

SS GATE GUARDIAN SWAMPED WITH CALLS FOR SERIES TICKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The "fan " of Al Campion, veteran rdian of the pass gate at Wrigley Field, threatens to surpass that of the most popular movie stars.

His nation-wide propularity was born recently when a humorous radio announcer told the whole country that Campion had a big supply of world series passes. Immediately telephone calls, wires and letters from fans begging for the precious ducats began to arrive. One optimistic but uninformed individual offered to take a dozen passes off Campion's hands.

All this despite the fact that plans for the series have not yet been made.

ARMY WILL HAVE VETERAN BACKS FOR 1929 TEAM

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Eleven football teams, distributed from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the East and Middle West, will do well to provide themselves with the proper serum to ward off jaundice or yellow fever, or both. The Army football team is busily engaged in concocting a yellow peril to sweep down upon its unsuspecting opponents.

Clad in vidid jerseys almost too golden to be true, the Cadets are preparing for a season that will send their shock troops against Boston University, Gettysburg, Davidson, Harvard, Yale, South Dakota, Illinois, Dickinson, Ohio Wesleyan, Notre Dame and Stanford in order.

The Army has discarded the somber black jerseys, with a band of gold and gray, in favor of the most conspicuous garb an Army eleven ever has worn, bright gold shirts with a band of black and gray.

To fill these impressive garments, Head Coach Biff Jones and his brother officers are rapidly putting togethe a machine-like team. There will be some newcomers in the center of the line, at the snapper-back and guard positions, but experienced men will form a great foundation on which to build.

The familiar faces include the crafty Keener Cagle, a back who has few equals in contemporary football at either passing or running. Dick O'Keefe, Hertz Murrell and Herbert Gibner, looming as the probable starting backfield, and other good prospects from last season.

Ed Messinger and Carl Carlmark are certain to play the ends, and George Perry, Charlite Humber, Bill Parnham and Winston Maxwell will be available for the line. Among the linemen who have their spurs to win are Paul Miller, Ed Saurez, Dan Spengler, Coughlin, Gordon and others.

Murrell, who had a great kicking year in 1927, but lost his booting touch last season, is going through a lot of practice trying to regain the misplaced art. Murrell is such a versatile performer that there is no fear at the Point that he will fail. He is a qualified machine gunner, pistol sharpshooter, rifle marksman, sings in the church choir, teaches a Sunday school class and leads a troop of Boy Scouts.

"We like 'em tough," is the Army answer to hints that the 1929 schedule is formidable. The current lineup seems to fit the bill right down to the mascot mule, an animal devoting his weekdays to pulling a post garbage wagon with nothing to do on Saturdays but attend a football game.

Marine Team Is Winner in Shoot

By the Associated Press.

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 10.—The United States Marine Corps pistol team yesterday retained the gold cup emblamatic of the National Pistol Team championship in the national rifle matches here. In winning the cup and individual gold medals for the third consecutive year the Marines shot a score of 1286 out of a possible 1500 to easily defeat 33 other competing teams.

The U. S. Infantry team was second with 1273. The U. S. Navy was third with 1262, the U. S. Cavalry was fourth with 1249 and the Missouri National Guard team was fifth with 1213.

The match was fired over three stages—50 yards slow first; 25 yards timed fire, and 25 yards rapid fire. Each member of the five-man teams fired 10 shots for record at each stage.

Individual scores of the Marine team were: Lieut. Raymond T. Presnell, 263; Lieut. William J. Whaling, 265; Lieut. Lewis A. Hohn 248; Sergt. Henry M. Bailey, 251, and Sergt. Melvin T. Huff, 259.

Lloyd E. Wilson, Cashmere, Wash., civilian, won the naval individual pistol match by a margin of one point when he fired a score of 270 out of a possible 300. He is the fourth civilian to win this match since it was placed on the program in 1904 and will receive the Custer trophy and a gold medal.

The U. S. Marine Corps added the united service match to its list of trophies at the rifle matches with a score of 2843. The winner of the match is determined by aggregate scores of the 20 high competitors of each branch of the service entered in the President's match.

The Army was second with 2833; National Guard third with 2832; Navy fourth with 2813; Civilians fifth with 2797, and the Coast Guard sixth with 2710.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Five hundred million dollars is lent annually in small amounts to householders by licensed money lenders in the 25 states that have adopted the uniform small loan law or laws similar to it, according to figures given out today by William Young of Philadelphia, former president of the American Industrial Lenders' Association, which holds its fifteenth annual convention in this city Sept. 18, 19 and 20. Of this amount the 1000 members of the association loan $350,000,000 annually to householders in amounts not exceeding $300.

The licensed operators in these states employ a total capital of $150,000,000 and all but $50,000,000 of this amount is invested by members of the association, the non-members supplying the remainder. The assocation members, Young says, accommodate a total of 8,000,000 persons each year with small loans.

The view is taken in some quarters, according to Young, that soon an additional $150,000,000 will be necessary to finance operations in this particular financial field in the 25 states alone, so rapidly is the business growing.

The small loan business throughout the United States reaches the almost unbelievable sum of $1,000,000,000 annually, but this figure includes the 23 states that do not protect the borrowers by regulatory legislation. In those states where this protection is not given the borrowing public is at the mercy of the so-called "loan sharks" and "salary buyers," which the association, in conjunction with the Russell Sage Foundation of New York, has been fighting for years.

Figures collected by Young indicate that 85 per cent of the borrowing public patronizes the small loan concerns, while the other 15 per cent is accommodated by the banks.

A total of 3341 licensed lenders operate in the 25 states, with Pennsylvania leading with 513 licenses. Other states having regulatory laws and the number of licensees follows: Arizona, 16; Colorado, 4; Connecticut, 161; Florida, 23; Georgia, 51; Illinois, 307; Indiana, 319; Iowa, 126; Louisiana, 83; Maine, 37; Maryland, 77; Massachusetts, 157; Michigan, 183; Missouri, 160; New Hampshire, 12; New Jersey, 425; New York, 17; Ohio, 386; Oregon, 31; Rhode Island, 63; Tennessee, 26; Virginia, 52; West Virginia 50; Wisconsin, 62.

A striking change in the type of borrowers has taken place since the World War, Young points out. The so-called "white collar" and factory workers now are in the majority of those who seek loans from the licensed companies, whereas prior to the war it was the carpenter, plasterer, mechanic or the skilled worker in other lines who applied to the loan houses for funds to tide him over an emergency.

Exonerated in Murder of Woman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. — Nicholas Cavallo, sought for questioning about the body of a woman found in a gunny sack at Morris, Ill., was exonerated yesterday of any connection with the case by Sheriff Jones at Morris. Cavallo and members of his family were in the vicinity of Morris where the sack was found last week, but Cavallo said the party had been hunting doves. Identity of the woman has not yet been established.

PATENTED PAVERS GET THIRD OF JOBS OVER PROTESTS OF TAXPAYERS

Municipal Research Bureau Insists $600,000 of Citizens' Money Has Been Wasted in Last 6 Years.

KINSEY INSISTS HIS POSITION IS RIGHT

City Official Sensed a 'Gentleman's Agreement' Among Bidders, but Says Recent Price War Broke It Up.

The Municipal Research Bureau, after a futile three-year campaign against the use of patented pavements on the ground that they are more costly but no better than sheet asphalt, is finding some measure of satisfaction in the recent breakdown in the "gentleman's agreement" which has existed among the big paving contractors for several years.

For in the contractors' bids recently submitted, resulting in prices as much as 31 per cent below estimates of city engineers based on past price experiences, new contractors with lower bids have invaded the patented paving field, heretofore restricted to three large companies which in the last four years have received $5,249,449 for patented pavements. This sum is more than one-third of all the city's expenditures for street pavements in that time, the total being $15,337,237.

Inasmuch as virtually all of the city's street paving work is paid for by special assessment against property owners, the Municipal Research Bureau has been attempting to persuade city officials to abandon the expensive patented paving, for the reasons heretofore stated.

Organized and supported by a group of large taxpayers, the Municipal Research Bureau devotes its efforts toward finding ways for economies in public expenditures. Among the numerous municipal activities in which it has suggested economies, street paving has received a large share of its attention, as has been reported in the Post-Dispatch.

Kinsey Explains Position.

Responsibility for determining the type of pavement to be used rests with the Board of Public Service, a group of five department heads appointed by the Mayor and comprising his so-called "cabinet." The president of this board, E. R. Kinsey, assumes responsibility for the continuing use of patented pavements—called Warrenite and Amiesite—contending they have an advantage over sheet asphalt.

This advantage, Kinsey told the Post-Dispatch in response to an inquiry, is not entirely inherent in the materials and paving processes, but partly results from the desire of the holders and users of the patents to build up reputations for their materials.

Kinsey added that no one could tell whether the patented pavements as laid in recent years lasted longer than nonpatented pavements, but said that in the board's judgment, based on the kind of work done in the last six or seven years, there was a higher value in the patented types.

Three Firms Had Work.

Warrenite, which has been used in St. Louis for about 25 years, is laid by the Central Paving and Construction Co., owned by G. Locke Tarleton, and by the Granite Bituminous Paving Co., of which Cecil L. Newbold is secretary-treasurer. Tarleton has had a virtual monopoly of street paving in East St. Louis and four years ago also took up business activity in St. Louis, doing paving as well as bidding large contracts for electric street lights under the bond issue.

Amiesite, which has been used here about three years, is laid by the Webb-Boone Paving Co.

The Bureau of Municipal Research, which contends that Warrenite and Amiesite are no better than ordinary sheet asphalt, asserts that Warrenite, in fact, has been found not to last as long here, on the average, as sheet asphalt.

During the six-year period of 1923-28, the bureau has asserted, there was $6,000,000 of patented pavements laid, and 10 per cent of this money, or $600,000, would have been saved for the taxpaying property owners if nonpatented asphalt had been used.

Earlier this summer, there were instances where patented pavements cost as much as 23 per cent more than corresponding sheet asphalt. Due to the recent new competition, this margin has been cut down, but in general the patented

STARTS MOVE IN LEAGUE FOR REDUCTION OF TARIFF

Briton Proposes Nations Agree Not to Increase Rates for Two Years While Devising Plans to Lower Them.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—President Graham of the British Board of Trade proposed to the assembly of the League of Nations yesterday that for two years there be an agreement not to increase tariffs and that during this period every effort be made to hold a representative conference of member Governments of the League, perhaps including non-member Governments, also, to ascertain how existing tariffs might be reduced. He asked the assembly to send his proposal to a committee to have a resolution prepared.

In his address to the assembly, Graham contrasted the position of the United States with its free interstate market with the position of Europe and its many customs divisions.

He said one could not help making this contrast when one realized that the United States today had 43 per cent of the world's gold, that the United States was a great creditor country, and that despite the progress of The Hague conference Europe had still innumerable difficulties to overcome. But with regard to the European confederation project he insisted that for Europe to embark on discrimination against any country might supply that friction "which would manufacture war among the nations."

EASIER DIVORCE URGED BY BRITISH CLERGYMAN

Greater Control Over Marriage Also Advocated Before Sexual Reform League.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Liberalization of the divorce laws and greater control over the right to marry were advocated yesterday at the International Congress of the World League for Sexual Reform.

The attitude of the church toward sex and marriage, particularly as to birth control, was attacked by C. E. M. Joad of London and by the Rev. D. W. F. Geikie-Cobb, chairman of the Marriage Reform League. The Rev. Mr. Geikie-Cobb advocated divorce by mutual consent, adding, "but England is a priest-ridden country and lags behind."

Dr. Bernard Hollander, alienist, advocated the prevention of marriage of physically or mentally unfit persons through a system of bodily and mental health certificates. In cases of habitual drunkenness, or addiction to drugs, he urged a separation for three years, at the end of which time, if no improvement had taken place, the other partner to the marriage could receive a divorce.

One of the most radical marriage reform proposals was made by Mrs. Dora Russell, wife of Bertrand Russell, who laid down as "fundamental principles" divorce at the request of one party for incompatability, cruelty, feeble mindedness or refusal to have children; married women to continue work after marriage; recognition of personal freedom; a strict code of honor on parentage and physical health. These principles, she said require discipline and self-control.

Dr. Abraham Stone of the New York Public Health Department declared marriage had received little attention from physicians and students of public health. Many difficulties of marriage, he said, are due to physical and mental adjustment and can be cured or prevented by timely advice. He said that pre-marital consultation could prevent much married unhappiness.

The congress adopted a resolution that "the present oppressive and vindictive spirit of our laws" should be replaced by a more creative attitude, so that both children and parents might achieve greater freedom and individual happiness and that "there should be full individual freedom to contract and dissolve marriage so that no unwilling partner can be forced into an unhappy relation."

"Law and custom should be directed to eugenic ends," the resolution added, "for the protection of children. Marriage should not be an economic career for idle men and women. Marriage education centers, sponsored by public authorities, should be opened where pre-marital advice on marital and contraconceptive problems can be obtained by anyone who asks for it."

The resolution was, however, afterward cancelled and referred to a committee.

Sterilization of the Unfit Urged as National Policy.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Sterilization of the unfit as a national policy was urged today at a session of the third international congress of the World League for Sexual Reform.

Dr. Norman Haire, secretary of the congress, and English delegate to the sixth international birth control congress in New York in 1925, declared public opinion should be educated so that sterilization of people unfit for parenthood would be as far as possible voluntary. "But in cases of people who are a menace to society sterilization should be compulsory," he said.

Dr. J. Leunback of Copenhagen said sterilization was the most important means available for race improvement, but that ideas on the subject were still governed by taboos, and legislation was a check on progress in all matters of race hygiene.

Dr. Marie Stopes, British woman physician and president of the Society for Constructive Birth Control and Racial Progress as well as author of numerous books on contraception, said before she and her husband opened their birth control clinic they offered 1000 ($5000) to a hospital to undertake the work, but the hospital authorities refused for fear of trouble with the law. She recalled that policemen were put on patrol outside her clinic when it was first opened.

The enemies of the movement were anxious to throw mud at the whole undertaking, Dr. Stopes declared. They were inclined to talk about birth control as though it were birth prevention, but that was an entire misstatement, she asserted.

30 KILLED IN EXPLOSION ON SOVIET OIL STEAMER

Families of Members of Crew Among Victims of Accident on Volga; Nine Hurt on Nearby Ship.

By the Associated Press.

KHAROSLAV, U. S. S. R., Sept. 10.—Ten members of the crew of the Soviet oil tanker Medveditza with their families, numbering, it was believed, 30 persons, lost their lives today at Norsky, 10 miles down the Volga, when an explosion occurred on the steamer. Nine members of the crew of another tanker, the Grom, which was nearby, were seriously injured and sent to hospitals.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. — The Radio Marine Corporation received a radiogram last night from the Belgian freighter Emile Francqui stating that it collided with the Norwegian freighter Gunny about 200 miles southeast of Boston. Neither ship was seriously damaged and both were proceeding to their destinations.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A Lloyd's dispatch from Vigo, Spain, says the crew of the Nelson liner Highland Pride, which went on the rocks near Vigo early yesterday, has abandoned the ship and it is unlikely she will hold together long. The after end of the liner, bound for South America from London when a broken chain of the steering gear sent her on a reef, is under water today and except for the extreme bow she is washed ashore fore and aft. The passengers were taken ashore yesterday without difficulty and the poultry and livestock were salvaged; the rest of the cargo was lost.

ECKENER MOUNTAIN PASS

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 10.—A depression in the coast range of mountains east of here, through which the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin flew on its trip from Los Angeles to Lakehurst, now bears the name of Eckener Pass, in honor of the commander of the airship.

An army plane carrying Maj. Carl Spatz, army aviator, and Capt. von Arnauld de la Perier, master of the German cruiser Emden, flew above the pass yesterday and dropped a parachute to which the American and German flags had been attached. This was the ceremony of dedication.

OLD CAVE FOUND IN HUNGARY

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 10.—An enormous cave containing animal and human bones and showing signs of fire has been discovered in the Pilis Mountains, 20 miles from here. One of the most interesting objects found was an ax made from antlers of a stag.

Hoover Going to Camp Again.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Hoover is going to get away from Washington this week-end for another visit to his fishing camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia. He will witness the speed boats race for the President's Cup on the Potomac River early Saturday afternoon and immediately afterward plans to leave for Virginia. The trip, however, is conditioned on good weather.

NEW REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN IS ABLE FUND COLLECTOR

C. H. Huston Helped Pay 1928 Deficit and Financed Hoover's Pre-Convention Campaign.

HAS CONFIDENCE OF THE PRESIDENT

Selection Regarded as Move to Keep G. O. P. Gains in South and Tribute to Organizing Skill.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. — The selection of Claudius H. Huston of Chattanooga, Tenn., and New York to be chairman of the Republican National Committee, succeeding Dr. Hubert Work, resigned, places the party machinery under the control of a business man, a Southerner, an active worker for Hoover in the pre-convention and election campaigns, and a highly successful collector of party funds.

Huston was picked by the President and the National Committee yesterday at a love feast placed its approval on the choice. All the opposition had been ironed out in advance.

The President's selection is being interpreted as a compliment to the South, Huston being the first man from that section to head the committee, and also as an expression of Mr. Hoover's desire to consolidate Republican gains below Mason and Dixon's line.

Organizing Ability Proved.

Apart from these considerations, Mr. Hoover no doubt was moved by the organizing ability of the new chairman, which has been proved in both political and business fields. There is no doubt that he enjoys the complete confidence and support of the President.

On assuming the chairmanship Huston announced that he would divorce himself from all his extensive business connections in order that he might give "proper attention" to the year-round work of the national party organization.

Huston first gained national political prominence through his share in the campaign that carried Tennessee for Harding. Harding, as President, appointed him as Assistant Secretary of Commerce in which capacity he assisted Herbert Hoover in the reorganization of the department. He resigned in March, 1923, to go back into business, with offices in New York and Chattanooga.

Huston's specialty has been the reorganization and refinancing of corporations. Among the numerous concerns with which he became connected was the Trans-Sontinental Oil Co. of which he was chairman of the board until a few weeks ago. For the last two years he has had the general management of all the corporate properties owned by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Helped Pay Off Deficit in 1923.

As chairman of the National Republican Ways and Means Committee in 1923, Huston took a hand in paying off the deficit left over from the Harding-Coolidge campaign. In this work, he was a colaborer of Will S. Hays, the former national chairman, who got $160,000 of Liberty bonds from Harry Sinclair.

Huston told the Senate's Oil Investigating Committee that he knew nothing of these bonds, and that the largest fund he raised for the liquidation of the party debt was $60,000, subscribed in St. Louis by a group of about 75 men. He declined later to be interviewed on this subject.

Huston is being described by his friends as the first man to begin an organized movement to make Hoover the party's presidential nominee. He started an organization six years ago though he did not think that Hoover's chance would come before 1932. Upon the issuance of President Coolidge's "I do not choose to run" statement, Huston immediately got busy. He was one of the main collectors of funds for the Hoover pre-convention campaign. Testimony before a Senate committee which investigated presidential campaign expenditures of 1928 showed Huston as one of the active forces in lining up Southern delegates for Hoover.

AIR MAIL RECORD IN AUGUST

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Air mail planes set a new record during August, carrying 698,062 pounds of mail, an increase of 59,252 pounds over July.

Postmaster-General Brown said today the daily average for the month was 23,268 pounds compared to 20,606 for July. The Chicago-San Francisco route, with 169,285, was first. The New York-Chicago route, with 163,534 pounds second, and the Salt Lake City-Los Angeles route, with 69,505 pounds, was third.

Watson to Propose Postponement of Action Until December.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Senate Republican leaders at a conference today decided to seek to postpone until the regular session in December a vote on the pending Norris resolution to deny William S. Vare (Rep.), Pennsylvania, a seat in the Senate.

A soon as the Norris resolution is called up, Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, will move that the Senate postpone action but at the same time fix a date for taking a vote on it.

Although the Norris resolution has privileged status, the Nebraskan does not intend to press it until the contest on the Simmons resolution to make available income tax returns of corporations interested in tariff revision has been voted upon late today or tomorrow.

Norris who is opposing the tariff measure, confounded the administration party leaders yesterday by introducing the resolution to deny Vare his seat. The resolution came before the Senate just as the tariff debate was opening. Norris reminded the Senate that his resolution had precedence over any other legislation.

The Nebraskan will call it up within a day or two, yielding to delay only on urgent request. Vare's spokesman in the Senate is Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania. Senator Reed is one of the framers of the tariff bill and among those most anxious for its adoption. He has the choice of an early vote on the Vare case or delay in the tariff debate.

Senator Reed is concerned over the health of Vare, whom he does not believe is in a condition to take advantage of the Senate's offer to him to defend himself personally. He will argue for another postponement of the case, but he does not want the Norris resolution used as a vehicle for a filibuster against the tariff.

There is some controversy as to whether the Governor of Pennsylvania could make an appointment in the event the Senate denies Vare his seat as a contest by William B. Wilson, the Democratic candidate in the 1926 Pennsylvania senatorial election is still pending.

GIANT ELECTRIC MACHINE TO BE SHIPPED TO BELGIUM

A 92,500-pound electro-plating motor generator, manufactured by the Chandeysson Electric Co., 4092 Bingham avenue, which asserts it is the largest generator of the kind ever built, must be sent to Antwerp, Belgium, by way of New Orleans instead of New York because Eastern railroad tunnels are not large enough to give clearance.

The machine will be taken apart, loaded at a spur leading into its plant, and reassembled and crated on the car. It will be ready for shipment by Missouri Pacific lines by the end of the week.

BROKER-FLYER HURT IN PLANE

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. — Jack Shepherd, a broker, was seriously injured because he disregarded advice of friends not to take his new airplane aloft in the shifting winds yesterday evening.

Shepherd's plane dropped from a height of 200 feet, nose down. His skull, his jawbone and an arm and leg were fractured.

British-Argentine Trade Pact.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Foreign Office last night announced that a provisional trade agreement had been negotiated by a British mission in Argentina. The object of the agreement is to provide for purchase during the next two years from British manufacturers to the value of $39,000,000 in return for the purchase of a similar value of Argentine food products through trade channels.

MAINE DEFEATS MOVE TO EXPORT POWER

Voters Reaffirm 20-Year-Old Law—Refuse to Increase Gasoline Tax.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.—The State of Maine today stood repledged to the principles of the 20-year-old Fernald law which prohibits export of hydro-electric power beyond its borders. By a vote of 62,248 to 54,294 at a special election yesterday, the voters rejected a referendum measure which would have permitted export of surplus power.

At the same time a proposal to increase the tax on gasoline from 4 to 5 cents a gallon was defeated.

The export measure was advocated and supported by power company officials, Gov. William T. Gardiner, former Gov. Baxter and others. Former Gov. Brewster, who retired the first of the year, took the stump against the measure.

STATE OF ANARCHY FOLLOWS FIGHTING IN MANCHURIA

BATTLES RENEWED NEAR MANCHOULI

Each Side Blames the Other for Hostilities in Dispute Over Chinese Railway Control.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Reuters dispatches from Harbin, Manchuria, today, reported that complete anarchy prevails in Manchurian border towns after widespread Russian air raids and artillery bombardments. The town of Pogranichnaya was said to be infested with robbers, and marauders of all kinds were over-running other isolated border regions.

Although there has been no formal declarations of war, Russian and Chinese dispatches indicated an apparent state of open hostility at points on the Manchurian border.

Dispatches told of serious fighting to be in progress intermittently since Thursday of last week, assuming considerable proportion Sunday and Monday both at Manchouli and at Pogranichnaya, the western and eastern ends of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Reports indicate a heavy loss of life and of property as a result of air raids and bombings, heavy artillery fire and fires. A Chinese report that the fighting extending along the entire Manchurian border was taken to mean that clashes occurred between garrisons at other points along the 2000-mile frontier.

Gen. Bluecher's Campaign.

There was a tendency in some quarters to regard the fighting as the heralded Russian offensive under Gen. Bluecher, new head of the Soviet Far Eastern army. Chinese soldiers, Chinese dispatches indicated, opposed Russian movements vigorously, and were said to have recaptured Progranichnaya after losing it to the Soviet troops. The frontier city suffered heavily by fire during the bombardment.

As in the past both Chinese and Russians sougnt to lay the blame of

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Street Car Fares in Los Angeles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT was with a great deal of interest and satisfaction while at San Francisco recently that I read your very able article on "Municipal Ownership in Detroit," for I contend that it is absolutely essential that if the City of St. Louis desires continuous growth it will be as necessary for it to keep the same absolute control of its streets as it maintains over its waterworks system.

Here in Los Angeles the fare is seven cents, or four tokens for 25 cents. Due to the fact that the street car company is in litigation with the city, or the city with the company, I don't know which, the conductor gives you a slip so that in the event the city wins out in its suit the company will be obliged to refund 2 cents on a 7-cent token, or 5 cents where four tokens have been purchased for 25 cents. You probably know that the street car system here in Los Angeles is fully equal to that which we have in St. Louis.

While it may be true that the promoter who is desirous of securing the new franchise in St. Louis may be a "go-getter" and that he has never failed to get that which he started for in the past in other cities, my contention is he will fail this time if our municipal fathers and the taxpayers are alive to their own interests.

As to Breach of Promise Suits.

EVERY evening we read about divorces and breach of promise suits till it seems that every time the ladies stub their toes or their thirty-second cousin does something they get a big write-up on the front page with a six-column drop. There have been a number of notorious breach of promise suits lately. The newspapers print the details of these suits pretty much in full. I think that one of our greatest pleasures is to read about the passionate epistle ot Old Dear and mother's little Hotsy Totsy. This is all good reading matter, but why print it and let us (the public) in on the know? Unquestionably under existing laws, many breach of promise suits are straight blackmailing propositions.

A woman sues not so much because she expects to be awarded money damages, but because the suit provides a lever for extracting a cash settlement out of court. A pretty woman before a jury of men is very apt to have her way, so why not have these cases tried by women, because they can see through their sisters? Whereas, to men they are like a book written in a language a man knows nothing about. They may say this is a man's world, but if these laws are the best our lawmakers can do for the lords of creation, the poor fish, there are still advantages in being a woman. So why do we men fall for all this sweet bunk we are dished out perennially?

For a New Route to Webster Groves.

ON Aug. 23 last, H. G. Wolzendorf was inclined to "get on" the county concerning county roads. I do not know where Mr. Wolzendorf resides, but if he will attempt to drive to Webster Groves at about the hour of 5:30 I feel sure he will note that Big Bend and Manchester avenue are very heavily trafficked. The construction of a viaduct over the River des Peres at Lansdowne avenue would connect Watson road and Shrewsbury, which is just east of Webster Groves, providing another artery of traffic for Webster.

What seemingly disturbs Mr. Wolzendorf most is the route of the Ozark Trail. Concerning this I am as much at a loss as he is, but I think Mr. Wolzendorf should be advised that Watson road is to become a State highway from the city limits to Denny road. From Denny road and Watson a new right-of-way has been laid out to connect with Vandover and Antire roads just south of Valley Park. If I understand it correctly this route has already been surveyed by the State Highway Department. However, were this highway complete and in use today, I still think there should be a connection to Webster Groves over Lansdowne avenue to relieve the traffic congestion borne by Manchester avenue in Maplewood. Watson road west of the city limits bears too far to the south of Webster.

Suggests Easton Avenue Bus Line.

I ADMIRE the fight the Post-Dispatch is making for the people of St. Louis against the Public Service Co. They are trying to hook the public.

I would offer this suggestion: On the Easton avenue line, at all hours of the day people are packed in like sardines in a can. I would ask the Aldermen of Northwest St. Louis to grant the bus lines permission to run on Easton avenue. There are plenty of passengers both for busses and street cars and it would relieve a bad situation.

AMERICA AND THE WORLD COURT.

The Hoover administration has approved the formula, prepared by Elihu Root, for our adherence to the World Court, but notice from the State Department that the President will not submit the proposition to the Senate until next year has quieted the clamor of the irreconcilables. Meantime, the question of accepting the Root plan is on the agenda of the Assembly of the League of Nations now in session. The general expectation is that the Assembly's action will be favorable.

The long-drawn discussion of our adhesion to the Court centers around the fifth reservation, of which Senator Swanson is the author. That reservation stipulates publicity for all advisory opinions of the Court. It further provides that the Court shall not "without the consent of the United States, entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has or claims an interest."

The publicity requirement was readily acquiesced in. The record was cited that the Court had rendered no secret advisory opinions, that in every such instance—some 15 of them—the opinions had been publicly given. The second condition in the Swanson reservation was objectionable, on the ground that "it might hamper the work of the Council and prejudice the rights of the members of the League." Mr. Root addressed himself to the task of clarifying that reservation so as to safeguard the interests of the United States in language that would be acceptable to the other nations.

The Root plan, as finally evolved, provides that, whenever the Council is considering asking the Court for an advisory opinion, there shall be an exchange of views between the Council and the United States "as to whether an interest of the United States is affected." The assumption of this provision is that a frank expression by both sides will result in agreement; that either the opinion may be rendered or the Council will not request an opinion. In the extreme event that an agreement cannot be reached, the United States may withdraw from the Court "without any imputation of unfriendliness."

Many recognized students of international law believe that the Root formula is preferable from the standpoint of the United States to the Swanson reservation. Senator Swanson himself regards it as satisfactory. But the irreconcilables, or the "battalion of death," as they were styled in the stormy Wilson days, are still implacable, as evidenced by the uncompromising attitude of Senator Moses, on whom the mantle of leadership has apparently descended.

As for the outcome, it seems reasonable to venture that, with aggressive leadership in the White House, the fight for our adherence to the World Court could be won. That White House quality has been wanting. The project was a cherished dream of its proponent, Mr. Harding, who died before the issue was really joined. It never elicited more than perfunctory support from Mr. Coolidge, who dropped it with every evidence of relief at the first face-saving opportunity. There is no intimation that Mr. Hoover is ready to crusade for the cause, though his unwillingness to start a war on another front while the tariff tempest rages is easily understood. Nevertheless, the friends of peace are sincerely hoping that the United States will presently cast aside its fears and prejudices and join this International Court of Justice which American vision first conceived and which American genius helped so vitally to create.

Meanwhile, 20 nations have accepted the optional clause making arbitration of international disputes by the World Court compulsory, and it is announced from Geneva that 15 other nations are ready to sign.

328 MILES AN HOUR AND UP.

British Flying Officer H. R. D. ("Daisy") Waghorn has won the Schneider trophy by driving his Rolls Royce seaplane at an average speed of 328.63 miles per hour for 217 miles. That is about the speed of a bullet—which means that if someone had fired a revolver in the same direction as Waghorn was going he could have reached out of his plane and neatly picked the bullet out of the air 'twixt thumb and forefinger. That is also about two-fifths the speed of sound. Or figure it out this way: 328 miles per hour, five and a half miles per minute, one full city block in the tick of a clock!

Man's fastest moment is an exercise for any imagination. But to eyewitnesses it was even stranger. In a vivid account of the race the London correspondent of the Post-Dispatch wrote on Sunday: "The eye refused to believe in the reality of an insect in the sky that suddenly becomes a huge bird, then a flying machine, then a bird and an insect again, all in two or three seconds, while the impression of fantasy is increased by the terrifying and uncanny sound effects produced."

But 328 miles per hour didn't last long. Today another Britisher, A. H. Orlebar, in the same plane, ran the record up to 355 miles per hour.

AGRICULTURE IS FINDING ITSELF.

Most substantial of all the factors in the upward trend of agriculture, already discernible in the statistics, if not in some farms, is the fact that "agriculture is finding itself to some extent." That was the opinion expressed to the Post-Dispatch a few days ago by Wood Netherland, president of the Federal Land Bank in St. Louis, and it is the opinion of other observers as well.

This "great Western empire" is no longer a virgin land, spendthrift of her riches to every man who sows the seed. No Missouri farmer can longer hope to take wealth out of his land year after year without putting some wealth into the land. Nor can he hope to profit by farming heedlessly, without attending to the best-proved methods of putting wealth into the soil in order that he may reap richly. Nor can he longer face the market place, where every other group—except the consumer—has its safeguards, without working out agencies and methods to market profitably.

Some Missouri farmers have changed their ways to meet changing times. They are liming and fertilizing the soil, rotating crops by science and not by guess, sending their sons to agricultural college, studying bulletins of the Department of Agriculture and the farm publications, organizing themselves and scrutinizing markets and the means of marketing. They are using the highways as a means of handling their products, not merely a means of leaving the farm to tend itself. They are "getting by," at least, in even the leanest years.

Truly, for agriculture to find itself is the most dependable factor in the perplexing and critical situation. No extraneous aid can be quite so effective. Crops may be good this year and bad the next, but once the farmer learns how best to work each foot of ground and how best to sell every bushel of grain and head of stock, that knowledge will endure through any change of season.

VALUATION AND DEPRECIATION.

Mr. Muench's belated protest against the 8-cent street car fare, itself almost a memory now, is not likely to alter the Missouri Public Service Commission's generous allowances for real estate holdings, going value, promotion and consolidation, etc., all heavy contributors to the estimated valuation of $63,500,000 upon the whole property.

But it is not so certain the commission will not take something off the valuation upon the score of depreciation. Mr. Muench is pointing out in his brief that $8,469,730 allowed for depreciation but unused as such was turned over to the stockholders during the period of receivership by buying new property with it. It should properly have been deducted from operating expenses and had the effect of lowering fares.

What is the commission going to say about that? Will it say that this is an improper use to make of such money, and will it therefore lop some $8,000,000 off the company's valuation? Or will it content itself with saying that bygones are bygones? It has a bad habit of allowing exaggerated claims for valuation upon this property. The owners bought it for $49,100,000, including good will if any, going value however doubtful, and real estate appreciation. Yet the commission put all those together to add $14,000,000 to what the property actually cost its present owners.

Perhaps the commission can also justify taking more than $8,000,000 of the car riders' money and giving it to the stockholders, but we are from Missouri. We will have to see it before we will believe it.

WHAT ONE MISSOURI WOMAN DID.

Mrs. Paul Vehling is the wife of the assistant manager of the Kansas City Athletic Club. She is also proof of the stuff of which Missouri women are made. Recently she wrote her husband that people were catching some pretty big fish near their farm on the Niangua River near Linn Creek. Mr. Vehling replied that he didn't care to hear any more about those little sardines, but if she actually caught a real fish to bring it to Kansas City.

She did. She caught a catfish, weighing 85 pounds and measuring eight and one-half inches between the eyes, which pulled her out of her boat and across a sandbar before she landed it. Her arms were bruised, her face was scratched, but she held on.

They don't let go easily in Missouri.

BETTER NEWS FROM BOSTON.

Free speech and human rights have suffered much in Boston, but now comes a judicial pronouncement which gives promise of better things. The occasion was what has become unfortunately a typically Bostonian disregard of the Bill of Rights. Two speakers were arrested because they addressed meetings on Boston Common to commemorate the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, and in doing so mentioned the names of Sacco and Vanzetti. Both had permits, Police Superintendent Crowley admitted, but the permits were worded to forbid reference to the two executed radicals.

Crowley was on hand to hear what Alfred Baker Lewis, secretary of the State Socialist organization, had to say. In his address, Lewis remarked: "We feel that we have a right to discuss the Sacco-Vanzetti case"—— Here Crowley interrupted by shouting: "Your permit is revoked! Speak again and you'll be speaking without a permit." Lewis said a few words more, police yanked him off his rostrum, thrust him into a patrol wagon and dispersed the crowd.

Be it everlastingly to Boston's credit that this action was repudiated and the two speakers were released by a courageous jurist, Judge Charles J. Carr. His words on finding them not guilty of speaking without a permit should be well studied by every policeman and every blue-stocking in Boston as well as elsewhere. We hope it means a new day for Boston when a Judge puts this forthright declaration of American principles into the record:

> The police must not forget that free speech is an American institution In time of peace the right is reserved to the people to bring about reforms by public discussion even if such discussion involves some criticism of their representatives in the executive, legislative or judicial branches of the Government. As a matter of policy, it should be remembered that outdoor oratory is often a safety valve for persons whose opinions we condemn. Persecuted, they may become heroes; let alone, they excite little attention and slight incentive to continue.

BOMBERS.

Bombers at Scranton, Pa., decided to work vengeance on Joseph Melnick by wrecking his home. They captured his dog, tied several sticks of dynamite to it, lighted a fuse and then chased the animal to start it homeward. As the pet reached the Melnick door, the dynamite exploded, tore off the porch, broke all the windows in the house, injured a 12-year-old girl and killed the dog.

The atrocities of these gentry, which have been lavishly visited upon St. Louis, are now a capital crime in Missouri, where human life is imperiled. That ought to put a curb upon the practice of blowing up people and property indiscriminately in labor disputes and other social clashes which are always with us.

HUNTING UPON HIGHWAYS.

Delph Simons, the new Game and Fish Commissioner of Missouri, warns the hunters of Missouri that hunting upon highways, a practice that has grown rapidly since automobiles came into general use, is illegal.

There are two restrictions upon the dangerous practice of shooting at game from automobiles. That is, the State law prohibits shooting upon highways, while it is a violation of Federal regulations to take migratory birds by shooting them from an automobile.

Mr. Simons says several people were killed in the United States last year as a result of this sort of hunting, and he serves fair warning upon hunters that it will not be permitted in Missouri.

A Castigation of the Press

Metropolitan newspaper of today is simply a great corporate enterprise, says law school dean, with all the evils of that form of organization; owners are capitalistic investors and editors are hired men; press, he charges, is intrusive, meddlesome, and ignorant, and is lacking in courage and moral leadership.

From a commencement address at John Marshall Law School, Chicago, by Dean Edward T. Lee

THE history of man has been a struggle for freedom; freedom from the enmity of the apparently hostile powers of nature; from control of nature's physical laws; of cramping social customs and tribal taboos; from arbitrary government and priest-ridden religions; freedom from everything that would dwarf his spirit and prevent it from mastering the outside world, or would stand in the way of achieving man's highest desires and exerting his free will to its utmost.

In accomplishing these ends in the domain of government, three fundamental principles have been evolved which we call "Freedom of Assemblage," "Freedom of Speech," and "Freedom of the Press." They have not been accepted at all times and in all places without modification. They have been condemned by high church authority as errors of modernism. And, indeed, no one should take them too literally. But their acceptance or rejection, in whole or in part, is sufficient to classify a man or a people as progressive or reactionary.

Just as, philosophically, freedom of thought is absurd, as thought has its own laws which must be followed as closely as a train must follow its track, unless one would invite a wreck, so freedom of speech, too, must have its limitations. The law does not permit us to speak freely at all times and on all occasions. We must hire our own hall to do that, and in times of public danger even that may not be done. In like manner, freedom of assemblage may produce a riot and hence prove a menace to public peace. Freedom of the press, also, is to be taken with limitations. Ben Franklin possibly had one of these limitations in mind when he said: "I believe in the liberty of the press, but I also believe in the license of the cudgel in beating out the brains of an offending editor."

The early newspapers were devoted largely to commercial news and confined mainly to public matters, which were often warmly discussed in their columns by men like Madison, Hamilton and Jefferson, who represented the vox populi of their day. But in the middle of the last century, about the time of the discovery of gold mines in the West, the realization came to some wise men in the East that newspapers might also prove gold mines; and in the big cities newspapers arose that became vast business enterprises. The Tribune, the Herald, the Times, later the Sun, the World and the Journal were promoted and developed as commercial enterprises.

The metropolitan newspapers today are simply great corporate enterprises, with all the evils of that form of organization, characterized by ruthless competition, arrogant, unmoral in their aims, in short, conducted, in the language of one of our local papers as just "a business enterprise."

The owner and editor, formerly one, are now two very different persons—the one a mere capitalistic investor, the other a hired man, a vagrant writer, hired and fired the same as the reporter or the janitor. Nor is the humble local newspaper owned and edited by a local man, who might be relied upon to represent and express the thought and desire of the community, and who, if need be, could be made to keep within the bounds of decency in his columns by social pressure or physical application.

Since the advent of these monstrous city gargoyles, the right of privacy of the American people has been practically obliterated. No place of private business, no office, not even the sanctuary of the home is free from the prying or, if need be, forcible invasion by the minions of the press. Desks may be ransacked, letters and pictures stolen by its agents, apparently without redress. To this is now added the nuisance of the cameraman, ready to shoot at sight the unoffending citizen, man or woman, whose picture the "boss" wants. The sins of the fathers and mothers are visited not only upon the third and fourth generation, but upon all relations of the sinner to the fortieth degree. Nothing may be kept out that will make grist for the newspaper mill. Lindbergh committed high treason against the canons of the press when he exercised his right of being married in private and not in the sanctum of a newspaper, surrounded by reporters and picture men.

True, the press of today, largely because of its business instinct, has gotten away from some of its former evils. It would not be true to say of the press that it is entirely evil or corrupt, although it undoubtedly has a corrupting and evil influence in many of its publications. Its intrusiveness, meddlesomeness, and ignorant assertion of superior knowledge, wisdom and patriotism, its readiness to run with the hare and follow with the hounds, its quickness to capitalize both the vices and virtues of poor humanity, its philanthropic and altruistic pretense, its blind leadership of the blind, its lack of courageous, moral leadership regardless of financial loss, its falsifying of news to bolster up its policies, its catering to a fickle populace and inciting the weak and vicious into defiance of the law, its parrot repetition in its editorial columns, help to make the modern metropolitan newspaper at best a necessary evil.

The big newspaper is our great busybody. There is no function of society which it is not, in its own estimation, better able to perform than are those charged with the performance of that function. It is never troubled with a beam in its own eye. It is now bent, in some states, upon taking over the administration of the criminal law from the police and the courts and instituting trial by newspaper. Criminals have been dragged to newspaper offices and have had their pictures taken before they were booked for any offense. By assisting in the defense of criminals, papers have helped to defeat justice and have made trials mawkish performances, which some courts have weakly permitted; and by treating criminals as heroes instead of as low-down cowards, as they are in most cases, by adopting their lingo and exploiting them as dramatic characters, they have given aid and comfort to criminal gangs. No State's Attorney, no judge of a criminal court, if he would speak his honest mind but would say that one of the greatest obstacles today in the proper administration of criminal law is the interference, direct and indirect, of the press.

"Of Making Many Books"

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

An Old Brain Teaser

THE famous paradox of Zeno, which baffled philosophers for 2000 years, is said to have been solved by modern mathematics. Bertrand Russell explains its solution in his book, "Mysticism and Logic," just published.

"The argument is this," writes Mr. Russell: "Let Achilles and the tortoise start along a road at the same time, the tortoise (as is only fair) being allowed a handicap. Let Achilles go twice as fast as the tortoise, or ten times or a hundred times as fast. Then he will never reach the tortoise. For at every moment the tortoise is somewhere and Achilles is somewhere; and neither is ever twice in the same place while the race is going on. Thus the tortoise goes to just as many places as Achilles does, because each is one place at one moment, and in another at any other moment. But if Achilles were to catch up with the tortoise, the places where the tortoise would have been would be only part of the places where Achilles would have been. Here, we must suppose, Zeno appealed to the maxim that the whole has more terms than the part. Thus if Achilles were to overtake the tortoise, he would have been in more places than the tortoise but we saw that he must, in any period, be in exactly as many places as the tortoise. Hence we infer that he can never catch the tortoise. This argument is strictly correct, if we allow the axiom that the whole has more terms than the part. As the conclusion is absurd, the axiom must be rejected, and then all goes well. But there is no good word to be said for the philosophers of the past 2000 years and more, who have all allowed the axiom and denied the conclusion.

"The retention of this axiom leads to absolute contradictions, while its rejection leads only to oddities. Some of these oddities, it must be confessed, are very odd. One of them, which I call the paradox of Tristram Shandy, is the converse of the Achilles, and shows that the tortoise, if you give him time, will go just as far as Achilles. Tristram Shandy, as we know, employed two years in chronicling the first two days of his life, and lamented that, at that rate, material would accumulate faster than he could deal with it, so that, as years went by, he would be farther and farther from the end of his history. Now I maintain that, if he had lived forever, and had not wearied of his task, then, even if his life had continued as eventfully as it began, no part of his biography would have remained unwritten. For consider: the hundredth day will be described in the hundredth year, the thousandth in the thousandth year, and so on. Whatever day we may choose as so far on that he cannot hope to reach it, that day will be described in the corresponding year. Thus any day that may be mentioned will be written up sooner or later, and therefore no part of the biography will remain permanently unwritten. This paradoxical but perfectly true proposition depends upon the fact that the number of days in all times is no greater than the number of years."

FOUR FAMOUS GREEK PLAYS. Edited and with an introduction, by Paul Landis. (The Modern Library).

The four Greek plays here presented are The Agamemnon of Aeschylus, Oedipus the King by Sophocles, the Medea of Euripides and The Frogs by Aristophanes. If one were allowed to read only one play by each of the three great tragic poets and the great comic poet of fifth century Athens, perhaps most lovers of Greek poetry would grant that the four here chosen would be the right ones, though probably there would be most disagreement in the matter of choosing from Euripides. At any rate, these four plays adequately represent the peculiar powers of their authors.

Many a person reading these famous plays for the first time here, probably from a sense of duty or in self defense, are likely to wonder if Wells was not right in asserting that Greek poetry has been vastly overrated by the highbrows. He was pitifully wrong, which is not strange since he feels little of poetry and knows nothing of Greek, as he himself announces. But it must be granted that translations, with a few notable exceptions, scarcely prove him wrong.

As a matter of fact, the great tragic poets have never been translated adequately—at least not into English. Of the three tragedies here presented, Way's translation of the Medea is no doubt by far the most successful. Lewis Campbell's version of the Agamemnon simply will not do, and the same must be said of F. Storr's translation of the Oedipus. How anyone, able to read the original, could miss so much of power and beauty is something to wonder about. Over and over again, throughout both plays, breath-taking epithets and lines are utterly lost and the most commonplace twaddle made up to fill in. Even the idea itself is hopelessly falsified at many important points.

Now that Greek as a study seems to be passing into eclipse, it does seem that it might be an excellent idea for some millionaire to establish a fund for the encouragement of translations from the Greek tragic poets who are now little known to those who read only English. (This statement implies no lack of gratitude to Gilbert Murray, who, for all his skill and learning, does undeniably prettify and distort at times). Much more can be brought over to us from the great Greek tragic poets than ever has been, and that more would make all the difference in the world.

RUDOLPH BIRCHER FUNERAL

Services for Real Estate Man Will Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Rudolph Bircher, 62 years old, who died Saturday of heart disease at the Westminster Hospital, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaking establishment at 5960 Easton avenue with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mr. Bircher, together with his brother and his three sisters who survive him, had extensive real estate holdings in the northwest section of the city in the vicinity of Kingshighway Northwest. This section was inherited from Dr. Rudolph Bircher, Mr. Bircher's grandfather, who built the Bircher-Laclede Hotel now the Laclede Hotel. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Hill Bircher. His sisters are Mrs. Louis Henner, Mrs. Lena Ponath and Mrs. Amelia Moordale. His brother is John Bircher. The Bircher home is at 1731 McLaren avenue, Jennings.

ARTHUR BULLARD, LEAGUE EXPERT, DIES

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 10. — Arthur Bullard of Washington, newspaper man, author and former chief of the Far Eastern division of the State Department, died today in Geneva after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Bullard, who was born in St. Joseph, Mo., was 49 years old.

He had been associated in many capacities with the League of Nations and was one of the best known and best informed Americans on questions connected with it. He served as Geneva representative of the American League of Nations' Association, as member of the information section of the League and as assistant to Norman H. Davis when the latter presided over the League Commission which settled the dispute over the disposition of the city of Memel.

He was also secretary to the American delegation at the World Economic Conference in 1927.

News of his death, received as the assembly session of the League was opening today, brought expressions of grief from foreign as well as American circles. A memorial service will be held Thursday in the American Church and the body will be buried near the new League buildings.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.

MANHATTAN is the most fertile of all fields for the fly-penny peddler with his trifling gim-cracks. This is especially true in summer, when the immense floating army of tourists descends and midtown becomes a glorified street carnival. An alert curb salesman is assured a living.

Around the Plaza fountain entrance nightly is a Mexican in native costume who sells coiling wooden snakes to motorists. He has a big sale among the so-called tin can tourists who want to take home a metropolitan souvenir.

A dozen old women standing at various other park entrances with their gaily colored balloons tugging at the breeze make a good living. So also do many old men with their tiny perambulating carts of chocolate bars, hokey pokey ice cream, peanuts and popcorn.

One old fellow in a wheel chair supports himself selling stale peanuts and pokes of bread crumbs for the squirrel and pigeon feeders in the park. On Fifth Avenue is a shuffling figure moving in and out among limousines selling key rings. He is reputed well to do.

The best spot for the curbstone pitch is near the library wall on Forty-second street. Here the telescope man permits you to peep at Sirius the Dog Star for a dime. The Lord's prayer engraved on the head of a pin may be viewed through powerful glasses for a nickel.

There are also hawkers of silk socks and neckties who give the impression of offering rare bargains until the packages are unwrapped at home. In Broadway doorways after dark are those grotesque toy figures that leap to hidden threads.

Then there are venerable map sellers, whispering salesmen of naughty Parisian pictures, trick mirrors, etc. All these seedy hucksters, aided by appeal of their abject shabbiness, are able to garner neat profits. And umbrella sellers, popping out so magically with a shower, always fare handsomely.

SOME of the highly ballyhooed movie first nights are mere rackets. The huge searchlights "spotting" celebrities, magnificent carpets spread for the triumphal march from limousine to lobby, flashlights and grinding movie cameras are a slice of the hokum.

In many instances no actual photographs or movies are taken. But suckers imagine they are going to get in a news reel release and so they pay from $8 to $12 for premiere tickets.

THERE are pleasant small town touches to upper reaches of Manhattan, especially in what is known as the Spuyten Duyvil section. It is about the only part of the city where people have open spaces at their door steps and where the skyscraper has not in plutocratic solitude raised its shaft.

One may see young entymologists faring forth with nets. Pole and line fishermen drift toward the river bank with pipes and lunch. Young lovers sit in hammocks to look at the moon. There are front yards and in some elders are playing croquet.

Boys congregate at night under the corner electric lights to play go-sheep-go. Benches along expansive roadways are filled with nodding papas, knitting mamas and old Rover naps nearby. Now and then, to heighten the mid-Victorian touch, a trotter, attached to a buggy, flashes by, stepping high.

FAR uptown, too are the last of the vanishing dining car lunch wagons long known as "Owls." Congestion has driven them out southward. Somehow they offer a distinct appeal to the hungry. The mustard and catsup bottles may be gummy and heavy china chipped, but there is a strange culinary zest to the cooking. Hamburger steaks and onions, for instance, become Epicurean delights, and there is a "certain something" to fried eggs—turned over. The chefs cook "by ear" and may ruin digestion but many customers enjoy rare gastronomic thrills while it is being done.

GERMAN HOUSE OPENING CELEBRATION CLOSES TONIGHT

Third Day Marked by Drills and Dances of North American Turnerbund.

Calisthenics, drills and dances presented by teams from societies of the St. Louis District of the North American Turnerbund marked the third day's celebration last night of the opening of the German House, 2345 Lafayette avenue.

Louis E. Trieseler, president of the district, paid tribute to Ludwig Jahn, founder of Turnerism, and explained how his theory that a healthy body is essential to a sane mind has represented the essential principle of the organization ever since. Members of the St. Louis societies, he said, have been taught the principles of government and aided in becoming patriotic citizens with a knowledge of national affairs.

Other speakers included: Ernest F. Cramer, president of German House, Inc.; Bernard A. Braun, chairman of the Arrangements Committee; and H. Bruckner of the Southwest Gymnastic Society.

The celebration, which began Saturday night with the dedicatory exercises, will close tonight with a program of choral music.

EVENING SCHOOL TO INCLUDE THIRD-YEAR BUSINESS COURSES

Washington U. Makes Arrangement to Accommodate Persons Who Have Had Some College Work.

All the courses of the junior year of the School of Business and Public Administration of Washington University will be offered in the evening classes this year.

This arrangement has been made to enable persons who have had two years of college work, including a year of economics, to obtain a business degree. It also is expected to prove attractive to persons with some college training who find need for certain technical instruction. There is being offered for the first time a curriculum of general business subjects open to high school graduates.

The courses in advertising have been changed to permit the student to select certain subjects of particular interest to him.

Thinks Flapper Will Help In Prevention of Crime

Lady Armstrong, Wife of British Consul In New York, Says Girls Have Settled Down to Saner Views.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—The American flapper is going to wield a whip hand in her country's campaign for prevention of crime, in the opinion of Lady Armstrong, wife of the British Consul General here, and members of New York's commission to study crime prevention.

"The flapper who has known her cigarettes and her cocktails and her night clubs has settled down to business with a much wiser, saner view than is credited to her," Lady Armstrong said yesterday.

"She understands the problems that face crime prevention, she wants to help, and she is starting and supporting movements that strike at its roots. The Big Sister movement and the Children's Court are instances of this and there will be others. Delinquent girls will listen to a smart young woman in modish clothes, when they often won't stop to hear a woman of 50.

"The success the flapper has made in business contributes much to her strength. Sister's the top dog now. Her pay check is often bigger than brother's. She's sharper in business today than he, and she's working harder. The newness has worn off her independence and she's settling down.

Long Skirts Coming Back.

"And with all her independence she is turning to feminine frills and furbelows again. Long skirts are coming back. They'll be swishing about our ankles in another year, I believe. Long hair is again in fashion and there's a new day of femininity and feminism coming for those who wear them. Women, who have failed in their roles as moral leaders for the last five years, are swinging back."

Lady Armstrong, born in America of English descendants, has herself been active in social service work for 26 years. She plunged into the work of the Ladies of Charity in 1902, after her father decreed that the life of an opera singer, which she had selected, was "too strenuous" for her.

Becoming interested in the Children's Court, then housed in a ramshackle building in lower New York, she spent her time aiding the cases which appeared there, and later was a dominant figure in the organization of the Big Sisters movement, caring for delinquent girls.

Her Many Activities.

Today she is chairman of the Co-operative Big Sisters, first vice president of the International Federation of Big Brothers and Sisters, director of the Florence Crittendon League and the Girls Service League, and vice president of the Ladies of Charity.

In addition to those activities she is the wife and hostess of the British Consul General in New York.

The godmother of more than a score of East Side babies, the head of an unofficial "employment bureau" which finds jobs for an average of 15 people a week, and a member of New York's commission to study crime prevention.

Movies and motors Lady Armstrong regards as at once the most destructive and the most educative factors in modern life. The ill effects of the fast tempo at which the modern young American lives have been exaggerated on the whole, she thinks.

"You can't control young people today by saying 'don't do that,'" she says. "The thing to do is let them have their fling and teach them common sense and a way to keep their feet on the ground while they're doing it."

MOTORIST HELD IN $5000 BAIL AFTER AUTO DEATH INQUEST

Nile Hodges, 20-year-old laborer, 1708 Chouteau avenue, was charged with criminal carelessness and ordered held under $5000 bond by a Coroner's jury today after an inquest into the death of Mrs. Mary Macha, 43, 4385 Deck avenue, who was killed Sunday night when an automobile driven by Hodges struck a car in which she was riding with her husband, Louis. A manslaughter warrant will be sought.

Police testified that Hodges was driving east in Geyer avenue racing another car being driven by John Banks, 1402 Montrose, a friend. Macha said Hodges was driving so fast he was unable to stop when he reached the intersection of Longfellow boulevard. Macha said he was driving south in Longfellow and Hodges' car struck his in a rear wheel causing it to careen, throwing Mrs. Macha out.

Albert Chaplin, 1103A South Jefferson avenue, who was riding with Hodges, and Banks and Lee Donatt, 2806 La Salle street, who was riding with him, all denied they were racing. Donatt said Banks was driving at about a 25-mile rate and that Hodges passed them at about 30 miles an hour just before they reached the intersection where the accident oc-

SUES FOR DAMAGE TO LAWN

Dr. G. A. Meyer of Springfield, Mo., Seeks Payment From Roofing Company.

Dr. G. A. Meyer, Springfield, Mo., filed suit in Circuit Court today against the Mound City Roofing Til eCorporation, 3301-09 Morganford Road, for $2775 actual damages and $10,000 punitive damages.

Dr Meyer alleges that the actual damages were suffered when he was compelled to put a new roofing on his house, garage, and kennels when some dull green tile put on by the company became discolored and cracked. He seeks punitive damages on the ground that some of the tiles fell from the roof, damaging his shrubbery and that defecitve tiles caused water to leak on the ground and spoil the appearance of his lawn.

$700 Check Forgery.

When a check for $700 was returned yesterday as a forgery, Charles Benson, in charge of the W. A. Gill Jewelry Co., 431 North Broadway, asked police to find a man who had identified himself as an accountant with offices in the Arcade Building and last Saturday gave him a check for a diamond ring. The forgery was discovered when the accountant told bank employes he had given no check to the jewelry company.

Stray Shot Hits Girl.

Walking with a girl companion in the 2400 block of North Kingshighway yesterday afternoon, Ruth O'Leary, 14-year-old daughter of Clem O'Leary, 4258A Euclid avenue, was struck in the back by a small pellet, thought to have been fired from an air rifle or small firearm. The shot was removed. Two boys were said to have been shooting at a target in the vicinity.

Frigidaire offers greater beauty . . enclosed mechanical parts . . low operating cost . . low prices . . and the "Cold Control" for quicker freezing of ice cubes and desserts

The Frigidaire "Cold Control" has introduced a new standard in electric refrigeration. It is as important as a gas regulator on an oven.

TODAY Frigidaire embodies a standard of design and renders a service that can not be duplicated by any other electric refrigerator or type of refrigeration. It is beautiful, simple, practical. Every mechanical part is enclosed, out of sight, away from dust and dirt. The sturdy steel cabinet is lined with seamless Porcelain-on-steel with rounded corners, lustrous white . . . easy to clean. The waist-high shelves make stooping unnecessary.

And Frigidaire's extra-powerful mechanism meets the heaviest demands for refrigeration easily . . . at low cost. It has the power to keep food well below 50° no matter how hot the weather or how warm your kitchen. And it is incredibly quiet. You don't hear it start, stop, or run.

In addition, Frigidaire gives you the patented Frigidaire "Cold Control" for faster freezing of ice cubes, salads and desserts. You have six different freezing speeds that you can use at will. And the self-sealing Frigidaire ice trays retain the cold and speed the freezing process still further.

These and other important features have caused more Frigidaires to be bought than all other electric refrigerators combined. And, as a result, you can now buy the new Frigidaire . . . with all its improvements . . . at the lowest prices ever offered. Let us give you complete information about the new Frigidaire and the liberal monthly terms. See a demonstration. Visit our showroom—today.

Let us help you win in big $25,000.00 contest

Come into our display room. Learn why 50° is the safety point for perishable foods. SOUTHWEST RADIO SHOW OPENS MONDAY

Development of Broadcasting Will Be Demonstrated at Coliseum Exposition.

An exhibit illustrating the history of radio from the day of primitive instruments to its present state of development will be one of the features of the fifth annual Southwest National Radio Exposition, which starts Monday at the Coliseum.

A demonstration of unusual experiments that can be performed with radio waves will be given by Bernays Johnson, inventor, and daily appearances of such announcers and soloists as Alois Havrilla, Redferne Hollinshear, Henry Burbig and Irene Beasley will be on the program. The show will end on Saturday, Sept. 21.

Local stations will broadcast entertainment features from a special studio, from which St. Louis radio artists will perform.

STATE GROUP MAKING SURVEY AT UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

Three Investigators Studying Building Needs, Administration, Costs And Other Problems.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 10. — Three staff investigators of the State Survey Commission, which will report to Gov. Caulfield in November, started a survey of facilities and needs of the University of Missouri here yesterday.

Dr. E. S. Evenden, professor of education at Columbia University, New York, is in charge of surveying the state teachers' training program, and Dr. D. P. Cottrell, assistant professor of education in college administration at Columbia University, has charge of the administrative investigation. They are accompanied by Ray L. Hamon, specialist in school building construction, in charge of the program for Miami, (Fla. schools the last three years.

Dr. Evenden will inspect Lincoln University, the five state teachers' colleges and the teacher training schools, while Cottrell and Hamon will concentrate on the university, Lincoln University at Jefferson City and the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla.

The three are investigating building needs, maintenance costs, curriculum problems, faculty personnel and salaries, internal administration and other phases.

COURT MAY ORDER FLOOD FUND DEPOSIT

Judge Faris Says Money Must Be Disbursed Through Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 10.—Federal Judge Faris of St. Louis held court here yesterday to give the Government permission to file amended petitions in its condemnation suits for the right-of-way of the setback levee to limit the Missouri floodway.

He docketed the cases for Nov. 18 here, so that the Government by publication could include as parties defendant all unknown levee and drainage district bondholders who might be affected. He indicated that he contemplated requiring the Government to deposit in the registry of the court the $200,000 fund which has been held in the United States Treasury to cover purchase of the 28-mile strip of land, 60 feet wide, for the right-of-way.

Purchase of the 2027 acres at an average price of $50 an acre, the Court explained, would require $101,350. This would leave in the hands of the Court nearly $99,000 for the satisfaction of incidental damages, such as the cutting of drainage ditches, bisection of farms and removal of buildings.

The Government had planned, he observed, to purchase any parcels of the land upon which it could arrive at a price agreement with the landholders, but had no right to buy any land without consent of the bondholders.

Neither, he remarked, would the court's orders be binding upon the Treasury. He said that the only way to disburse the money was to have it in the court registry.

The setback levee is to protect land west of the floodway between Bird's Point and New Madrid. The present levee at the river bank will be strengthened and kept at full height except for a section at the upper end, which will be lowered three feet in three years when the setback levee is to be completed, in order to admit excess waters from the Mississippi in extreme floods, predicted to occur about once in 10 years.

QUEZON, FILIPINO LEADER, INDICATES HE WILL RETIRE

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Sept. 10.—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and for many years a leader in the fight for Philippine independence, indicated yesterday that he soon would retire from public life.

Addressing the Senate, Quezon predicted that Senator Sergio Osmena would return to the leadership of the Filipinos in Governmental affairs.

Quezon is suffering from tuberculosis from which he became ill in December, 1927, while on an independence mission to the United States. There are reports that he will be forced to take a long rest, probably in Switzerland. Quezon became Filipino leader in 1916 when he was elected President of the newly-founded Philippine Senate. He replaced Osmena, who had been leader since 1907, as speaker of the Philippine Assembly.

HOUSE MEMBERS INFORMED WORK WILL RESUME OCT. 14

Speaker Longworth Changes Date Because of Expected Senate Fight Over Tariff.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Although the House recess ends Sept. 23, its members were being notified by mail today that no business will be transacted until Oct. 14.

Under a resolution adopted prior to the recess taken in June, Speaker Longworth was allowed to change the date set for resumption of legislative business depending on circumstances.

With likelihood of an early Senate agreement on the tariff bill remote, Longworth consulted with Representatives Tilson and Garner, the Republican and Democratic leaders, respectively. The Oct. 14 date for getting down to work was agreed upon.

BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW FOR MARITAL DIFFICULTIES

A "mother complex" on the part of her husband was given by Mrs. Florence Smith, 6650 Chamberlain avenue, as her reason for asking a divorce from Percy A. Smith, 2429A Laflin avenue, employed by a railway express company, in a suit filed yesterday.

Mrs. Smith, who alleges general indignities, charges her husband with spending most of his time during their married life with his mother, to the neglect of his home. She further complains that he unfavorably compared her housekeeping with that of his mother, and that he had a habit of eating meals at his mother's house without telling her that he would not be home.

Robert B. Roosevelt Dies.

City Detective Sam Ryckman of East St. Louis, suffered a fracture of the right hand and bruises about the body last night when he was struck by an automobile while directing heavy traffic at Ninth street and Lake avenue.

He refused to prosecute the driver of the car, L. C. Bell, manager of the Illinois Light Power and Light Co., at Venice, who said that he did not see the officer in time to avoid the accident.

BOY KILLED BY ELEVATOR

Shaderick Hardin, 14 years old, a Negro, was killed at 4 p. m. yesterday when he thrust his head over the side of a freight elevator at the Hampton-Hall Apartments, 4408 McPherson avenue.

Hardin, employed to run errands at the apartment, was on his way to the ninth floor to deliver laundry to a tenant and was riding on an automatic elevator. In looking downward at the sixth floor his head struck an iron beam and was severed from the body.

GOOD TO THE LAST CRUMB

All the minerals in these fruits and vegetables are contained in "CAP-SHEAF" bread

What "Cap-Sheaf" Is

Unlike all others, this bread brings you the germ, the bran, the whole of the wheat. Sixteen essential minerals, all potent with the nourishing properties of the grain. You do not get them in graham flour—you do not get them in other so called whole wheat bread. Here is why. Locked up in each kernel, protected from the air by the bran coating, is the germ. When ground, deterioration begins. For commercial handling in large quantities the germ and bran are removed. This takes away over three-fourths of the vitalizing and life sustaining elements. Thus milled the flour will keep but it lacks what common sense demands of a food. "CAP-SHEAF" is different. The life germ, the bran, the salts and minerals and oils are kept for you. How? By grinding fresh flour daily. It goes from mill to oven in the most delicious bread mankind has ever produced. Healthful, naturally. It's the finest food on earth.

What It Does

"CAP-SHEAF" lets you feel and taste the difference a natural food makes. So perfectly balanced that you respond naturally to its tonic effect. Bright eyes, alert minds, sound sinewy bodies result. Taste this bread. Judge it. See what it does for you. Try it as marvelous toast. Get the best of the grain that sun bronzed men the world over reap for you. Serve "CAP-SHEAF" along with the bread you have been using. Let the family decide. "Thought for Health"... KMOX ... Tune in. Every morning.

So important in summer . . .
this deodorizing sanitary protection

Avoid all danger of offense in summer! . . . this new, deodorizing pad makes it easy to be safe

SUMMER makes certain days particularly trying to dainty women. It is then you learn to really appreciate Kotex!

You learn to depend on Kotex for complete deodorization . . . to depend on it to save you from all danger of offense to others.

Special features of Kotex

Kotex is carefully designed to avoid all conspicuous bulk. It is rounded and tapered, so that no revealing outline shows, even under summer's filmiest frocks.

Kotex completely does away with old-time fuss and laundering. It disposes instantly, without embarrassment.

Always light and cool

Kotex, too, is so wonderfully comfortable, so light and cool and dainty! Its absorbent filler, Cellucotton absorbent wadding, is selected by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals, because of its amazing power of absorption.

Kotex actually absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture! So it protects completely without bulk or weight.

Kotex is Soft . . .
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.
3—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used practically exclusively by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

PATENTED PAVERS GET THIRD OF JOBS OVER PROTESTS

Contractors' Receipts.

Total city paving business of the 11 contractors getting more than $500,000 each in the last four years has been:

Granite Bituminous Paving Co., $1,951,073.

Central Paving & Construction Co., $1,615,153.

Skrainka Consruction Co., handling non-asphaltic types, $785,181.

C. A. Moreno, Sewer Commissioner under Mayor Kreismann, who has handled sheet asphalt and lately was successful in invading the Warrenite field, $757,637.

M. L. Flinn, who has handled sheet asphalt, $694,765.

Joseph Kesl & Sons, who have handled non-asphaltic types, $531,631.

Crean & Scott Construction Co. which has handled sheet asphalt, $510,824.

Together these 11 contractors got $12,547,585, or better than four-fifths, of all the city paving business in the last four years. The small remainder was apportioned among 22 contractors.

Sudden Break in Prices.

The 1929 city paving program, most of which has been contracted for, comprises 151 projects for a total of 588,480 square yards of pavement (exclusive of concrete gutters), at an estimated cost of $3,651,420.

Included in the 1929 program are 152,565 square yards of Warrenite, at estimated cost of $991,354, and 47,370 square yards of Amiesite, at estimated cost of $398,736, a total of 199,935 square yards of the two patented types, at an estimated aggregate cost of $1,290,090—approximately one-third of the whole program going to the patented paving contractors. Last year, when the city did a record volume of paving, 320,345 square yards, or one-third, out of the total of 946,570 went in Warrenite and Amiesite.

Besides President Kinsey, in whose department the paving is done, the Board of Public Service members are Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, Director of Public Welfare Salisbury, Director of Public Utilities Rilliet and Director of Public Safety Steininger.

It has been apparent that the other members look to Kinsey and Brooks, who are engineers familiar with construction matters, for guidance concerning designation of types of pavements.

Kinsey contends this board has had a long enough experience to back its judgment on patented pavements. He could not estimate what extra life patented types might have in excess of non-patented, but insisted the difference in life justified the extra cost, notwithstanding the Municipal Research Bureau's contrary opinion.

Senses an "Agreement."

"No conclusions can be drawn from the bids of the last two months. They give no reasonable indication of what is fair cost and what is reasonable profit on the different types, because there is a war on among the contractors. There was a stiffening of sheet asphalt prices at the beginning of this year that indicated to me a 'gentlemen's agreement,' but that has broken down. I can't explain the situation, but a change in the price of materials (sand and gravel have gone up) may be an explanation, as they claim. However, the increases were still within the limits of our estimates, which were the same as last year's estimates."

Kinsey declined to express a conclusion about what he termed the contractors' "war."

Director Brooks says he has an opinion about value of patented pavements, but declines to express it until he had opportunity to give detailed engineering reasons.

Director Salisbury does not think four years' experience on the board qualifies him to pass on the relative value of pavement types, but declines to give his reasons for voting for patented materials. "Why don't you ask Brooks?" he said.

Directors Steininger and Rilliet, who joined the board last spring, admit they are not familiar with paving matters, but they have not yet participated in hearings to determine the types of pavement.

The Bureau of Municipal Research notified affected property owners about the eight hearings on pavement types held from Dec. 18 to May 10, the latest, which involved about 100 street projects of asphaltic type. It called attention to "excessive cost of the patented materials" and as a result many taxpayers appeared before the Board of Public Service to demand sheet asphalt—a demand which the board sometimes acceded to, but frequently disregarded aggression on the other army, each describing their own actions as defensive and those of the other as offensive.

The Soviet Government through the German Ambassador protested to the Nanking and Mukden Governments against what were described as unwarranted attacks on Soviet territory by Chinese and Russian White Guards. The Soviet note warned the Chinese that continuance of such attacks was likely to incur grave consequences.

The note stated that Soviet troops had been compelled to take firm retaliatory actions for the protection of the Siberian frontier and its peaceful population. It was alleged that there had been 19 new attacks by Chinese and the White Guards for which the Nanking and Mukden Governments were fully responsible.

Inquiry Into Alleged Outrages by Chinese.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The German Ambassador in Moscow yesterday submitted to the Russian Government a reply to the Russian request for additional protection of Russian citizens in China.

German officials in China have been asked to look after the interests of Russians and a German consular official in Harbin has been ordered to make a personal investigation in Manchuria. The German Minister in Peiping will make a special report of the whole Russian-Chinese situation.

Meanwhile the Russian Government has been urged to abstain from reprisals until the report from Peiping has been received. The German Government informed Moscow it "distinctly resents" the Russian Government's accusation of negligence on the part of German representatives, also the publication of the Russian note of criticism which was based on unconfirmed reports. Instead of being negligent, the German Government said its consular and diplomatic force in North China had been strengthened to protect Russian interests and suggested this work would be furthered if the Russian Government would make complaints direct to German officials in China.

The German Government furthermore has requested the names of "dozens of Russian citizens" alleged in the last Russian note, to have been executed in China; also the details of such executions, without which German action would be useless.

$2,152,000 ARSENAL SEWER PROJECT OK'D

Board of Public Service Acts on Ordinances — Funds From Two Sources.

The Board of Public Service today approved two proposed ordinances appropriating $785,000 of bond issue funds and assessing $1,367,000 in special taxes for the Southern-Arsenal joint relief sewer.

The sewer, which will require about two years to build, will drain the area between Spring avenue and the Mississippi River, Sidney street to Meramec street. It is expected that the ordinance will be passed by the Board of Aldermen late this month and work started next spring. The sewer is the last of the large bond issue sewer projects.

The Board of Public Service, on the recommendation of President Kinsey, rejected the bids of the

It is expected that the ordinance will be passed by the Board of Aldermen late this month and work started next spring. The sewer is the last of the large bond issue sewer projects.

The Board of Public Service, on the recommendation of President Kinsey, rejected the bids of the Modern Heating Co. and the Charles Quinn Plumbing Co. for the installation of heating apparatus and plumbing in the Children's Building (formerly the House of Detention). Both concerns were low bidders, but Kinsey objected to the Modern Heating Co. on the ground that the concern installed the original heating plant in the building in an unsatisfactory manner, and told the board that the Quinn company is a nonunion concern and the presence of its workmen would cause trouble with union mechanics doing other work on the building. Quinn, who bid $2966 for the job, agreed to withdraw, Kinsey said.

The plumbing contract was awarded to the second low bidder, William Hunt & Son, at $3421. The Guarantee Heating & Engineering Co. was awarded the heating contract at $5575, which is $328 more than the low bid.

Patented Snoring Cure.

LOBENSTEIN, Germany, Sept. 10.—Johann Gruener, a mechanic, has patented a reputed cure for snoring. By the use of a pillow the mouth is formed to remain closed and the sleeper is forced to breathe through the nose.

"A smooth skin is most important to every girl whether she is a motion picture player or not. I find Lux Toilet Soap delightfully pure and refreshing."

Billie Dove.

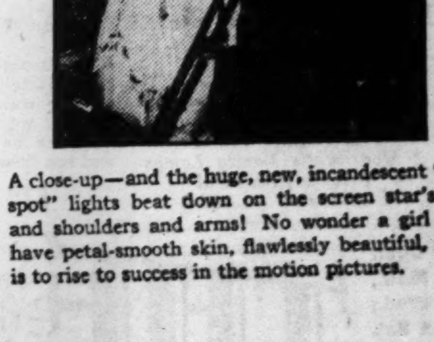
"For real loveliness a girl must have exquisite smooth skin," say 39 leading directors

PETAL-SMOOTH skin—how subtly and surely it wins its way into hearts everywhere!

"Smooth, flawless skin is beauty's greatest asset," says Al Rocket, production manager for First National. "The perfection of an exquisite skin is much more to the screen star—or to any woman—than any other physical quality."

To keep their skin really lovely for the screen, nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. In Hollywood, of the 451 important actresses, including all stars, 442 care for their skin with this daintily fragrant white soap. And all the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

You'll love the way it leaves your skin so petal-smooth! You'll be delighted with its quick, generous lather in your bath, too, and for the shampoo. Ample, caressing lather even in hard water—for Lux Toilet Soap is made by the famous French method. Buy several cakes—today.



A close-up—and the huge, new, incandescent "sun-spot" lights beat down on the screen star's face and shoulders and arms! No wonder a girl must have petal-smooth skin, flawlessly beautiful, if she is to rise to success in the motion pictures.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING CHARGES AGAINST R. S. BENNETT

St. Louis Lawyer Accused of Conspiracy to Kill West Frankfort Man for Insurance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. Sept. 10.—The Jackson County grand jury is expected to report late today on its investigation of an alleged conspiracy by R. Shad Bennett, St. Louis lawyer, against the life of Olin King, bankrupt West Frankfort butcher, on whose life Bennett held insurance policies as part security for a debt of $20,000.

Bennett, who surrendered to St. Louis police last July and was released on bond following the issuance of a warrant sworn to by King, has denied any knowledge of the alleged plot.

John Henderson, informer of the St. Louis police department, who has stated Bennett paid him $200 on account for the alleged attempt on King's life, was heard by the grand jury yesterday and King was called as today's witness.

According to Henderson's story King was apprised of the alleged plot and was not harmed. King disappeared voluntarily, he later stated, to make it appear he had been slain.

CURTAILED FOOD SUPPLY FOR JEWS IN JERUSALEM

Boycott on Arab Products Complicates Situation—Rice Alone Served at One Large Hotel.

By the Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 10.—Scattered disorders of a minor character were reported today from over Palestine. Moslem Arabs and Jews generally, however, settled to their old routine of life adjoining one another.

Jewish housewives found themselves hard put to get food following the spreading of stories that Arab fruit dealers had poisoned goods sold to Jews. A Jewish boycott of Arab products also complicated the food problem and the leading Jewish hotel in Jerusalem was able to serve only rice at one meal.

In Jerusalem a parade by British soldier wearing steel helmets and carrying fixed bayonets late yesterday was accepted as an attempt to allay any panic, Jews of the old city having become apprehensive when large numbers of Moslems began to leave their homes.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency says that the grave in which 64 victims of the Hebron rioting were buried would be opened as soon as possible. Representations were made by the Rabbinate that it was too shallow and had been dug by others than Jews. The authorities will take advantage of the removal to examine the bodies.

Jews Abandon Acre.

Jews of Acre, except for 48 who are under arrest, have abandoned the town in favor of Haifa after the alleged stoning of several Jews in the former place.

A committee of Hebron refugees has submitted to the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, a memorandum accusing Aarif el Aarif, administrative officer of Bersera, and two Arab sheiks as instigators of Moslem disturbances in mosques and streets. It is also alleged that the administrative officer in Hebron, Abdullah Kardsis, to whom rabbis applied for help during the trouble there, quieted their fears and prevented them from getting in touch with Jerusalem by telephone.

The authors of the memorandum demand suspension of the administrative officers and the police chief and summoning of these officials for trial.

Demand for Impartial Judges.

The high commissioner received an Arab delegation, which protested against the proclamation of the high commissioner on Sept. 1. They demanded absolutely impartial judges in the criminal courts when the cases connected with the disturbances are tried and asked that the Government take further action to disarm Jews and prevent continuance of alleged Jewish attacks on Arabs.

The Grand Mufti of Arabs in Palestine told journalists he had received telegrams from Moslems in Bombay, Delhi, Calcutta, Bagdad and Mecca "protesting against Jewish attacks upon the holy places of Islam and against the Balfour declaration." They promised full support to their Moslem compatriots in Palestine, he said.

YOUTH SOUGHT IN KILLING OF HARRISBURG (MO.) WOMAN

Son of Mrs. Nannie Le Master's Neighbor Suspected of Shooting Her and Daughter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 10.—While a Coroner's jury resumed the inquest here today into the death of Mrs. Nannie Le Master, who was shot to death near Harrisburg last Friday night, officers were seeking Willard Bruce, son of a neighbor of Mrs. Le Master.

Elmer Bruce, father of the missing youth, turned over to authorities a rifle he said his son went hunting with last Saturday. He found the rifle in an orchard near his home. Bruce's son has not been seen since he appeared at the Le Master home a short time before the murder.

Mrs. Henrietta Riley, daughter of the slain woman, testified her mother was shot by an assailant who was on horseback. Mrs. Riley was wounded when she ran to her mother's aid. Young Bruce was on horseback when last seen.

SOVIET PLANTS TO MAKE DOLLAR WATCHES AND CLOCKS

Manufacturers Buy Two American Factories to Be Shipped to Russia.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The New York Times says Soviet Russia has made plans to manufacture for the first time the American dollar watch and alarm clock.

To manufacture inexpensive watches and clocks the Soviet Precision and Machinery Trust has bought through Amtorg Trading Corporation the entire equipment of two American factories, the Ansonia Clock Co.'s plant in Brooklyn and the Dueber-Hampden Watch Co.'s plant at Canton, O.

An Amtorg representative said the equipment would be sent to Moscow and would be ready for production in 1931. Foremen from the American factories are expected to go to Moscow to assist in reassembling the machinery and erecting the plants.

1500 FIGHT FOREST FIRES IN WESTERN OREGON

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 10.—Thick clouds of smoke hung over this city and limited visibility to a half mile today as hundreds of men attempted to stop the advance of forest fires on scores of fronts in Western Oregon. Forest officials here described the situation as the worst in many years.

Coos and Curry Counties on the coast were the hardest hit. The most serious blazes in that district were reported in the Port Orford area, extending from the port city to Elk River, center of the white cedar industry.

"We have more than 1500 men on the fire lines now," was the message from leaders of the bands that sought to extinguish flames that once reached the main street of Port Orford. "And we may have to ask for outside help today."

Reports from Port Orford said several homes within the limits of the city had been destroyed by sundry flames.

Krupp Plant Bars Women.

By the Associated Press.

ESSEN, Germany, Sept. 10.—By the ironclad rule of a woman, no woman has ever entered the gigantic Krupp plant except the former Kaiserin. The regulation was laid down by Frau Margarethe Krupp, for years chief director, and continued in force by her daughter, the present owner, Frau Bertha Krupp von Boklen und Halbach.

PARIS SHOW CROWDS DECLINE

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Disappearance of American films from French screens, Courrier Cinematographique said today, has caused a decrease of 50 per cent in the revenues of French movie houses during the past month as compared with the same period in 1928.

The paper added that officers of the French Film Syndicate were being pressed by the exhibitors to resign because they had failed to reach an agreement with the American producers. Some movie houses in Paris, unable to get good pictures, have been reduced to reproductions of films shown in the past few years.

Senator Nye Charges Operators Fill Storage Places to Force Farmers to Sell.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Senator Nye (Rep.) North Dakota, said today an immediate investigation of the availability of wheat storage places in the Northwest had been assured him by Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board.

The North Dakotan said he had omplained to Legge and Samuel cKelvie, the wheat representative on the board, that the grain operators of Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago had deliberately loaded the wheat elevators of the Northwest with grain from the Southwestern states, thereby forcing the farmers to dump their crops on the market at current prices.

Legge, he said, advised him investigators already had been sent into the field.

JUDGE TELLS WIFE TO PAINT UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—It is just as important for a wife to keep herself attractive as it for her to keep the house clean, in the opinion of Jeanette G. Brill, a Brooklyn magistrate.

When Mrs. Bessie Schmierer complained of her husband's attentions in other quarters, the Magistrate imposed the following sentence on the complainant: "Go to the nearest drug store, get yourself some rouge, powder and lipstick and make yourself attractive to your husband."

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF $480,000 SWINDLE

Mrs. Maria J. Leslie Charged With Defrauding Wanamaker's in Jewelry Sale.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. — Mrs. Marie Leslie, a modishly dressed matron, 60 years old or more, who surrendered to General Sessions Judge Allen yesterday and announced her willingness to stand trial on indictments charging that she swindled Wanamaker's out of jewelry valued at $480,000 in June, 1928, today entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of grand larceny. Her bond was fixed at $10,000, which her attorney said would be raised later today.

The little woman, white haired and with a ready smile, seemed not to comprehend the gravity of her predicament, and said she was "all at sea about the whole matter." Alleged to be the member of a wealthy and socially prominent family, her father was the late Edward P. Eastwick, Philadelphia sugar refiner. The Eastwicks entertained King Edward VII, when, as Prince of Wales, he visited America. She was taken to Harlem jail.

"My people are all millionaires," she asserted, "and if they will not come forward with my bail why, of course, I will have to make the best of it. I feel better now that I have surrendered. But why do the police want me? Everything has been paid up and I thought the case was settled."

Mrs. Leslie received considerable publicity a year ago last spring when Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, wife of the Baltimore patent medicine manufacturer, refused to pay Wanamaker's for extensive jewelry purchases Mrs. Leslie had made at the New York store, ostensibly acting on authority of Mrs. Emerson. For two years Mrs. Leslie had been employed as housekeeper at Brookland Wood, country place of Capt. and Mrs. Emerson, and on several occasions, had bought articles at Wanamaker's which she sent to Mrs. Emerson for approval and which always were paid for promptly.

Mrs. Leslie is alleged to have taken the jewels, valued at $480,000 retail, to Harry Winston, a dealer, and to have tried to sell them to him for $91,000, again claiming she acted on authorization of Mrs. Emerson. She is alleged to have told Winston Mrs. Emerson needed money badly "to pay Freddy's gambling debts at Monte Carlo." Mrs. Emerson has a son, Frederick McCormick, by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Emerson subsequently denied having authorized Mrs. Leslie to buy the jewelry for her or having sought to raise money to meet her son's obligations.

BETHLEHEM STEEL TO RETIRE FUNDED DEBT

Follows Lead of U. S. Corporation in Announcing Financial Plan.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. — The Bethlehem Steel Corporation followed the lead of United States Steel Coproration today in announcing the first step in a program of retirement of funded debt. The corporation will offer 800,000 shares of additional stock at $110 a share to stockholders in the ratio of one new share for each three shares held. Part of the proceeds will be used to redeem the $50,166,000 in 30-year sinking fund 6 per cent mortgage bonds, series A.

Eugene G. Grace, president, stated, that it was the intention of the corporation to call for redemption on Feb. 1, 1930, at 105 and accrued interest of this issue of 6 per cent bonds. This will leave the parent company with total funded debt of less than $35,000,000, there will remain, however, approximately $114,000,000 in funded debt of subsidiaries.

Upon issue of the additional common stock, Bethlehem will have outstanding 1,000,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock and 3,200,000 shares of no par common. Last June, 600,000 shares of stock were offered to stockholders at $100 a share for purposes of plant improvement and expansion.

TRADE JOURNAL REPORT SHOWS OIL PRODUCTION DECREASE

TULSA, Ok., Sept. 10.—Bolstered by continued increases in the Oklahoma City pool, Oklahoma was the only major area in the United States during the week ended Sept. 7 which reported an increase in its estimated daily average production of crude oil, the Oil and Gas Journal says today. The total average daily output for the nation was 2,951,790 bbls., a decrease of 18,374 bbls. from the total for the week ended Aug. 31.

The Oklahoma City pool's increase for the week was 4915 bbls. The total increase for Oklahoma, however, was but 825 bbls. The entire midcontinent area was approximately 5000 bbls. below the mark for Aug. 31.

In the California area the deep drilling pool at Santa Fe Springs dropped approximately 21,000 bbls. in its daily average. The total decrease for the entire State was 20,000 in light oil and 3000 in heavy oil.

Ajax Rubber Report.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A net loss of $504,920 for the six months ending June 30, was reported today by the Ajax Rubber Co. and subsidiaries, compared with a net loss of $846,001 in the corresponding period last year.

SHOE STOCK ON LOCAL MARKET AT NEW HIGH

International Shoe Up More Than Point—St. Louis Union Trust Also at New Peak—Some Declines.

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Sept. 10.—International Shoe recorded another new high, an advance of more than a point today.

St. Louis Union Trust recorded a new top.

National Candy and Moloney Electric sold lower.

Laclede Christy sold at 185 today, compared with 166 yesterday. Plans for stock split up on 4 for 1 basis with offer to preferred stockholders to exchange shares for 4 new common have been announced.

Boatmen's Bank rights were higher, about 600 selling between 4 and 4½.

Mercantile-Commerce dropped back 20 points and Brown Shoe closed fractionally lower. Wagner Electric closed higher and also Bentley Stores.

Local Business and Financial Items

A capital stock reorganization of the Laclede-Christy Clay Products Co., providing for a 4-for-1 split on the common and an offer of four new shares of common for each old share of preferred stock, is outlined in a letter mailed to stockholders today over the signatures of John L. Green, president, and J. I. Baggot, secretary.

The suggested reorganization, recommended by the board of directors and subject to ratification at a special stockholders' meeting Oct. 1, would change the form of capitalization of the company from its present par value stock, divided into common and preferred, converting all into one class of no par value shares.

"The present State of the company's properties and status of its business call for some promising, profitable and almost essential capital investments beginning at once and extending over a few years at least and for additional working capital which it is scarcely fair to the stockholders to supply entirely from earnings and at the sacrifice of their dividends," says the letter to stockholders. "But the present stock issue does not lend itself to that requirement." One of the advantages claimed for the new stock is that it should command a "readier and fairer market" than the present stock.

Part of the new stock will go into the company's treasury, replacing old treasury stock, and to be issued as needed. The company will carry on business from its present capital of $4,000,000.

Dudley C. Griffith has been appointed manager of the St. Louis branch office of the National Surety Co., 214 North Fourth street, succeeding George Wendling Jr., manager for the past year, who has resigned. Griffith came here from the Chicago office of the surety company.

American Investment Co. of Illinois, in its consolidated profit and loss account for the six months ended June 29, shows net profit of $98,417 was carried to surplus for the period.

UNFILLED U. S. STEEL ORDERS SHOW 429,966 TONS DROP

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The United States Steel Corporation today reported that its unfilled tonnage declined 429,966 tons during August to a total of 3,658,211 tons as of Aug. 31. This compares with 4,088,177 on July 31. The total at the end of August, however, compares with 3,624,043 tons on Aug. 31, 1928, an increase of 34,168 tons.

Wall street had expected a substantial decline, as mills were operated around 90 per cent of capacity during the month, and there was some seasonal slackening of new buying, particularly from the automobile industry. The drop of 429,966 tons, however, was somewhat larger than most Wall street estimates had indicated.

The corporation has gradually been reducing its heavy accumulatio nof unfilled orders since last tion of unfilled orders since last on July 31 compares with 4,256,910 on June 30 and 4,304,167 on May 31.

Extra 75c on Marlin-Rockwell.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—An extra dividend of 75 cents was declared today on the common stock of Marlin-Rockwell Corporation of Jamestown, N. Y., Plainville, Conn., and Chicago, manufacturers of steel bearings, in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 50 cents. Both are payable Oct. 1, to stock of record Sept. 20. Three months ago, the company paid an extra dividend of 50 cents.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS DOWN WITH STOCKS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The depression of stocks was accompanied by a corresponding drop in convertibles on the bond market today. Extreme losses of 5 points came out in American Telephone 4½s, trading in which was the heaviest in some time, and International Telephone 4½s. Part of the declines were regained. Atchison 4½s lost a maximum of 4 points.

Utility Mortgage and debenture bonds were strong in several instances. The best gains developed in Louisville Gas & Electric 5s, Rochester Gas & Electric 7s, and Niagara Lockport & Ontario Power 5s.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The reactionary impulses which developed in the cotton market after yesterday's advance on the Government crop report, were in evidence again today. They were promoted by relatively easy cables and a feeling in some quarters that with good weather from now on the recent rains might add to the crop in the Southwest. The declines brought in covering and some trade buying, but there was liquidation and Southern selling on the bulges and the midafternoon market was quiet within 4 or 5 points of the lowest, at net declines of 28 to 32 points.

Futures closed easy, 35 to 43 points lower; October, 18.75-76c; December, 10.09-11c; January, 19.09-10c; March, 19.26-28c; May, 19.40-42c. Spot quiet; middling, 18.95c.

There was liquidation or reselling by recent buyers who were evidently influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables, reports of some further rain in the Southwest and disappointment over the market's response to the low crop figures of yesterday.

After selling at 19.35c at the start, December rallied to 19.43c or within 9 points of yesterday's closing quotations on covering, while there also appeared to be some Wall street buying, but the demand was quite readily supplied and tapered off later.

Trading was fairly active at the start, but the market became quieter after the early orders were executed, and before session had gone far prices were 12 to 17 reported hedging and Bombay selling in points net lower. Liverpool cable advices Liverpool and said there had been liquidation by disappointed bulls.

The outlook for clearing weather in the interior of the Western belt seemed to make a favorable impression following recent rains, and prices sagged off late in the morning with December selling around 19.32c and with the general list showing net declines of about 16 to 20 points at midday.

Trading was not active but some Southern hedging was reported as well as further liquidation by disappointed longs.

Art Metal Works Inc. Dividend Was Increased.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Through a confusion of names, the Associated Press last week reported that the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown, N. Y. had placed its capital stock on a $3 annual dividend basis, whereas the story should have read that the increased dividend rate was made on the capital stock of the Art Metal Works, Inc., of Newark, N. J. The Associated Press takes the opportunity of correcting the error.

GENERALLY LOWER CLOSE ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Curb market developed pronounced heaviness today. A few utilities and specialties were rapidly bid up in an effort to stem the tide of selling, but the list generally closed lower. Selling was promoted by heaviness of the stock market, several commission house warnings to th effect that a further corrective reaction was due, and firming money rates, call loans renewing at 8 per cent, then mounting to 10.

American Commonwealths Power B and National Public Service B were rushed up 6 and nearly 9 points, respectively, to record levels, but Standard Power & Light, which has recently had a spectacular rise, slipped back 7 points, and such leading issues as Electric Investors, Electric Bond & Share, Allied Power & Light, United Gas Improvement, Associated Gas A, American Gas & Electric and others closed about 2 to 6 points lower. American Superpower held steady.

U. S. Gypsum, Bulova Watch, Cohn Hall Marx and a few others reached new high ground for the year. Crocker Wheeler, a high-priced issue, jumped 15 points to a new top. Checker Cab was well bought. Several recent favorites, however, including Powdrell & Alexander, Libbey McNeil, Anchor Post Fence, Bastian Blessing, International Cigar Machinery and Gleaner Combine Harvester, lost 2 to more than 7 points. A drop of 12 points in Singer Manufacturing was explained after the close by declaration of an extra dividend of only $3.50, against $4.50 extras declared in the two previous quarters.

Merger rumors were given renewed impetus by the taking out of a charter in Maryland for a company to be called United States Electric Power Corporation, with authorized capital of 23,000,000 shares. Interests back of the new company, however, could not be identified.

Third National Investors was hurled up more than 30 points more to a new peak above 300, and Second National units, and Fourth National reached new high ground. Third National investors, however, ran into profit taking on its recent sharp rise, and closed off several points. Transamerica was again strong, reaching a new peak above 159. Shenandoah was under some pressure, and Blue Ridge, after a moderate rally, slipped back and closed steady.

Copies of a letter from Mr. George B. Clifford, President of the Corporation, with reference to the Corporation, its Capital Stock and the Voting Trust may be obtained from the undersigned. Mr. Clifford has summarized this letter in part as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

"The Cream of Wheat Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Delaware in March, 1929, acquired the entire properties and assets, subject to the liabilities, of Cream of Wheat Company, a North Dakota corporation. The business, an outgrowth of a small flour mill, consists of the processing and sale of "Cream of Wheat", a breakfast cereal.

Cream of Wheat is regularly stocked by practically every wholesale grocer and retail and chain grocery store in the United States and Canada, and is obtainable in almost every country in the civilized world. Cream of Wheat is finding its place in the diet of foreign peoples, and in 1928 was sold in 55 countries. Sales outside of the United States and Canada have doubled in the last three years and are being materially helped by increased advertising expenditures in the British Isles and South Africa.

A continuous advertising policy has been maintained for many years. With little space used at the start, advertising expenditures have been increased until now the space used represents one of the greatest advertising efforts put behind any one cereal product.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS

The consolidated net profits of The Cream of Wheat Corporation and its predecessor and subsidiary companies, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., after all charges including income taxes, for the four years ended December 31, 1928, were as follows:

Years Ended December 31	Net Profits	Per share on 600,000 shares of Capital Stock
1926	1,354,921.90	2.25
1927	1,608,212.72	2.68
1928	1,702,325.31	2.83

The net profits as defined above for the six months ended June 30, 1929, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., were $860,233.06, equivalent to $1.43 per share, as compared with $788,316.63, equivalent to $1.31 per share, for the corresponding period of 1928, as shown by the books of the predecessor and subsidiary companies.

Dividends on the Capital Stock are being paid currently at the annual rate of $2.00 per share.

VOTING TRUST

All of the Capital Stock of The Cream of Wheat Corporation has been deposited under a ten-year Voting Trust Agreement, the purpose of which is to insure continuity of the same management which has built the business up to its present successful position."

The Corporation has agreed to make application to list the Voting Trust Certificates on the New York Stock Exchange

WHEAT CLOSES LOWER ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Sept. 10.—Wheat futures closed lower and corn higher to lower, September being bid up 1c while December closed ¼c off. The trade awaited the Government figures.

Report of rain in Argentine, though there was some uncertainty as to whether it was where desired, was credited with influencing early price trend. The pending U. S. crop report, due after close of market, tended to restrict trade. Liverpool closed ⅝d to 1¼d lower. Winnipeg was off early. There was report of rain at points in Iowa and Nebraska. Corn, however, was off slightly.

December wheat opened at $1.39. May wheat $1.49. December corn $1.00⅛.

Local wheat receipts which were 117,600 bushels, compared with 611,800 a week ago and 260,400 a year ago, included 61 cars local and 23 through. Corn receipts, which were 37,800 bushels, compared with 191,800 a week ago and 77,000 a year ago, included 23 cars local and 4 through. Oats receipts, which were 52,800 bushels, compared with 57,200 a week ago and 64,000 a year ago included 16 cars local and 8 through. Hay receipts were 18 cars local and 4 cars through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

WHEAT—No. 2 red winter, $1.34¼@1.36; No. 3, $1.30@1.32; No. 4, $1.28; No. 2 red garlicky, $1.30; No. 3 red garlicky, $1.23@1.29; No. 2 hard, $1.29@1.30; No 3 hard, $1.26@1.27; No. 2 yellow hard, $1.30; No. 3 yellow hard, $1.29; No. 2 mixed, $1.30.

CORN—No. 1 mixed, $1.04; No. 2 yellow, $1.04; No. 6 yellow, $1.01; No. 1 white, $1.05; No. 2 white, $1.05.

CHICAGO GRAINS LOWER IN CLOSING TRADES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—From start to finish, speculative sellers had the advantage in the wheat market today, and the finish was near to the lowest level reached. Persistent slackness of export demand for wheat from North America was a notable depressing factor. Declines were in the face of the fact that a Chicago observer reiterated an estimate of only 200,000,000 bushels 1929 yield of wheat in Canada, an amount decidedly less than indicated by latest figures from Canadian crop experts.

Wheat closed unsettled ½c to ⅝c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c off to ⅛c up. Oats unchanged to ⅜c down, and provisions varying from 7c decline to 7c advance.

Canadian grain cleared from Atlantic ports in the United States last week totaled 615,000 bushels compared with 958,000 for the previous week. Exports of North American wheat flour were 181,000 barrels for the last week against 230,000 barrels during the previous week.

Traders were cautious about selling on declines, however, in view of the expected Government crop report this afternoon. Opening at ⅛c to ⅜c setback, wheat dropped a little further and then rallied somewhat. With frost reported in Iowa, corn and oats developed firmness, corn starting unchanged to ⅝c off, and later scoring gains all around. Provisions were easy.

Although rain reports from Argentina had considerable effect at times today in depressing wheat prices, later advices said the moisture was either slight or was not where most needed. Meanwhile, more or less uncertainty regarding the monthly official crop estimates from Washington this afternoon might indicate as to wheat production tended to exert a steadying influence. Strength shown at times by the corn market tended also as helpful toward rallies in wheat prices.

General expectation today was that the Government report would show a reduction in the estimated yield of corn this season. Besides, various points in Iowa and Nebraska reported frost last night in lowlands. There was also a forecast of frost tonight northwest. Corn prices advances, nevertheless, were not well maintained.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Treasury receipts for Sept. 7 were $7,017,505, expenditures $18,874,322, balance $58,004,317.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Bar silver, 24d per ounce. Money, 4⅝ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5⅜ per cent. Three months, 5½ per cent.

PARIS, Sept 10.—Price changes were irregular on the Bourse today. Three per cent rentes 76 francs 50 centimes. Five per cent loan 104 francs 65 centimes. Exchange on London 123 francs 89½ centimes. The dollar was quoted at 25 francs 56 centimes.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The raw sugar market was quieter today, but offerings were light with buyers showing continued interest at last paid prices of 4.02 for spots duty paid. The only sale reported was 13,500 bags of Porto Ricas to a local refiner at the quoted price.

Raw futures opened at advances of 1 to 3 points on a continuation of yesterday's buying movement and further covering, promoted by the firmer European markets and the continued steadiness of the spot market. Offerings increased on the upturn, however, and partial setbacks followed under liquidation or realizing, with the list at mid-day net unchanged to 1 point higher. Private cables from London said the market there was firmer as a result of continued dry weather on the continent.

A good inquiry for refined was reported at the 5.30 level for fine granulated with buyers contracting for 30 day's requirements in advance of tomorrow's advance of 5.40, and stimulated by the continued strength of the spot market.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximated sales, 75,000 tons. September, 2.25c; December, 2.27c; January, 2.27c; March, 2c; May, 2.33c; July, 2.40c.

The first sales of the single selling sugar agency in Cuba, which was inaugurated on Sept. 1, was announced today at prices unchanged from those prevailing for uncontrolled sugar. They consisted of 73,500 bags of Cuban at 4.02 delivered and 35,000 bags at equal to about 4.07 delivered to operators for second half of September shipment.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10.

THESE movie stars lead a life of scented silken ease. Everybody knows that. Mary Brian has been enjoying her first vacation in many moons. Do you know the postman who hikes on his day off? Mary has been "catching up" on her movies, seeing pictures she missed while working on her own.

MARY BRIAN

Many stars have been working almost wholly at night, since talkies came, with breakfast at twilight, lunch at midnight, and retiring at dawn.

That is being changed largely now, as more sound stages are available for day recording. But for a while Mary Brian, for one, was beginning to resemble a hothouse lily, so seldom did she see the sunshine.

That was why going on location for "The Virginian," up in the hot open spaces of northern California was like a lark to her. It was her first location trip since talkies set in. And as a result her naturally white complexion now glows with a very faint coat of tan.

MARY BRIAN, when one looks over the field of "rising young stars," stands out like a bright red flower in a virtually barren desert. Personally she has changed little since the filming of "Peter Pan" four years ago, in which "Wendy" gave her a movie start, except that the four years have added grace and charm.

All who know her say she is the "same sweet girl." But now she is developing into an actress as well. Many held that she stole the "River of Romance" from Charlie Rogers, the star, and in her next effort she is to have an opportunity fraught dramatic role, in "The Children," from Edith Wharton's novel.

Mary is one actress who has yet to create a sensation in the movies, still, since her first picture, the fans have been giving her, through fan mail from year to year, a steadily larger "hand."

THOUSANDS of movies have ended in a fade-out clinch beside moonlit waters, and dozens of talkies have lapsed into ultimate silence with an ecstatic "Yes-I'll-marry-you-Roderick!"

But no longer may the moviegoer settle down comfortably in his seat, serene in the knowledge that whatever vicarious perils and misunderstandings and intrigues the hero may survive in the picture, in the end he will vicariously embrace the heroine and look forward to living happily ever after.

HAL SKELLY

For the most part, the talkies have heeded the mandates of Pollyanna, and sugar-coated endings probably will prevail for aye. But not without challenge from the school of realism.

Several talkies recently have acknowledged death as one of the facts of life, inexorable even when it comes at the end of a movie. Consider "The Valiant" and "Thunderbolt," both of which bowed out with the hero en route to the gallows.

* * *

But now comes "Womantrap," which is tragic and real, even though it does end in an off-screen clinch. Hal Skelly as a hard-boiled law enforcer, Evelyn Brent as his fiery sweetheart with a crook brother (Leslie Fenton), by whom Hal does his duty, and Chester Morris, as Hal's crook brother, are involved in a net they weave themselves, with a little aid from fate.

Human loves and human hates play battledore and shuttlecock until the climactic situation which is almost, but not quite, beyond the power of human control. Chester sees to the "not quite"—but it is tragic and unrelenting despite the off-screen clinch.

* * *

Mary Philbin has achieved a unique position in the film colony. She has become a "star of retakes." For about a year the small and wistful heroine who first broke into screen fame in "Merry-Go-Round" has not appeared before the camera in a new picture. Yet she is still under contract, and has been working fairly steadily for her substantial weekly check.

MARY PHILBIN

The talkies are responsible for that, as they are for most of Hollywood's oddities at present. "The Man Who Laughs" was the last picture in which Mary appeared before talkies set in. That, in which she starred with Conrad Veidt, now gone back to his native land by reason of those same talkies, which would not accept his accent, has been generally released.

But two other pictures which would have kept Philbin fans at ease concerning her were completed as "silents" soon afterward, at a time when a "silent" was a drug on the movie market.

SO MARY, while other actors and actresses were venturing into new talkie fields, has been kept busy with "retakes," putting her voice into sequences of those silent pictures. One of them, "Girl Overboard," has been released, and the other, "Erik the Great," soon will be ready for showing.

Then there is "The Phantom of the Opera," the Lon Chaney starring picture of several years ago, which Universal has undertaken to remake as a talkie. More retakes for Mary, who was the heroine. This talkie "Phantom," by the way, should be interesting to observe, inasmuch as Chaney, yet unreconciled to talkies, refused to "dialog" his old part for any remuneration whatever, and the phantom speaks little, if at all.

But now Mary is out of her "seclusion," with a leading role with the James Gleasons in "Shannons of Broadway." And there's the answer to the old serial's question, "What Happened to Mary?" The 1929 version.

Mary, incidentally, still wears her hair long, and in curls about her shoulders. Wearing a beret, as she usually does about the studio, she looks almost out of place without schoolbooks under her arm.

NORMA SHEARER

Today's best: "If Junior Laemmle wears his trousers much higher, he'll have to have arm holes cut in them." . . . And today's worst pun: "Glenn, 'Try-on Skinner's Dress Suit.'" . . . Glenn's playing in the talkie remake of the old favorite. . . . A modern story, "Their Own Desires," will be Norma Shearer's next picture. Regis Toomey, who made a hit in his first screen appearance in "Alibi," will be her leading man. . . . At least two more war pictures will be made this fall. One is Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the other is R. K. O.'s "The Case of Sergeant Grischa." . . . A contest to find a girl from the ranks of the unknown extras for the lead in "The Girl Who Wasn't Wanted" was successful, but the girl didn't get the role. Helen Chandler took a test for the part and got it. But the extra girl got a year's contract and may have a chance to appear in something else.

Molded Chicken Salad

A dainty way of serving this popular salad when the evening bridge meets at your home: Two cups cold cooked chicken cut into cubes, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup chicken stock, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon onion juice, 1 cup cream. Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve in boiling water. Stir in salt, lemon and onion juice, chicken, chicken stock and celery, and cool. Whip the cream until stiff and stir into the mixture. Pack into molds. Turn out on individual plates on which crisp lettuce has been arranged. Garnish with strips of pimento and serve with mayonnaise.

Chocolate Milk Shake

A delightful and nourishing drink for the housewife's lunch on a summer day. Shake two tablespoons chocolate syrup, one cup cold milk and a well-beaten egg together in a shaker containing a few pieces of cracked ice. Shake until well mixed and frothy, then pour into a clean tall glass and drink immediately.

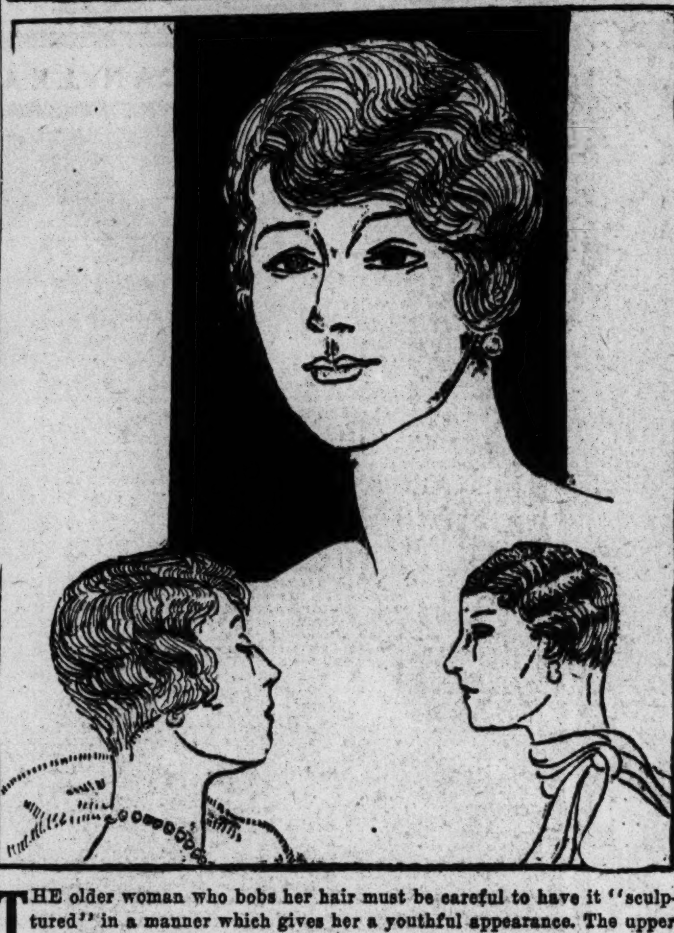
FOLLIES OF FASHION

By Marguerite Barnes



THE older woman who bobs her hair must be careful to have it "sculptured" in a manner which gives her a youthful appearance. The upper sketch illustrates a hair style used by one of the best coiffeurs for his smart clientele among the older generation. At the lower right is sketched this hairdresser's idea of a poor bob for the woman who is no longer young, because the cut exposes her forehead, cheek and the back of her neck. The result is a gaunt, lined apparance with the close crop revealing the thinning hair.

These defects are disguised in the hair style of the upper sketch. It is full on top and fluffed up in loose waves which fall over the forehead and cheek in the manner of long hair, thus softening the face. The sketch at the lower left has the part and wave down the right side, so as to hide the bony structure of the upper cheek. The moulded cut in the back ends in a most careful line which keeps the hair as long as possible.

Care of the Gas Range

THE gas stove burners give much better service if kept scrupulously clean. The burner holes can be cleaned out with a new pipe cleaner or you can use a long pin, then apply the vaccum cleaner to take out every particle of dirt.

Once a month the burners should be boiled in hot soapsuds to remove grease, or they can be soaked in a pail of boiling water containing a little washing powder. Wipe with a soft cloth then put in position and light.

THE KNIFE AND FORK.

1. May I trouble you to inform me which is more correct, to hold the fork in the left hand and knife in the right hand during dinner, or to leave the knife on the plate and use the fork with the right hand?

2. Also tell me if it is permissible to use the knife, as well as the fork, in eating hearts of lettuce? It would be a great convenience, if allowable.—Emma.

You have chosen two of my favorite questions—Fine!

1. Either is correct. The first form—the non-fork-shifting method of eating—is usually, or at least used to be, associated with the Europeans, but now it is rapidly coming into use in America. I suppose that one of the reasons why this is true is that Americans are traveling more, and consequently are observing the table-manners of other countries. And except in America, cultivated people all over the world, after they have cut off a piece of meat, do not lay down the knife and transfer the fork to the right hand, to convey the piece of meat to the mouth with the fork in the right hand. Instead, they keep the knife in the right hand, use it as an aid to the fork in the left hand.

Until comparatively lately, most Americans, after they have cut off a piece of meat, rested the knife on the rim of the plate, shifted the fork to the right hand and carried the piece of meat to the mouth with the fork in the right hand. Now, however, many Americans, having observed that the non-fork-shifting method of eating is the more convenient and the less fussy one, have adopted the other method. The thing to remember, when you decide to eat in the cosmopolitan manner, is that one should not keep the knife and the fork in the hand constantly, but should, with an air of leisure, lay them on the plate, after one or two mouthfuls. This for conversation, and a general sense of not eating hurriedly.

2. Yes! Nowadays it is interesting to see how many hostesses set their tables with a knife and fork for the salad course. And quite right. Here common sense and convenience enter, and we need the knife as well as the fork for the difficult-to-manage "iceberg" lettuce (called by other names, too, such as Simpson, Boston), slices of pineapple, endive, and so forth.

Again, for those people who are in touch and sympathy with cosmopolitan customs, there has never been any question as to using a salad knife. It was convenient—therefore, why not use it now? And now I am happy to say American manufacturers of silverware are getting in step, and you will see, this fall, patterns in salad knives on the market. And, Hooray! say I, for I have preached this use for a long time.

Different Cooking For Different Cuts

DIFFERENT cuts of beef from the same animal vary greatly in tenderness. The home-maker not only has to know how to choose beef in the market but how to prepare whatever cut she buys to bring out its best qualities. Appetizing dishes can be made from all cuts of beef so that purchases may fit any budget.

Recipes for a number of different cuts of beef have been worked out by the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture and published in a leaflet for free distribution. The principal points in cooking the more tender cuts are: Searing the surface of the meat first at a high temperature for a short time until a well-flavored brown coating is formed, reducing the temperature so as to finish cooking at moderate heat; in the case of roasts, using a roast-meat thermometer in the center of the roast to indicate when the meat is rare, medium, or well done. Beef is rare between the temperatures of [illegible] degrees and 150 degrees F., medium between 150 degrees and [illegible] degrees F., and well done at about 180 degrees F. As many people like mushroom sauce with their steak and Yorkshire pudding with roast of beef, these recipes are also given in the leaflet.

The general method of cooking the less tender and less expensive cuts of beef differs from the method for the more tender cuts. Heat, moisture, and slow cooking help to accomplish the desired result. The meat is first seared in a small quantity of fat until it is browned and then cooked with a little water in a tightly covered container. Pot roast of beef and Swiss steak are typical recipes for meats cooked by this method. Other recipes given in the leaflet are for stuffed flank steak, broiled Hamburg steak and onion rings, and beef croquettes.

CHAPTER XXXI.

THE Killer knocked at Rico's door but got no response. He knocked again and again, then, getting impatient, he put his shoulder to the door and flung it open. No Rico. The Killer stood in the hall, wondering where Rico could have gone. From the landing above him, the landlady yelled:

"Hey, what did you do to that door?"

"The hell with the door," said Pepi; "do you know where the guy that lives here is?"

"No," said the landlady, "but I seen him go out with a fellow."

"What kind of a fellow?"

"A little fellow."

Otero! Killer took the stairs at a jump but slowed his pace as he reached the main floor. There was a police car at the curb. Flaherty got out leisurely and stood talking to one of the policemen in the front seat. Pepi went over to him.

"Looking for the boss?"

"Yeah," said Flaherty, "the Big Boy sent me down. I want to have a talk with him."

"Yeah?" said Pepi. "Getting wise to yourself, huh?"

"Rico was always O. K. with me."

"That's the talk," said Pepi. "Well, the boss is upstairs by himself."

When Flaherty and one of his men had gone into the building, the Killer grinned at the others and walked slowly away, but, as soon as he had turned the corner, he broke into a run.

There were two little Italian kids sitting on the steps of the stairway that led up to Otero's. They made way for Pepi.

One of the kids said:

"That funny little guy?"

"Yeah," said Pepi.

"I think I seen him go up."

"Yeah," said the other kid, "I seen him."

Pepi took the stairs at a run and tapped at Otero's door. Seal Skin opened it a few inches but Pepi pushed her aside and walked in. Otero was sitting with his feet on the bed, smoking a big cigar.

"Where's the boss?" asked Pepi.

"At Blondy's. What's the matter?"

"Joe squawked," said Pepi, "and the bulls is looking for Rico. Get your coat on and beat it, Otero. I'll go after the boss."

"Sure," said Pepi, "it's the Courtney business. You beat it, Otero. This ain't no picnic."

"No," said Otero, "I go with Rico."

"You damn dummy," said Seal Skin.

"Yeah," said Pepi; "you beat it, Otero. Get out of town They don't want me for nothing. I'll see if I can't get Rico on the phone; if I can't I'll go after him. Listen, the bulls is over at Rico's right now."

"Caramba!" cried Otero, and, slipping his automatic into his coat pocket, he ran out into the hall and down the stairs

"The damn dummy!" said Seal Skin. Pepi stood looking at Seal Skin, then he said:

Before Otero had gone half a block in the direction of Blondy's, he saw a police car coming toward him. He ducked into a drugstore. It was empty except for a clerk who stood staring at Otero

"Show me the back way out, you!" said Otero.

"Say!" said the clerk.

Otero took out his gun. The clerk threw himself down behind the counter. Otero ran out through the prescription room and found the back door which opened into an alley. One end of the alley was blind, the other came out onto a busy street. Otero ran toward the open end praying in Spanish.

All along the curbs on both sides of the street pushcarts were drawn up and peddlers were calling their wares. A slow-moving crowd of little Italians blocked the pavements. Otero, because of his size, disappeared into the crowd, and, although he was forced to go slowly, he was safe from observation. Half a block from Blondy's he ducked down an alley, crossed a long cement court and climbed the fire escape.

Blondy's bedroom window was locked. Otero beat on it with his fist. For a moment there was no response, then he saw the bedroom door open slowly and Blondy's face appeared. She ran over and unlocked the window, then she turned and called:

"Rico, it's the Greek."

Rico came into the bedroom. He had his hat on.

"Did Pepi get you?"

"No, what the hell?"

The phone rang and Blondy went to answer it.

"They got Joe and he squawked," said Otero.

"My God, Rico," she said, "the bulls're after you. Joe squealed. You ought to plugged that softie, Rico. You ought to plugged him."

Rico stood in the middle of the room, staring. By an effort of the will, he rid himself of an attitude of mind which had been growing on him since his interviews with Montana and the Big Boy. He was nobody, nobody. Worse than nobody. The bulls wanted him now and they wanted him bad. Goodby dollar cigars and crockery at one grand, goodby swell food and Tuxedos and security. Rico was nobody. Just a lonely Youngstown yegg that the bulls wanted. His face was ghastly.

"All right," said Rico, "let's go."

Blondy said:

"Take me, Rico."

Rico shook his head.

"Hell, Rico," said Blondy, unable to realize what had happened, "everything was going so nice."

"Sure," said Rico, "but it's all over now and that's that. You stay planted, Blondy, and as soon as I get a chance I'll send you a stake."

Otero crawled out the window onto the fire escape and Rico followed him. Blondy began to scream.

"Shut your mouth," said Rico, "and if the bulls come up the front way kid 'em along. Make 'em think you got me hid, see?"

"O K, Rico," said Blondy.

CHAPTER XXXII.

OTERO and Rico went down the fire-escape. They stopped at the foot of the fire-escape and Rico took Otero by the arm.

"Listen," he said, "here's the dope. We got to get to Ma Magdalena's. She's got most of my jack and a good hide-out. It ain't gonna be easy, because the bulls're probably scattered all around. But once we get there, we're O K."

"All right," said Otero.

They started. Rico knew every alley in the district, and he led Otero by such a safe route that they were soon within a block and a half of Ma Magdalena's without having crossed a main thoroughfare.

"Now," said Rico, "we got to watch our step. If the bulls are cruising, they're cruising this street sure."

"All right," said Otero.

"Listen," said Rico, "don't be afraid to use your gat if the fun begins. They can only hang you once."

"I ain't afraid," said Otero.

They left the alley and were half way across the street when somebody shouted at them to halt. Without turning, they broke into a run.

"It's only one bull," said Rico.

A bullet sang over them and they heard the blast of a policeman's whistle. Otero stopped in his tracks, turned, took a steady aim and fired. The policeman staggered forward three or four steps and fell to his knees.

"Got him," said Otero.

Rico turned. The policeman was kneeling in the middle of the street, trying to steady his hand for a shot.

"Duck," cried Rico, simultaneously with the firing of the policeman's gun.

Otero twisted sideways, looked at Rico with surprise, then dropped his gun, and began to walk up the alley holding his stomach. Rico put his arm around him and, pulling him over to the side of the alley where he could keep a telephone pole between them and the policeman, guided him along. But after a few steps, Otero pulled away from Rico and cried:

"Run, Rico, run. They got me sure. I can't feel nothing."

Rico grabbed him and tried to pull him along, but he resisted.

"Damn you, Rico," cried Otero, "run! I can't go no farther. I'm done for."

Rico heard the roar of a police car. He released Otero, who staggered away from him and then fell flat on his back.

"Run, Rico," said Otero.

Rico climbed a fence, ran up through a filthy back yard, and in at an open back door. There was a young Italian girl sweeping in the hall. At Rico's sudden appearance, she dropped her broom and flattened herself against the wall. Rico took her by the arm.

"Listen, sister," he said, "the bulls' re after me. I'm going out the front way, see, but if the bulls come through here you tell 'em I hopped the fence next door and doubled back: Got it?"

"Yes, sir," said the girl, then looking up at Rico, "I know you."

"Yeah?" said Rico. "Well, do your stuff then, sister."

In the alley behind the house there was a shriek of brakes and someone cried in a loud voice:

"He went in that way!"

The girl picked up her broom and went on sweeping. Rico ran out through the front hall down the long flight of stone steps, and crossed the street leisurely.

* * *

"Well, Rico," she said; "got yourself in a nice fix, didn't you?"

Rico grinned.

"Yeah," he said, "who told you?"

"The bulls were here and searched the place."

Ma Magdalena laughed.

"What a chance!"

Rico followed Ma down into the basement. She led him through a short tunnel and back into the hideout. A small, round opening just large enough to admit one person had been pierced in a heavy stone wall. In front of the wall rows of pine shelves had been built and these were filled with canned goods. The section of the shelves which hid the opening was hinged and could be swung open.

Rico followed Ma through the opening and came out into a little room with a cot in one corner, a table, and one chair. Rico took off his hat and sat down.

"They got The Greek," he said.

"Yeah?" said Ma.

Rico took out a cigar and lit it.

"Listen," he said, "I want to stay here a couple of days. Then I'm gonna pull out. Get me some magazines and keep me posted."

"All right," said Ma, "but it's gonna cost you, because I'm taking chances, see, I'm taking big chances."

Ma Magdalena smiled broadly.

"That's the talk, Rico. Old Ma'll sure care for you."

"O K," said Rico; "now get this: in two days I want a car."

"That's good," said Rico; "all right, I want a jumper suit, you know, one of them suits like a garage mechanic wears, and a razor."

"All right," said Ma Magdalena.

When she had gone, Rico took off his coat and shoes, and lay down on the cot. His nerves were jumpy and he couldn't seem to get settled. He flung his cigar away and turned his face to the wall.

"Just when I thought things was on the up and up," he said.

Rico felt resentful, but his resentment was not directed at any specific group or person; it was vague as yet. He turned from side to side on his cot, then he gave it up.

Ma Magdalena came back with a big mug of coffee and a couple of papers. Rico sat down at the table.

"They got Sam," said Ma.

"Well," said Rico, "that's hips for Sam."

GANG CHIEF NAMED AS SLAYER

Gentleman Joe Massara looks more like a movie actor than a gunman. When arrested he was wearing an expensive Tuxedo and the rings that were taken from him are valued at $3000.

"To hell with that," said Rico.

He read on:

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE---By Kathleen Norris

A Romance of Modern Life

CHAPTER 22

HOT puffs of heavy air from the lake moved through the room and brought a sweet piny smell. In the garden below the window bees were shooting back and forth like bullets, and birds were sleepily calling from the woods.

"I'm enormously better now," Hugh said, feeling happy and guilty and broken and remade all at once.

"Oh, Hugh, not already!" she exclaimed, ecstatically.

"Already. This is what I needed," Hugh said, with a long, weary, contented sigh.

"But, Hugh, dear," she scolded, settling her fragrant young body on a hassock beside him and possessing herself of both his hands, "why do you play, when you feel so rotten?"

"I didn't when I began," he said meekly. He opened his eyes, and smiled in utter peace and felicity into the earnest, glowing face that was so near his own. "There's something I've been wanting to ask you, Bee," he said impulsively. "I've thought of it often before, and never have got up my courage—" He stopped, looking abashed and amused and a little shamefaced.

"It's whether or not I ever loved any other man?" Beatrice suggested briskly, with an indulgent, motherly look. Hugh laughed.

"Then I have asked it?" he said.

"About two hundred times," Beatrice answered blithely. "And the answer is no."

"Oh, but I thought there was a man—some young fellow at the office—"

She reflected, looking away, looking at him, looking away again, and shook her head.

"There may have been a youthful crush of some sort—oh, yes, I remember!" Beatrice said, brightening. "There was Roger Newberry, I had quite a crush on him," she confessed animatedly, "and a boy named Harry Fontaine, whose mother took boarders. And don't forget my proposal, Hugh," she added, with an impressive look. "Our dentist Dr. Leach, and a wooly-headed little darling he was, too! He's married now, himself; I met him the other day!"

"Ah, well, those—" Hugh said smilingly. And for a few minutes he rested, with a satisfied face, his hands in hers.

Suddenly he opened his eyes again, and they were anxious.

"No. I know that!" she conceded indifferently.

"How do you know it?" he asked, ater a pause during which he had watched her dreaming face and far-away eyes.

"Oh, you do know, Hugh."

He narrowed his eyes, attempted a light tone:

"This interests me. But how?"

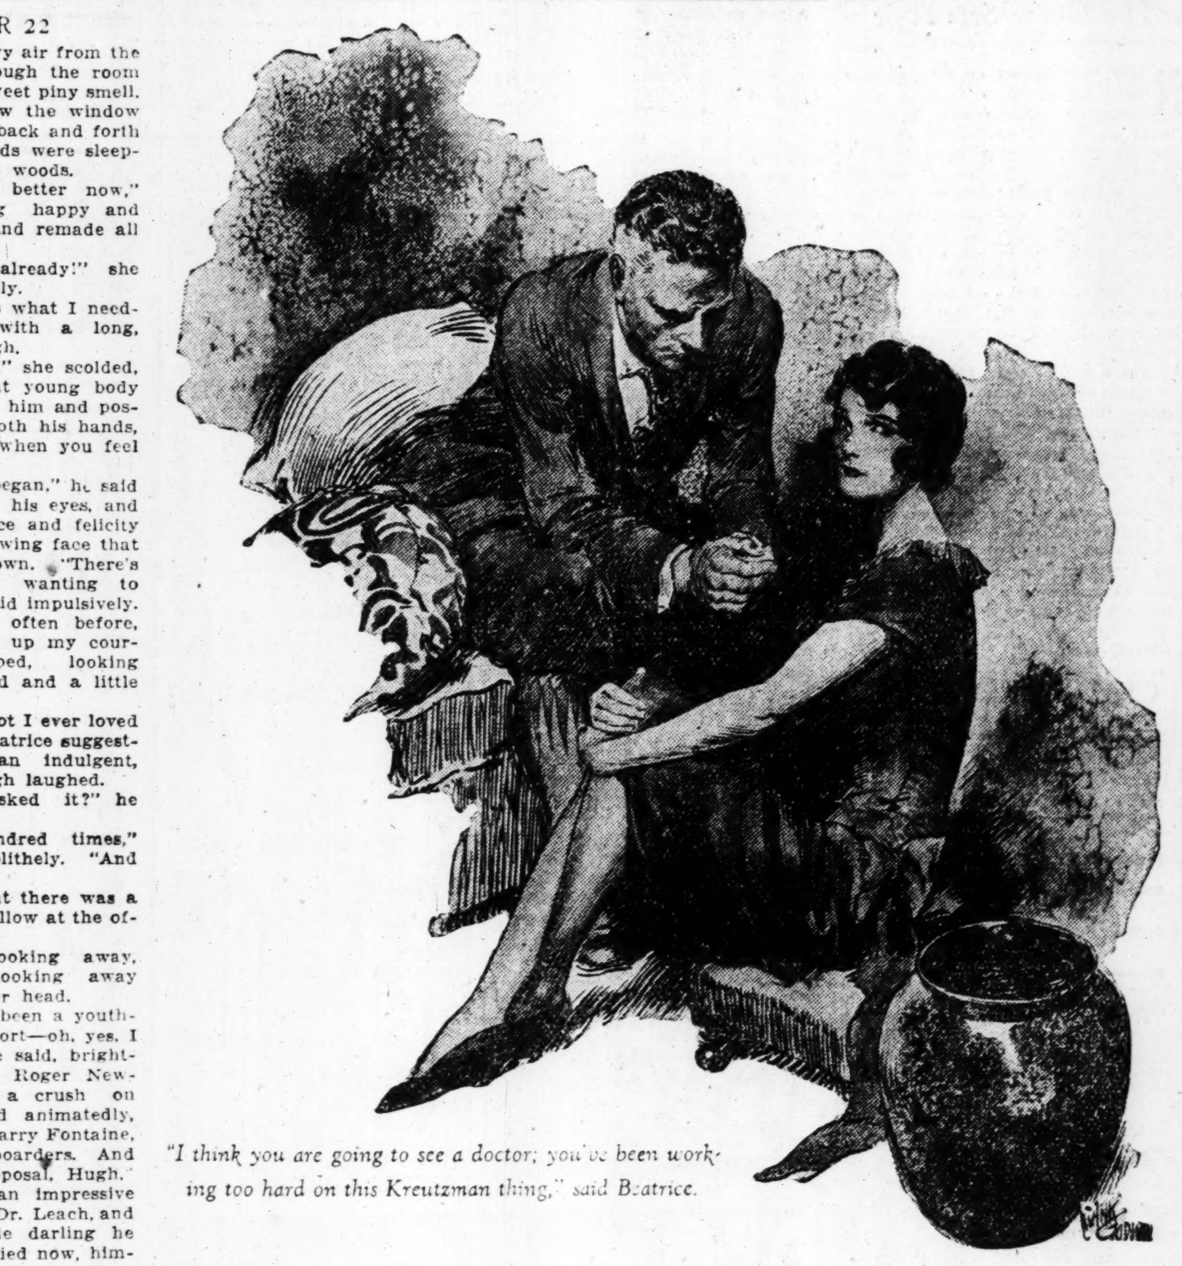
"Oh, well—thrills, notes, tears, doubts—" she summarized it carelessly. "All that kind of bunk," she finished carelessly.

"It isn't bunk," he said, turning the knife in his heart.

"To me it is," she assured him serenely.

"Yes, but, then—but, then, what did you feel when you married me, Bee?" he asked quietly, but with a sinking heart.

"Hugh, you poor simp," she answered affectionately, "how can you ask me that? I was nobody—working in your office, sick with worry about Marcia and Mummy and bills and everything else—no clothes, no friends, no nothing! And you saw me, and thought—" Her hands tightened on his; there were tears in her eyes, although she was smiling: "You thought, 'Here is a girl who hasn't had a chance,'" she said unsteadily. "There is a girl hungry for life and love and the sunshine. I have all these things. I don't need her, but how that poor little red-headed, desperate thing needs me!"



"I think you are going to see a doctor; you've been working too hard on this Kreutzman thing," said Beatrice.

"Hush!" he said, really angry, and putting his hand over her mouth.

"I'll bite you" she said, kissing it. "How can you ask me whether or not I love you, knowing all that?" she asked.

"All that mightn't be love," he suggested diffidently.

"Hugh, how perverse you can be!"

He was silent for a while, watching her lazily, and then spoke suddenly again.

"Bee, there is something that I want to ask you—often have wanted to ask you, but it sounds silly!" he said.

"I know this one too," Beatrice interrupted him, unimpressed.

"Oh, you do," he said, amused and abashed, by her pre-science.

"Perfectly. This," she said, "is whether, if I ever cared for somebody else, I'd come honestly and ask you to set me free? Am I right?"

"I had asked you that before too?" he murmured.

"And would you, Bee?"

She brought her thoughtful eyes back from far spaces.

"Would I what?"

"Would you tell me if you really fell in love?"

He remembered now that at previous times she had answered him promptly, casually. But today, for the first time, she hesitated, frowning faintly.

"I don't know, Hugh," she said unexpectedly, dubiously. "Would YOU?"

"Would I tell you if I wanted to be free?" he demanded.

"Yes. I was thinking about that the other day—" Beatrice said reflectively. "Would you?"

"Like a shot."

"But—but what good would it do?" she asked. "We couldn't—we wouldn't leave each other, even then, would we? It wouldn't accomplish anything except making us unhappy."

"But still I would want to know," he said almost sternly.

"Why make yourself miserable, Hugh?" Beatrice persisted, in surprise. "You couldn't change it. Marriage is marriage, after all."

"You don't mean divorce, Hugh?" she asked, with wide-open eyes.

"Certainly I mean divorce!" he answered, almost violently. "There are plenty of places—in California, for instance, where you would be near Marcia and your mother—! I would prefer it infinitely," he went on, rapidly and passionately—"I would prefer it infinitely to this idiotic—this imbecile idea some women have that anything is beter than divorce—any amount of unhappiness — sneaking — lying—"

"Well, I do!" he persisted. "Anything—anything rather than deceiving oneself, a laughingstock for everyone—"

"I know," the girl said wisely and calmly as he paused, choking, "your head is worse!"

"It isn't my head!" Hugh almost shouted. He brought his feet to the floor; his light cover slipped away; he sat with his head in his hands. "Yes, it's my head!" he said, in a whisper. "My God, I think I am going crazy!"

"I think you are going to see a doctor," said Beatrice; "you've been working too hard on this Kreutzmann thing, in this hot summer weather, I thank the Lord that it'll be done in another day or two. Then you can rest, and you will rest. Hugh, please be quiet!"

He lay down again, his face peaceful, his eyes shut.

"If we go to California, we'll take it easy, little girl."

"You've been worrying about that too," she said accusingly. "I don't know what's come over you. As far as I'm concerned, I don't care one scrap whether we go or not. Bert was saying today that nothing would drag him out there—it's so far away, Hugh. And we have everything here—"

"Bert said that?" His voice was controlled, his eyes still closed.

"We were talking," she said.

MAKE VEGETABLE FOODS DELICIOUS

Few Things Are More Important Than Balanced Diet in Promoting Health

Cooking experts are using their ingenuity to develop delicious methods of preparing vegetables. A well-known expert furnishes us this recipe for Polish Beets:

Peel 12 small cooked beets and mince fine with a fork. Put in a saucepan and sprinkle with a tablespoon of sugar. Add a tablespoon of vinegar, 1 tablespoon of salt and pepper and heat. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter and blend with it 1 tablespoon of flour. Stir this into the mixture. Add ½ cup sour cream and heat.

Whatever recipe you are using and whatever vegetable you are cooking, try adding a dash of sugar for a new, enjoyable flavor. It is not the purpose of the sugar to make the vegetables taste sweet. Sugar brings out the delicate flavors of the foods and blends these with the seasonings used. Sugar is the master blender and the supreme condiment. It is the right hand of successful cookery.

Serve a varied, balanced diet. Serve at least two cooked vegetables daily. Serve at least two fruits daily. See that each member of your family drinks milk and eats milk desserts. Make meats appetizing by adding a dash of sugar while the meats are cooking. Use a dash of sugar to improve gravy, sauces and soups. Learn the art of serving colorful and satisfying desserts. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Simple Science for Everyone

By Colin G. Welles, Ph. D.

MAKING LEATHER OF HIDES.

HOWEVER proud we are of the many technical achievements of our modern industrial civilization, our early forefathers knew a method of tanning and preserving leather upon which we have not been able to improve these thousands of years.

These ancestors of ours couldn't read or write, and of course they were perfectly innocent of the existence of any chemical, but nevertheless, they knew from experience that the skins of animals rotted like dead meat, unless they were treated. And they learned through experience that there was something about the bark of certain trees that kept the hides from spoiling for a long time.

And so, quite without the help of calculation or science, ancient man used tannin, that acid which is found in the bark of oaks and hemlocks and other trees, with great success.

One of the earliest, simplest methods of tanning leather was to soak the leaves and bark of these trees in water until the water had absorbed some of the power of the bark, then to hang the hides in the liquid for some time. After that, they knew not why, the skins were quite imperishable, even during hot weather.

Today, thousands of years later, our best tanned skins are still suspended in a liquid made by dissolving tannin taken from the bark and leaves of certain trees.

After the skins have been scraped free of fat and of their outer hairy layer, they are put into a bath containing comparatively little of this tannin. Then they are hung in a liquid containing a little more, and after that into increasingly stronger solutions. After about 10 days, the skins are thoroughly tanned.

Although it is generally admitted that the good old method of curing leather with tannin from bark and leaves results in the finest quality of leather, the majority of skins are now tanned in a comparatively new manner called the "chrome method." It is cheaper, and besides, it is quicker—two virtues which are of great importance in our modern age. A comparison of the leather by the chrome and the tannin methods, however, shows that the tannin leather is firmer and more durable, as compared with the softer chrome leather which is more apt to shrink and stretch with the weather.

Both kinds of leather are stiff and hard after tanning unless they are treated with oil. The oil soaks into the leather, lubricating the fibers and softening its texture. Sometimes, too, the leather is treated with gelatin and casein for the purpose of making the surface glossy and smooth.

The last process in the business of changing a hide from plain skin to leather is dyeing.

Cleaning Velvet Gown

WHEN your transparent velvet dress is wrinkled, steaming will restore it to its original beauty. When the nap of the velvet gets crushed it looks messy, but careful steaming will make it look new.

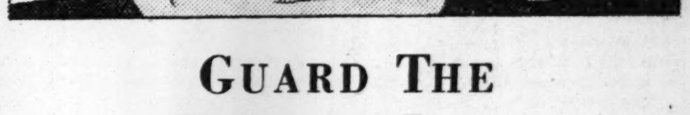
Steaming over the bathtub is the simplest method, but be sure the frock is thoroughly dry before hanging it in the closet. If you prefer, you can hold the dress taut over a steaming kettle of water with the back of the velvet toward the steam. Of course, before you steam the dress it should be brushed to remove dust. If badly soiled it might be well to sponge it with moderately warm water.

If the material will allow it, soap may be dissolved in this water.

It is always advisable to first sponge in some inconspicuous place to make sure neither fabric nor colors are affected. When sponging lay dress right side down, on several thicknesses of clean cloth, changing this as it becomes soiled. Sponge with a clean, soft, lintless cloth and take light, even strokes in the direction of the grain of the material using only a little moisture at a time.

A Connecticut boarder disapproved of his lodging house. He dumped a barrel of ashes in his bed and left the place. The police gave him an opportunity to test the comforts of their jail.

Stop trouble where trouble starts



GUARD THE DANGER LINE

A LARGE PORTION of all tooth decay occurs at The Danger Line, that thin margin of tissue where gums join teeth. Dentists know the reason. The Danger Line is really a row of tiny wedge-shaped crevices. Food particles ferment in the crevices, inaccessible to your tooth-brush. Acids form, attack the teeth and gums. You simply must neutralize dangerous acids if you would be safe.

Squibb's Dental Cream not only makes teeth gleam, but it contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, plenty to protect against trouble where it so often starts. For Milk of Magnesia is the safest, most effective antacid known.

Isn't there every reason for using Squibb's? Effective—refreshing—safe. And in addition—well able to help you have better teeth. A large tube is only 40c at any drug store.

The Blouse Sets Style

NOW that the ensemble suit has been tendered a cordial welcome, a woman can have as many different costumes as she has blouses. If she dons one of the frilly, feminie kind, replete with ruffles and bows and frills, she is all set for afternoon tea or a session of bridge. If, on the other hand, her blouse is made of some such material as handkerchief linen, and cut on severe lines, the same ensemble suit becomes appropriate for business or street wear.

Never before have blouses shown so much variety in material and design. Whether worn over the skirt or the "tuck in" kind, they display a refreshing degree of ingenuity and skillful workmanship. Despite the wide range of colors and the wealth of trimmings, most of these attractive blouses are washable. If kept looking fresh by frequent and careful laundering, they should porve an invaluable aid in solving the eternal feminine problem of "what to wear" for all occasions.

Research by scientists in Kentucky has led to the belief that trees can be made to grow taller by changing their soil conditions.

Bathing Slips

A FASHION launched many seasons ago, but one winning special appreciation at the present time, is the bathing slip to be donned over the swimming suit. The gayer the printed silk and the more arresting the pattern, the surer such a slip will prove flattering to one on the sands. Sleeveless and cut with low sun back, the most attractive among many models is narrowly belted with self fabric and is bow trimmed.

Fried Squashes

The summer squashes can be treated most successfully in this manner. Peel and slice them as for egg plant. Dip in egg and breadcrumbs and fry in deep hot fat, turning the slices just once. Drain on brown paper. Garnish with parsley sprigs and serve. They may act as a meat substitute.

PEGGY, YOUR FATHER IS ALL WOUND UP ON THE STOCK MARKET AGAIN. IMAGINE! HAVEN'T YOU NOTICED HIM PORING OVER THE STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS LIKE A SMALL BOY LOOKING AT A CIRCUS PARADE?
OH WELL EVERYONE MORE OR LESS IS INTERESTED IN THE MARKET THESE DAYS. LOTS OF THEM MAKE MONEY, TOO.
OH DON'T START TELLING ME THAT RIGMAROLE ABOUT HOW EASY IT IS TO MAKE MONEY ON STOCKS. I'VE HEARD IT EVERY TIME YOUR FATHER GETS THE BUG THAT HE CAN MAKE MONEY BUYING A STOCK FOR SAY $8 AND SELLING IT FOR $4.
DAD TOLD ME THAT THIS TIME HE DOESN'T INTEND TO SPECULATE. HE'S MERELY INVESTING AND......
WELL I MADE UP MY MIND THE LAST TIME HE STARTED AN ENDURANCE CONTEST WITH WALL STREET THAT EVERY TIME HE TOOK A FLYER IN STOCKS I'D DO THE SAME THING IN HATS AND COATS AND SO FORTH.
TELL ME! WHY SHOULD I MAKE MYSELF POP-EYED TRYING TO SAVE MONEY SO YOUR FATHER CAN HELP THOSE SMART MEN IN WALL STREET BUY ANOTHER BIG SHINY EXPENSIVE AUTO? AND WE RIDE IN STREET-CARS. TO HEAR YOUR FATHER TALK ANYONE WOULD THINK WALL STREET WAS A LOT OF MEN WHO SAT UP ALL NIGHT TRYING TO THINK UP NEW WAYS TO GIVE AWAY MONEY. HA!

NINE OUT OF EVERY TEN OF ELLA'S FRIENDS ADVISED HER TO GIVE UP HER STAGE CAREER AND MARRY JIM BLUNT. BUT DESTINY DECREED OTHERWISE. ON THE EVE OF THEIR MARRIAGE, WHEN ELLA HAD DECIDED TO ABIDE BY THE DICTATES OF HER HEART AND THE ADVICE OF HER FRIENDS, JIM WAS INVEIGLED INTO COMPLICATIONS BY MAIZIE PURR, A DESIGNING SHOW-GIRL. ELLA APPARENTLY DISAPPEARED, BUT THE TRUTH WAS SHE WAS SLIGHTLY INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT AND LANDED IN THE HOSPITAL. NOW ELLA MUST TAKE UP HER LIFE WHERE SHE LEFT OFF. ROMANCE MUST WAIT FOR A BRIGHTER DAY, WHILE SHE STARTS AT THE BOTTOM AGAIN TO REGAIN HER LOST POSITION ON THE STAGE.
AND MAIZIE PURR, THE GIRL WHO CAUSED ALL THE TROUBLE, HAS GAINED NOTHING BY HER SCHEME TO BREAK JIM'S AND ELLA'S ENGAGEMENT. SHE THOUGHT SHE'D WIN JIM FOR HERSELF AND GET ALL HIS MONEY. INSTEAD, SHE IS LEFT ALL ALONE TO PONDER ON THE BITTER LESSON THAT CAUSING TROUBLE FOR OTHERS NEVER BRINGS ANYTHING EXCEPT UNHAPPINESS AND DISAPPOINTMENT.
WHILE JIM, AFTER SEARCHING FRANTICALLY FOR ELLA, REFUSED TO HAVE ANYTHING FURTHER TO DO WITH MAIZIE AND RETURNED TO HIS RANCH IN THE WEST. JIM VOWS HE WILL NEVER ALLOW ANOTHER GIRL TO GET HIM INTO HER CLUTCHES. IT HAS BEEN A SAD EXPERIENCE. HE LIVES IN HOPE THAT SOME DAY ELLA WILL LET HIM KNOW WHERE SHE IS, SO THAT HE CAN EXPLAIN AND BE FORGIVEN.
Thus for the time being end Ella's romance with Jim Blu She goes on her way alone seeking a new life.

BULLS AGAIN DOMINATE STOCK TRADE

Revival of Speculative Activity and Strength in Few Selected Oil Shares Feature Sharp Recovery.

CALL MONEY RENEWS AT 9, DROP TO 7 PCT.

Gains in Active Issues Range From 1 to 10 Points With Some High-Priced Ones Up 11 to 23

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Revival f speculative activity and strength in a few selected oil shares featured the sharp recovery of prices in today's stock market. Lowering of the call money rate from 9 to 7 per cent, publication of a series of favorable earnings reports, rumors of the formation of several new investment trusts and generally favorable trade news provided the background for the buying movement.

Some profit-taking developed at he close, but final prices general- were not far below the day's highs. Gains in the active issues anged from 1 to 10 points, with a number of high-priced specialties whirled up 11 to 23 points. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, total sales running around 4,800,000 shares.

Weekly steel trade reviews tressed evidence of revival of railroad buying, but explained that consumers were in no apparent ush to place fourth quarter contracts. Two of the leading building statistics organizations have reported a falling off in new contruction. Oil output continues in xcessive volume. Common stock f the Standard Brands Company, he New Food Products Combine ecently organized was placed on n annual dividend basis of $1.50. r Reduction directors declared an tra dividend of $1.50, and Union rbide stockholders were offered e right to subscribe to new stock $80 a share on the basis of 1 w share for each 12½ held.

Pools Are Active.

Pools were again active on a road scale, with major public paricipation coming from Middle Western and Western points. A tronger undertone in the grain markets also had a cheerful effect n sentiment.

While many operators went head on the theory that the rent reaction had sufficiently corected an apparently over-bought condition in the market, conservaive commission houses continued o urge caution because of the posibility of adverse developments in he credit situation.

Standard Oil of N. J. Above 80.

Heavy buying of Standard Oil f New Jersey carried that stock p 6 points to a new high record t 80½, representing an appreciaion in the stock outstanding of about $125,000,000 above last night's close. Standard Oil of New York moved up 3 points to 46⅜, r within a fraction of the year's high, and Royal Dutch advanced about 6 points to a new top at 1½.

American Machine and Foundry owed a net gain of 23 points, tional Lead 14¾. Commercial olvents 14¼. Johns Manville 1⅛. Simmons Co. 11. Auburn Auto 10, and Columbian Carbon 8. . S. Steel common closed 2 points igher at 240½ after having crossed 43.

Call money renewed at 9, ropped to eight and thence to even. There were no changes in ime money, commercial paper or ankers' acceptances. Except or a ump of 20 points in Japanese Yen 46.90 cents, most foreign exanges were reactionary. Sterg Cables ruled around $4.84⅝.

Oils' Advance Explanation.

Wall street has been more or less ystified by the spectacular bullish perations in the oil stocks under e leadership of Standard of New ersey since the beginning of e week, finding little change in e situation to explain the enorous buying in progress. Today, owever, as Jersey shot upward ith renewed vigor, crossing 80 for e first time since the payment of e 400 per cent stock dividend in 22, it was learned definitely that veral of the most powerful operors and trading groups were back the movement. A powerful Chigo group was reported back of e buying movement in Texas Coration.

Closing stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on Pages 38, 39, 40 and 41.
